U. S. SEIZES SPY CLEW LETTERS

'I'M BONE DRY,' SHERMAN SAYS; RIOTS REASON

Blames the Lawless Saloon for East St. Louis Murders.

The prohibition issue in the food control bill will be settled in the senate tonight or tomorrow. The senate has unanimously agreed to take up the liquor matter for final disposal at 2 p. m. today—with limitation on debate. Distilled liquors, it is expected, will be put under the ban, but beer and wines are expected to escape.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Upon the "infernal, lawless, damnable saloons that have infested East St. Louis and blighted that community for years" Senator Sherman, in an impassioned speech in the senate today, placed the responsibility for Monday's race riots.

"I am a 'bone dry' senator from Illinois," Mr. Sherman exclaimed in the guise of his discourse upon the state of Illinois.

THOMAS STARTS DEBATE.

The discussion of the East St. Louis riots was precipitated by Senator Thomas of Colorado during the consideration of the food control bill. He attacked the proposal to prohibit the manufacture of beer and wine on the ground that it would lead to discontent and perhaps lawlessness on the part of a large proportion of the population of the country. He said that there is too much discontent in the land today already and mentioned the race riots in the Illinois city.

Senator Sherman took the floor immediately and challenged the soundness of Senator Thomas' argument.

OFFERS NO APOLOGY.

"I have no words of apology for the slaughter that has happened there of American citizens, who, under the full panoply of the laws of the country, have been brutally outraged, taken into alleys, shot with revolvers, beaten to death with bludgeons, burned in their own homes, and, fleeing to an opera house for safety, have had it burned over their heads, with the result that many corpses have been taken from the ruins," Senator Sherman said.

"I have no apology for that for my own state, or any other state. It is something that ought never to occur, and would never have happened except for the inherent defect that is lurking in our system, the increasing contempt for law and order that is springing up all over the country and resulting in a grand procession of criminals.

SALOON CURSE OF CITY.

"The principal source of the vile, fetid, corrosive element that blazed the way in disorder and wrote the story of blood across the sky over East St. Louis is the infernal lawless, damnable saloons that have infested that town and blighted the community for years, and I want to know whether the senator from Colorado will be a party to the continuance of those lawless conditions and more lawless men.

"It is the saloonkeepers of East St. Louis and their kind who lead the van of every lawless movement and breed and spew their infamous vermin upon every community where they are suffered to exist. I am a 'bone dry' senator from now on."

LEWIS PRAISES COMMUNITY.

Before Sherman began Senator Lewis said that a request has been made by the citizens of East St. Louis for the federal government to make an independent investigation, so that the truth may be arrived at and justice done to the community.

"I have understood," Senator Lewis said, "that East St. Louis is not in the political sense a prohibition town, in that it has no local laws forbidding the drinking or distribution of spirituous liquors. A very large percentage of citizens are both for prohibition in their own character and are very normal in their habits."

"Are saloons being conducted and is liquor being sold in saloons in East St. Louis, or is it really a prohibition city?" Senator Gronna asked.

"I must say," Senator Lewis replied, "that I have never been in a saloon in East St. Louis, and I cannot say whether liquor is bought and sold there from my knowledge, but from reading the public press I admit that liquor may be bought in some places in East St. Louis called saloons."

AIRBOAT WRECK AVERTS TRAGEDY AT GREAT LAKES

Lee Hammond's Ducking Reveals Real Bombs for Sham.

Three French army aviators witnessed the first accident of the war for the American aviation corps here yesterday. It happened in Lake Michigan at Lake Bluff. Lee Hammond was to have dropped bombs on the "tank" which took part in the sham battle staged at the naval training station.

While the seaplane, guided by Hammond, was skimming along the surface of the water preliminary to taking to the air, a floating log or some other obstruction punctured one of the pontoons. The crippled craft "duttered" along for half a mile and then plunged, head downward, while Hammond and his fellow aviator swam for their lives. They were nearly exhausted when a boat from the naval station rescued them.

Tragedy Averted.

This accident averted what might have been a much more serious one. In the gondola of the wrecked airboat three hand grenades were found. It had been the intention of the aviators taking part in the sham battle to drop smoke bombs on the combatants. The grenades which were found with the others, however, were loaded and might have caused death or serious injury to many if they had been thrown down. The substitution of these grenades for the harmless bombs is under investigation.

Several thousand visitors watched the sham battle and the other activities at the station. There was an athletic carnival in the morning. In the drill hall in the afternoon 2,000 persons danced. The dance was under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Moffett, president of the Great Lakes auxiliary of the Navy Relief society.

Sailors Are Reviewed.

Col. W. J. Nicholson and Capt. Morgan reviewed the sailors. Lieut. Marc Gautier, Lieut. Paul Frevot, and Lieut. Maurice Lailly, French army aviators on their way to the United States army aviation field at Rantoul, were spectators. The Frenchmen were guests of Mrs. James T. Harahan.

ROBERT GARDNER APPLIES TO ENTER OFFICERS' CAMP

Robert A. Gardner, former amateur national golf champion and a leader in athletics of Yale, has made application for the second reserve officers' camp, Leon Springs, Tex., Aug. 27. He will be accompanied by Paul Gardner, his cousin.

"Bob" Gardner is conspicuous as one of the most famous graduates of Yale. He was a crack athlete and leader of college affairs. It was to pole vaulting he gained mastery, and this athletic supremacy remained with him in the competitions for the national golf cups.

Gardner a year ago married Miss Katherine Keep, daughter of Chauncey Keep. He has been a leader in society affairs and deeply interested in athletics.

Prize Maid and $600 Worth of Lingerie Disappears

A prize maid has disappeared. So has nearly $600 worth of wearing apparel and French silken lingerie. Mrs. David Wiss, 4322 Greenwood avenue, is bemoaning the loss of the "prize maid"; her husband is out the money. It all came about in this way: Miss Wiss, an active worker in Red Cross circles, wanted a dependable maid. She procured the services of one Gladys Patterson from "somewhere in Chicago." While Mrs. Wiss was absent Gladys represented herself as her mistress at department stores, obtained the expensive lingerie, and disappeared. Detectives are now searching for her.

Here's How Philadelphians Treat Sedition Purveyors

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—[Special.]—Thirty men and women started to circulate a seditious circular tonight in West Philadelphia. Residents started to beat them up. When the police arrived they met a mob of 3,000 people. When they drove off the citizens they gathered up thirteen of the petition circulators, beaten and almost naked. The crowd which followed the patrol wagon to the station house attempted to break in and was dispersed by a stream of water from the fire hose.

Liked Her Baby, but Her Rings Made a Bigger Hit

He was a gentle, fatherly old person and he took delight in playing with the baby carried by Mrs. D. Drew of 1207 Fulton street while they were on a Madison street car. Mrs. Drew took off three rings, valued at $100, and placed them in her purse. When she left the car the fatherly old fellow followed. Then he snatched her purse and fled, did this paternal old cuss.

SORRY DAY FOR SLACKERS; MEET UP WITH LANDIS

Rockford Men Are Given Lashing and Sent to Prison.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Freeport, Ill., July 5.—[Special.]—Characterizing them as "whining and belly-aching puppies," Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis today sentenced 117 of the slackers who took part in the Rockford riot of June 6 to a year and a day each at hard labor in the house of correction in Chicago, the limit which the law allows. Four others received short sentences in the house of correction. All will be forced to register and stand their chance in the draft.

In designating the house of correction in Chicago, Judge Landis picked out an institution where the prisoners will live under more rigorous conditions than in a federal penitentiary.

The moment the court opened it was evident from the questioning by the judge of the first defendant that it was to be a typical "Landis" day for the court fans.

During his interrogation Judge Landis did not mince words when it became apparent to him that the defendants evidently had served as a common excuse for not registering—conscientious objection to war.

GRILLING IS GROTESQUE.

The questions put to each defendant by the court were of a similar nature. He desired to know the sex of the defendant, what country he came from, how long he had been in America, whether he had taken out his first naturalization papers, whether he belonged to any organization opposing registration, why he did not register, and whether he would register now.

"I am willing to register, but I do not want to go to war," August Norman, the first of the defendants, said. "I do not want to kill or hurt anyone."

"Well, do you want me to believe that if a man came up to you with a hickory club you would let him beat you into a pulp without trying to defend yourself?" asked the court with a suspicion of a sneer. "Wouldn't you fight back?"

"No, I guess I would run away," the defendant answered.

U. S. ALL RIGHT TO FAT IN.

Swen Carlson said he wanted to go back to Sweden as soon as the war was over, but preferred to stay in the United States until then, as he was afraid he would not get enough to eat if he went to Europe at this time.

"Do you want to register?"

"Yes, if you promise me——" Carlson replied.

"I am not here to promise you anything," the court thundered. "Do you want to register?"

"Not if I have to kill anyone," was the answer.

"If I send you back to Russia, will you help the boys out there?" the court asked, when Adam Mizio stood before him.

"No, sir; I am opposed to war and I do not want to fight or use a gun," Mizio answered.

"You do not want to handle a gun; I wonder how far our fellows would have gone in the civil war if they had not carried guns," remarked the court.

'OUT OF HERE!' LANDIS SHOUTS.

The court became particularly incensed while questioning Nel Larson, who testified he had lived in the United States for over nine years, that he had not taken out any naturalization papers, and that he had left Sweden to avoid military service there.

"So you dodged military service in the country of your birth, and now when the country in which you have been earning a living for the last nine years calls upon you to help it out, you deliberately do the same thing here.

"One year in the house of correction, and take this man out of here at once," the court shouted.

TYPE THAT DAMNS SOCIALISTS.

The ire of the court was again aroused when Swan Lindgren stated he had a positive objection to all wars.

"Do you belong to any party or organization?" he was asked.

"I am a member of the Socialist party."

"This is the type that has damned the Socialist party," said the court, addressing Attorney Seymour Stedman, who was in court representing some of the defendants.

"It's probably a matter of conscience with him," Mr. Stedman said.

"Why, if this man experienced a

FINDS HER SON IN RICH HOME AFTER HUNT IN 32 TOWNS

Court to Decide if Boy, Kidnaped, Goes Back to Family.

If in the loss of a princely estate there is recompense in maternal love, then Joseph Le Mar Kaminski, kidnaped seven years ago, will be happy. Otherwise he will weep for his salad as he munches his sauerkraut.

Joseph is now the idolized foster son of a wealthy family occupying a stately country place west of Chicago. But he does not know that in Chicago his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kaminski, desirable citizens, but poor, are endeavoring to prove his birth so they can take him from velvets to denim, from a castle to a cottage.

This morning Judge Victor P. Arnold of the Juvenile court will go over the records of years ago, and Wilfred S. Reynolds, superintendant of the Children's Home and Aid society, will delve into history. Then Joseph may be brought in from his country home by his wealthy foster parents and given over to the Kaminskis.

His Kidnaper a Suicide.

Joseph was too young when he was kidnaped to remember and card index the violent events that attended his early life. The records of the Juvenile court show that four years ago a certain Joseph Le Mar committed suicide in Detroit and that he left a boy of 3 years in charge of Mrs. Gertrude Dingee of 711 North Clark street.

The records disclose further that the child was taken by Elbridge I. Colby, a probation officer, who was appointed guardian. Then the child was given to the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society and placed in a private home. So much for the records of the court.

The Mother's Plea.

Now listen to a mother's plea. Mr. and Mrs. Kaminski, who have come to Chicago from Detroit, are living at 1346 Jackson boulevard. They have with them their daughter, Helen, 8 years old, and their small son Philip, whom Joseph never has seen.

"In Detroit, near where we lived," said Mrs. Kaminski, "there was a young woman called Annie. She was a friend of Joseph, who then was a toddling infant. She often came for him and would take him home to play with. One day she refused to give him up. My husband was forced to get a policeman to compel her to deliver.

"One day as I went past the house where Annie lived I heard some one drive up in buggy. This was Joseph Le Mar, a Chicago contractor, who came to see Annie. Before I could cry out he seized little Joseph and drove away. I saw no more of the boy.

Searched in 32 Cities.

"For all these years we have hunted the country over. We have lived in thirty-two cities in our wandering search for our boy. But I have always had the unfaltering trust that I would find him. It was only recently that we heard news. We found that little Joseph was given to Miss Dingee by Le Mar. Le Mar returned to Detroit and killed his wife and himself. That was when the court took charge."

"Can you prove the boy is your son?" a reporter asked.

"We shall prove it."

"But he is in beautiful surroundings. He will be given education and wealth."

"I Am His Mother."

"I am his mother."

"He doesn't know anything about the past and he believes his rich foster parents are his own."

"I am his mother."

"Would you take him from luxury and every advantage?"

"I am his mother."

"Even for his sake you would not leave him happy?"

"I am his mother; I love him."

"Then you will take him away?"

"I want my boy."

A Moving Scene at Movie as Policewoman Moves

When a movie father was reproving a movie son with a movie razor strop in an Evanston movie theater yesterday, Mrs. Georgiana Juul, police matron, acting as movie censor, ordered the scene cut out, during a performance. She had failed to pass on the picture at the regular time, saying she would observe it during the performance. When the audience was told what had happened a clamor arose and Mrs. Juul departed amid some swift repartee.

Baker Revokes His Order for Censorship of News

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Secretary Baker tonight revoked his order diverting to the war department for censorship all press cablegrams concerning American troops in France. The public information committee announced that "the emergency having passed," the war department would permit cable matter to go directly to the press associations or newspapers.

BIG BILL TO GO WITH ALDERMEN TO MILWAUKEE

Mayor Thompson "ain't mad at nobody."

Although the city council will meet this afternoon to consider the resolution censuring the mayor for his arbitrary use of gavel rule in "adjourning" its meeting several weeks ago when it reconsidered confirmation of his school board slate, the city's chief executive has already accepted an invitation to accompany the aldermen tomorrow morning on their trip to Milwaukee to play baseball with the members of that town's council.

The delegation will be accompanied by the naval training station's band.

G. J. GOULD JR., LIKE BROTHER, WEDS POOR GIRL

Unannounced, He Takes Miss Laura M. Carter as His Bride.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—[Special.]—Following a few days Brother Kingdon's wedding, George J. Gould Jr., youngest son of the millionaire, was married here today to Miss Laura M. Carter of Freehold, N. J.

So understatious was the wedding of the young New York millionaire that even the Rev. William D. Chalfonte, who married them, shortly after noon, was unaware of the groom's prominence. No other member of the Gould family was present and it is believed that, although friends knew of the attentions George J. Gould Jr. was paying to Miss Carter, they were in complete darkness as to the wedding.

Two men, one of them believed to have been Dr. George A. Coleman, a local dentist, and a woman, said to have been the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. J. Callahan of Arden, N. J., witnessed the simple wedding service.

Arrives Day Ahead of Bride.

It is believed George J. Gould Jr. came to Philadelphia Wednesday, and, stopping at a hotel in Broad street, he was joined here this morning by his bride, who is said to be an orphan. Since she was 4 years old she has lived with Mrs. Callahan, whose husband is a gentleman farmer. Their home is only a few miles from the Gould estate at Lakewood. The bride is a graduate of the Freehold, N. J., public schools and has been given a musical education. Her family is not ranked as wealthy.

Shortly after noon the two walked quietly to the city hall and, entering the marriage bureau on the fifth floor, took their places among those waiting for licenses. There was nothing about young Gould to indicate his prominence except his name.

"Parson" Performs Ceremony.

Leaving the city hall he walked with Miss Carter to the Rev. Mr. Chalfonte's residence on North Fifteenth street, more than three blocks away. It is believed he was married there on the suggestion of the marriage license clerk, as the Rev. Mr. Chalfonte is known as a "marrying parson" at the city hall.

Following the wedding he and his bride, who was attired in a simple traveling suit of serge, disappeared. It was learned tonight that a compartment on a southbound through train had been reserved for "a Mr. and Mrs. Gould."

U-BOAT SCARE ON VIRGINIA COAST STARTS SEARCH

Fort Monroe, Va., July 5.—Hampton roads was given a real submarine scare tonight by a report brought to the commandant of Fort Monroe that two incoming vessels had sighted a periscope in Chesapeake bay five miles off the fort.

Immediate precautions were taken, and at a late hour tonight naval vessels were scouring the lower bay for an enemy.

Merchant vessels about to sail were held up, and the Washington and Baltimore steamers were escorted from the "roads" and part of their way up the bay by warships.

Col. Foote, commandant at the fort, expressed doubt that there were submarines about, but said the authorities would take no possible chances.

No Official Report.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Neither the war department nor the navy department received a report tonight on the Hampton roads submarine scare.

ALL LIGHTS OUT IN STRIKE RIOT AT BLOOMINGTON

Bloomington, Ill., July 5.—The street car strike, which has been in progress peaceably for several weeks, developed into a riot tonight, following a speech by "Mother" Jones.

One car was taken from the rails and placed across the railroad tracks, several conductors and motormen were badly beaten, and one man, said to have been in the crowd which was attacking the cars, was shot through the neck.

The mob started for the power plant which operates the street cars, commercial lighting and power system, and Illinois Traction system cars, but the employés, notified of their coming, shut down the plant and the city is without light or power, except for the municipal plant which furnishes lights for the streets.

BARE NEW NEST OF AGENTS IN THREE CITIES

Arrest Danish Tars; General Roundup Federal Plan.

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—Disclosure by the government of documents which will lead, it is said, to the identification of hitherto unsuspected men in this city, Philadelphia, Boston, and Chicago as German spies was disclosed today by the arrest of three sailors from the Danish steamship United States.

A large quantity of "irregular" mail, unstamped, it is alleged, also came into the possession of department of justice operatives.

BANK'S MAIL CALLED O. K.

There were several sacks of mail consigned to the Transatlantic Trust company of 67 William street. This was the institution in which Franz Rintelen, recently convicted German spy, kept his funds. The company in 1915 advertised to send money to Austria-Hungary by a German submarine. Nothing unlawful was found in the trust company's mail, it is said.

Practically all of the Danish steamer's irregular mail, according to the three arrested sailors, was sent to Germany, Austria, and Hungary, or to persons in those countries. Some of the letters were addressed to persons in the United States, but these were in the minority. The names of consignees and senders were sent between the United States and Germany, through Scandinavia, for the war of Danish, Swedish, and Norwegian ports.

SPIES OUTWIT U. S. CENSORS.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—That American cables and wireless systems can be used by any clever organization of spies, that methods employed by the government to block transmission of military information have failed, and that the entire system must be changed are convictions of Admiral Usher, naval officers in charge of cable and wireless communication, who have reported their conclusions to Secretary of Navy Daniels.

Some members of congress believe America should adopt the German system of absolutely backing its frontier against transmission of any information whenever important military movements are being developed.

PLAN ROUNDUP OF SPIES.

Agents of every secret branch of the government today were working together in the hope of bringing in the biggest roundup of spies that the country has ever seen.

The various secret agencies have followed a policy of allowing many suspected men and women "enough rope to hang themselves" before arresting them.

As a result of this policy there are excellent reasons for believing that many of the cases involving men "higher up" have been carried through to a successful conclusion.

HAD INSIDE INFORMATION.

Information reached Washington today that a German community in Brooklyn, N. Y., was in possession of detailed information concerning the American troop ships. A letter demonstrating this has been received by a prominent American citizen residing in Washington. It was written in Pittsburgh on June 16, and the recipient is willing to disclose the name of the author of the letter to the proper authorities. The letter follows:

"This morning Mr. B., a prominent insurance man, came into Dr. X.'s office and asked him concerning his son (on board one of the transports). Dr. X. told him he knew nothing except the meager information in a letter he had received from his son.

"Then Mr. B. told Dr. X. that he (B.) knew when the boat sailed and what was on board and that one of B.'s agents (insurance) had visited a house in Brooklyn where some Germans lived and there was told that the ship would sail such and such a time; that there were so many soldiers aboard, and that there were several hundred pieces of artillery on the ship."

GERMAN HIRE AGENTS ACTIVE?

Another element that is engaging attention of the authorities in the espionage hunt is the German marine insurance companies in this country. When the steamships Manchuria, which was loading the American troop transports out of New York bay, collided with a tug, agents of German companies [illegible] the craft to conduct an examination. This inspection gave them an opportunity to discover the other transports and to approximate the number of men aboard.

VIGILANTES RULE RIOT CITY; CRISIS TODAY

East St. Louis Negroes Are Asked to Return; Many Afraid.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 5.—[Special.]—East St. Louis must face its supreme test tomorrow. The test will come on the issue of reopening its factories on full time and with Negro labor.

The brokendown civic administration has been swept aside. Following the plan of the vigilantes of frontier days, citizens have organized a committee of public safety of nine members. The committee will take possession of municipal affairs at dawn.

The present police and fire departments, children of the wretched political conditions that are just behind the immediate cause of riots, will be dismantled immediately and supplemented with forces that will attempt to uphold the law.

Adjt. Gen. Dickson promised East St. Louis that the Illinois national guard will maintain peace and order. On all sides it is agreed that the crisis will be reached and passed before noon tomorrow.

The hunt for bodies of victims in the ruins of burned homes and in creeks continued today. The police said they still believed at least 100 were killed in the riots.

Altogether the bodies of four whites and thirty-eight Negroes have been found.

Invite Negroes to Return.

East St. Louis industries will be crippled unless they can regain the Negro labor that has crossed the bridges since Monday's lynchings. Without this labor they will be unable to meet their vast government contracts.

Representatives of all of the big industries and of the responsible citizenship generally in conference today expressed confidence in the law and order policy of the state of Illinois and issued a formal invitation to the 12,000 refugees now in St. Louis to return to the east side.

This invitation was received with satisfaction by a minority of the Negroes across the river. The majority, according to Acting Mayor Louis P. Aloe of St. Louis, indicated that they will never return to East St. Louis. They refused also to go back down the Mississippi, in response to an urgent invitation from a business men's committee from Greenville, Miss., who offered a free river trip and plenty of work.

Banker Heads Vigilantes.

Conrad Reeb, president of the Illinois State bank and of the East St. Louis chamber of commerce, was appointed chairman of the committee of public safety, which expects to force practical abdication of the existing city government, headed by Mayor Mollman.

Normal business was resumed today, except in the factories, which were short handed, and in the saloons, which will remain closed indefinitely.

A meeting of 300 chosen business men, representing all branches of commercial activity, will be held in the city hall tomorrow afternoon. The committee of nine will announce its platform and issue a pronunciamento. This will be the formal inauguration of the new provisional government.

Meantime two of the alleged leaders of the Negroes—men said to have handled the Negroes for political purposes—have been arrested and are held without bail. One of these, N. W. Parden, is a former assistant state's attorney. The other is James Verdiman, a former city detective. Dr. L. N. Bundy, the dentist-politician, is reported in a half dozen different places.

$00 Take Lynching Oath.

It is common gossip that the whites, who have signed no "peace treaties," are determined to "get" these three men. THE TRIBUNE was informed this afternoon, through a high source, that 200 men have taken an oath to lynch Bundy if hands can be laid upon him.

Joseph N. Fining, secretary of the East St. Louis chamber of commerce, sent the formal invitation to the refugees, on behalf of the East St. Louis industries. The invitation was transmitted through the St. Louis city government and through the Red Cross agencies that are feeding the Negroes. Mr. Fining's letter said that order had been restored, that the jobs from which they had been driven are open to them and that complete protection would be vouchsafed through the Illinois national guard and the committee of public safety.

400 Negroes Return.

Through Mr. Fining's efforts, enough Negroes were returned today to East St. Louis—perhaps 400 in all—to permit five plants to reopen on full time. But the real test will come tomorrow, if the Negroes should decide to return in large numbers. Only then will the questions be answered—will the whites resume their war on the blacks? Can the militia and good citizens keep peace in East St. Louis?

No investigations, federal, state or otherwise, will be started until after peace and order shall have been restored. Col. George H. Hunter, U. S. A., has returned to Chicago with a special report for Gen. Thomas H. Barry on the work of the federalized national guard companies on duty here.

The business men vigilantes named a committee on prosecutions today to confer with Attorney General Brundage concerning prosecution of the leaders of the white and black rioters.

DYNAMITE PLANT PERILS ROCKFORD

Rockford, Ill., July 5.—[Special.]—Enough dynamite to blow up the downtown district was found by the police two doors east of the I. W. W. headquarters at 304 East State street.

Chief of Police Bargren believes it was planted by sympathizers of the slackers sent to prison today by Judge Landis.

The explosives were packed in a tin can and consisted of thirty-six sticks of 60 per cent high test dynamite weighing over thirty-five pounds.

Federal operatives are cooperating with the local police in an effort to run down those who are responsible for the planting of the dynamite.

Volunteer Red Cross Is Silver Lining to Black Cloud Hovering Over East St. Louis

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 5.—[Special.]—There are bright spots in the general black cloud of shame which hangs over this grimy industrial city sprawled along the low bottoms of the Mississippi.

One of the brightest is the work of the volunteer Red Cross committee which is looking after the relief of the wounded Negroes and the removal of others to places of safety.

When it is considered that the death roll is likely to run far over a hundred, that the seriously wounded count as many more, that an outbreak of smallpox among the terrified blacks has made necessary the opening of an isolation camp, and that probably 5,000 Negro men, women, and children have been driven away from their ruined homes and out of the city, it may be gathered that the relief committee has had and still has a man sized job on its hands.

The center of all the relief work is the city hall, in the upper stories of which nearly a thousand black people of all ages and both sexes were hidden to protect them from the fury of the mobs on the streets.

Forget Slavery Shaft.

The gods of dirty politics must have grinned at the setting of the scene. In the little park to the north of the hall stood a tall object covered with a shapeless draping of cloth. Under that cloth was a monument which was to have been dedicated on the glorious Fourth to the memory of the soldiers and sailors from St. Clair county who gave their lives to save the black man from slavery.

Gov. Lowden was to have unveiled the monument and to have delivered an oration from the stand, hung with red, white, and blue bunting, which stood at one side.

Yesterday instead the park was filled with the little brown pup tents of national guardsmen called in to save black men and women from the deadly violence of the descendants of those soldiers. And, of course, the soldiers' monument remained hidden under its veil. Perhaps it would be just as well if East St. Louis kept the veil on permanently.

Father Dead; Mother in Pest Camp.

At noon yesterday a little piccaninny about 6 years old sat on the top of a box in the wide stone corridor of the city hall. He was dry eyed and his thick upper lip drooped in utter exhaustion. He had been sitting there motionless for hours.

"Where is your father?" I asked him.

"White folks done kill 'im."

"And your mother?"

"Dunno, suh; white folks done carry her off."

The little chap's face was expressionless. He relapsed into patient and hopeless waiting. It developed that his mother had been one of those exposed to the smallpox which had broken out on one of the upper floors and been taken off to the tents near the city pesthouse, where the smallpox patients and suspects were confined.

All about the small boy stood Negro men and women, carrying satchels and bundles wrapped in newspapers. The majority were old, dirty, and ragged clothing. Most of them were quiet and expressionless. Now and then a woman would break down and cry.

Takes Negroes to Safety.

In and out of the front door stalked a tall and stalwart white man in civilian clothes, with a businesslike army revolver strapped about his hips.

"All aboard for St. Louis!" he called, as he entered the crowded corridor. Negroes flocked out on the sidewalk behind him. They climbed up onto the bodies of empty and waiting motor trucks and, under military guard, were started off across the free bridge to safety in St. Louis.

The man in his shirt sleeves with the gun strapped on his hip was Dr. T. L. Benbridge, a recent graduate from the Washington medical college in St. Louis, a member of the medical reserve corps of the army, and a volunteer in the work of getting the Negroes away in safety. He had been on duty constantly for forty-eight hours when I saw him and during that time had escorted more than 800 Negroes over the bridge.

Flee in All Directions.

But the Negroes did not flee only in the direction of Missouri. Hundreds of them on the bloody Monday of this week started on foot out of East St. Louis on all the roads which led away from the city and certain death which awaited them there.

Late yesterday afternoon a crowd of nearly 200 black men, women, and children were discovered lying, exhausted and terrified, along the railroad right of way near Centerville Junction, six miles beyond the city limits. The relief committee sent out tents and food and today they were camped in something like comfort and it was planned to bring them back to their homes as soon as that became quite safe.

That some assurance of safety was needed is indicated by the attitude of three or four Negro men who since Monday have hidden themselves in the buildings at the national stock yards north of the city proper.

"Colonel," one of them asked, "how is things downtown today?"

"Everything seems quiet."

"Would it be safe for me to go on down and see my family for a few minutes? I ain't seen 'em for three days."

Race Antagonism Still High.

There were 1,500 national guardsmen, armed with rifles, patrolling all the main streets of the city and mounting guard about all the big buildings and factories. A very few colored people were to be seen on the streets and in the street cars. But with blocks of houses in which colored people had lived burned to the ground and still smoking, with constantly new tales of horror told by eye-witnesses fresh in mind, and with the certainty that race antagonism has been fanned into fury by dirty politics, one hesitated to give advice.

The situation here is not one easily or quickly described. But it is worth describing, because it carries with it a lesson which every city in the north will be wise to learn.

SORRY DAY FOR SLACKERS; MEET UP WITH LANDIS

Rockford Men Given a Tongue Lashing and Jail Terms.

spasm of conscience he would have an epileptic fit," was the court's rejoinder.

Judge Landis took another "dig" at the Socialist party when Martin Engstrom said he was at the hall in Rockford on the night of the parade, but he did not hear any talking or speaking of any kind. In reply to a query from the court as to how many were at the meeting, he answered 150.

"Did you hear that, Seymour?" again addressing Attorney Stedman; "that's a rather unusual thing, 150 Socialists in the same room and not one of them saying a word. What do you think of that?"

The remark of Emil Larson, who has lived in this country for over nine years, that he "figured on going back to Sweden" and that is why he did not register, was the breaking point for Judge Landis.

"Not one of you fellows have told me the real truth; you have all whined and belly-ached like a lot of puppies here," said the court in disgust, as he scanned the wall of the courtroom filled with the prisoners.

All Refuse to Defend Selves.

As each defendant told the judge that he was opposed to war and that he did not want to kill or hurt any one, the court would invariably turn in the direction of Joseph Lawrence, the court interpreter.

"You see that fellow, Lawrence, there. Now if he wants to go for you with a large elm, maple or slippery elm, club wouldn't you, or something to defend yourself. You surely wouldn't let Lawrence beat you up without trying to resist him, would you?"

Each prisoner answered that he would not resist or that he would try and run away.

"I guess you must have all these fellows 'buffaloed,' Lawrence," the court finally remarked with a smile.

Seized on 17 Year Old Charge.

Louis Karakitsos, said by the police to be a well known gambler and confidence man, said to be wanted in Greece on two murder charges, was arrested in Youngstown, O., yesterday and will be returned to Chicago to face prosecution on a seven teen years old charge of stabbing James Kanavaros, 401 West North avenue, owner of several north side ice cream parlors and confectionery shops.

M. E. CHURCHES PLAN TO AVERT SPLIT ON NEGRO

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

A denial that the Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Episcopal Church South are hopelessly split on the question of Negro membership was made yesterday by the Rev. Edgar Blake, secretary of the board of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, who was one of the joint commissioners who adjourned Tuesday night at Traverse City, Mich., after discussing a basis of union.

"The Negro question was hardly discussed," said Dr. Blake. "We felt that we must first come to a working agreement on other matters fundamental to church union before it would be necessary to take up the question of the relation of the Negro to the church. On seven of these fundamental points we reached a tentative agreement. These matters, of course, will be discussed further.

"A majority report and a minority report on the Negro question were presented to the commission. The majority report favored retaining the Negro in the membership of the church and the minority favored the setting off of the Negroes into an independent body. The reports of the committee were simply presented, but were not discussed."

Salvation Army Takes 500 Poor to Summer Camp

The Salvation Army opens its big summer camp at Glen Ellyn today for poor mothers and children from the slums by taking out 500. The camp activities extend through eight weeks. Some years ago the Gary farm near Glen Ellyn was purchased and turned over to the Salvation Army to be used for the benefit of poor mothers and children. The farm consists of fifty-six acres and is one of the most beautiful spots anywhere near Chicago. The Chicago and Northwestern railroad is furnishing free transportation.

Better a Cycle of Joliet than a Day in E. St. Louis

David Holden and Clarence Roberts, Negroes, both convicted and sentenced to Joliet on a charge of robbery, were unable yesterday to give information concerning their third partner, who fled after the robbery of Lawrence Lynch, 5005 Normal boulevard.

"Ah guess he's outa luck," Holden allowed. "He set off to East St. Louis, but I bet he better be back here in the penitentiary."

NEGROES PLAN TO SUE E. ST. LOUIS FOR $1,000,000

Suits involving more than $1,000,000 are threatened against the city of East St. Louis in behalf of the Negroes whose homes were destroyed and whose means of livelihood were withdrawn in the recent riots. Action is said to be under way by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, of which Judge Edward Osgood Brown is the local president.

It is declared that each of the Negroes has a cause of action for loss of property, life, and limb and that each suit may, under the statute, claim $5,000.

It also is declared that an action will be started against the sheriff of the county and that if the evidence supports the contention that prisoners were taken from the sheriff he will be ousted from office by the governor. Investigators already are on the ground for the purpose of obtaining evidence upon which to proceed.

Scatter Ashes to Four Winds, His Will Directs

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 5.—[Special.]—Justin J. Tyler, who ended his life a few days ago, left a will in which specific directions are given for the cremation of his body and the scattering of the ashes to the four winds. He requests that no portion of the ashes be covered with earth and that the place of scattering be kept secret. His daughter, Mrs. Jennie A. Hatch of Chicago, is made beneficiary of his estate, valued at $1,500, but she must wait until she is 60 years old before getting possession of it. She is now 46.

Export Control Board Picked by Government

Washington, D. C., July 5.—America's export control program, planned with the greatest care to make the blockade of Germany effective and at the same time to do no injustice to neutrals, has been determined upon and will be put into operation within the next few days. A complete statement of the purposes of the program is expected with the first presidential proclamation putting certain commodities under control.

WILD RUMORS AS EXEMPTION WORK GETS FIRST MOVE

Delay to Force Extension of Time Limit Set by Provost Marshal.

With the exemption machinery finally getting into working shape yesterday, all manner of wild rumors and false reports were spread over the town, getting the populace all stirred up.

The first report that quickly put a load on the telephone wires was that the Washington officials had begun drawing the numbers and quite a number had been drawn for the Chicago district. Fictitious numbers were announced, and most everybody in town who had any of these numerals on their registration cards began calling THE TRIBUNE office and the election board rooms for further particulars.

Of course, no numbers have been drawn in Washington. They can't be until the local exemption and district appeal boards have completed their work of separating the fit from the unfit and have reported their findings to Washington. That work has not begun yet.

Otherwise the exemption machinery finally started off yesterday. Only one district—the Forty-third—had not received the cards last night from which the new lists will be made, due to the resignations of two of the men named on the board. They consented to serve, however, until the new lists can be made.

Time Must Be Extended.

However, a serious delay already has occurred and it is likely that the reports with the new lists from the exemption boards will not be ready by tomorrow, the time limit set by the provost marshal in Washington. As a result the time will have to be extended.

Meantime, Gov. Lowden announced in Springfield yesterday that the law did not compel men to serve on the exemption boards and those who had resigned will be succeeded by new appointments as soon as the recommendations can be got to President Wilson. Some of the men who have resigned, the governor said, presented valid reasons. Reports from the entire state indicate that all the boards, with an isolated exception here and there, have buckled down to the work with zeal and are making a fine showing.

Chicago's Honor Board.

The honor exemption board in Chicago is in the Seventy-seventh district. This board yesterday completed all the preliminary work, the first one to do it, and made its official report. It is now ready to begin the actual work of drafting men for the colors.

Wilford H. Sprout, 9016 South Hoyne avenue, is the president of this district board. The other members are George E. Gorman, 9037 Longwood boulevard, and Dr. John T. Honaker, 1226 West One Hundred and Third street.

CITY TO MAKE I. C. BETTER HOUSING OF ITS NEGROES

Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson will be directed today in an order introduced in the city council by Ald. Eugene H. Block to compel the Illinois Central railroad to improve the housing conditions of Negro laborers at its construction camps at East Ninety-fifth street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Ever since the influx of Negro labor from the south smallpox has been on the increase in the "black belt," according to reports received by the health department. Ald. Block declared a Negro, who contracted the disease at the railroad camp, made his escape before the arrival of an ambulance and is now at large. In reply to the alderman's complaint, Dr. Robertson said his investigators are making a canvass of the camp and have ordered all laborers vaccinated.

Minister Egan Treated by Danish King's Doctor

COPENHAGEN, July 5.—Maurice F. Egan, American minister to Denmark, who has been ill for several days, was removed today to a private hospital, where there are better facilities for treatment. The removal of Dr. Egan is said not to imply any change in his condition. The transfer was decided upon after Prof. Sehou, a leading Danish specialist and personal physician to the late King Christian IX., had been called into consultation.

DRAFT SLOWS UP MARINE AND ARMY RECRUITS

US BE THE WORLD WE MUST SAVE YOUR NATION JOIN NOW!

About 150 applicants presented themselves to the headquarters of the army recruiting service yesterday. This number was a little disappointing following the Fourth, but considering that the draft is scheduled to start in a few days the officers in charge were satisfied.

The marines were neglected. Only a few applications were received during the day. Here also the draft was blamed for the poor showing.

Capt. Franklin R. Kenney, chief of the army recruiters, was emphatic in his criticism of Joseph Siman, superintendent of the bridewell, who was quoted as promising freedom to the prisoners if they joined the army, and Will T. Davies, county jailer, who was quoted as saying arrangements had been made with army and navy authorities for the acceptance of felons.

"It is an outrage," exclaimed the captain. "The enlistment regulation in the army prevents such a thing. It is an insult to the flag. None but the highest type of men morally are wanted for the United States army. Only that sort of men are enlisting now."

MARSHALL FIELD GOES TO BEDSIDE OF HIS BROTHER

Henry Field, grandson of Marshall Field, who has undergone an operation of a dangerous character in the Presbyterian hospital, New York, was said late last night to be in a satisfactory condition. Information as to the nature of his illness was refused, but it was reported he is "doing nicely."

Despite encouraging reports, it has been deemed necessary to telegraph Marshall Field III. to hurry at once to New York, in view of the preparations of the Second artillery to go into training it became necessary for Marshall Field to obtain leave of absence.

Henry Field, whose town residence is at 920 Lake Shore drive, recently was married to Miss Nancy Keen Parkins of Virginia and the young couple have but a short time ago returned from a long honeymoon in the south.

Appel Held to U. S. Jury as Anti-Draft Worker

Theodore Appel, advocate of anarchy and foe of military draft, is held in the Cook county jail in default of a bond for $10,000. He lives at 1005 Milwaukee avenue.

Appel proclaimed himself an anarchist when arrested by the federal authorities as one of the publishers of the Social War. Instructions for the suppression of the paper have been issued. Andres Sintoni was associated with Appel.

United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote held Appel to the grand jury yesterday.

DRAFT NEW ARMY FOR WAR ABROAD ON JULY 12 OR 14

May Publish Method Today; Exemption Boards Are Nearly Ready.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The coming week will witness the next and greatest of all steps in the raising of the new national army for the war. In all probability the draft of America's registered citizens for the first increment of this army will be applied during that time. The draft will occur in Washington and the date is likely to be July 12 or July 14. Tomorrow it is expected that the method to be employed in drawing the names will be announced.

These facts were learned tonight following conferences between members of the general staff, Secretary of War Baker, and Provost Marshal General Crowder.

Organization of all local exemption boards of the country the provost marshal general expects to be completed before the close of this week. The boards are allowed three days for sorting, copying, and marking the registration cards.

Decide on Quotas Today.

The work of assigning quotas for the various states will be taken up tomorrow and as soon as sufficient data is available on the population of the states these quotas will be announced.

It is expected they will include provisions for drawing enough names to fill the vacancies in the quotas for the army and national guard for each state. This draft will be in addition to the men who will be drawn for service in the national army.

Members of the Illinois Bar association notified the war department by resolution that they would deem it unethical for members of the association to defend "slackers" or to accept employment to influence the appointment to office or promotion in office of members of the military establishment.

"We cite in support of the views expressed in the resolution the thirty-second canon of the code of ethics of the American Bar association, adopted by the Illinois Bar association," said a statement accompanying the resolution. "This resolution is not directed to those special cases where a lawyer gives gratuitous advice to his friends or fellow citizens in regard to their rights and liabilities under the selective conscription act or appears before said exemption boards without any compensation direct or indirect."

Tent City Plans Completed.

The sites for the national guard camps have all been selected, except two, but decision regarding these will be reached within a few days. The other sites for the national guard camps are:

Forth Worth, Tex.; Fort Sill, Okla.; Deming, N. M.; Waco, Tex.; Houston, Tex.; Linda Vista, Cal.; Greenville, S. C.; Augusta, Ga.; Macon, Ga.; Montgomery, Ala.; Anniston, Ala.; Fayetteville, N. C.; Palo Alto, Cal., and Spartanburg, S. C.

PEACE FUTILE, DEMOCRATIZE, GERMANS TOLD

Further Proffers to End the War Harmful, the Reichstag Hears.

BULLETIN.

AMSTERDAM, July 5.—The German bundesrat, says a Berlin dispatch, has approved a bill prolonging the life of the reichstag. A measure dealing with the position of Alsace-Lorraine also was adopted by the bundesrat.

COPENHAGEN, July 5. — Further peace proffers will be harmful and will tend to defeat the German objects, Herr von Payer told a committee of the reichstag today, according to a dispatch from Berlin.

He declared the only thing for Germany to do was to hold out, meantime bolstering public sentiment by immediately beginning the work of democratising the country.

Divergent views on the question of peace were expressed by representatives of the various parties in the meeting of the committee.

Herr Ebert, a Socialist leader, said Germany could have peace this summer if it would only offer peace without annexations and indemnities to all opponents and abandon separate overtures to Russia.

Herr Erzberger said the formula of the Russian council of deputies was impossible and impractical. He warned the government representatives against awakening false optimism by their statements.

Unpleasant Preliminaries.

Such sessions of the "little reichstag" and the debate in the Saxon diet threatening revolution unless reform is immediately undertaken are rather unpleasant preliminaries to the reichstag's meeting tomorrow morning.

A measure giving additional representation to a number of overgrown urban industrial reichstag districts probably will be submitted to the reichstag. Party leaders during a conference on Monday with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg obtained from the government an agreement that this so-called minor reform program would be immediately taken up. A committee began yesterday preparing a report thereon for immediate presentation to the reichstag. Other reforms still slumber.

Criticize the Government.

The Socialist organ, Vorwaerts, in its independent report of the proceedings in the "little reichstag," says Herr Ebert devoted considerable attention to the unsatisfactory conditions in the nutrition of the people and the prospect of an inadequate supply of fuel for the fourth war winter which the Germans probably will be called on to face.

Herr Erzberger, the Clerical leader, and Herr von Payer, Radical, supported in general Herr Ebert's view of conditions and criticized the government's inefficient measures for dealing with the problem.

A report of the debate in the Saxon diet reached here today. It included these declarations, in which parties, except the Conservatives, joined:

"Saxon soldiers are not fighting out of loyalty to the king but for love of the fatherland and monarchical principle.

COUP D'ETAT IN CHINA A FAILURE, AMERICA'S BELIEF

Moves of Military Leaders Against Restoration of Monarchy.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Belief here that the monarchical coup d'etat in China is destined to failure was increased today by each new item of news, both official and unofficial, which came to the attention of the state department. Minister Reinsch reported that several—at least some of the northern military leaders—men who are felt to hold the country's destiny in their hands, have taken the field in opposition to Gen. Chang Hsun's attempt to destroy republicanism in China.

News of the creation of an emergency republican government at Nanking, headed by some of the strongest men of China, with reports of active military preparations to besiege the monarchists in Peking, was received with keen interest.

Military Men for Republic.

The adhesion of many militarists to the republican ranks is interpreted here as showing that Chang Far overplayed his hand and that the greatest gamble of his adventurous life will not succeed. Nevertheless, fear is felt that he will make an active resistance with his considerable military forces, and that an attack by the republicans and possibly serious damage to Peking may follow. Chang probably could maintain himself for some time behind the Peking walls, especially as artillery is lacking in China. A compromise is rendered doubtful by executions, particularly that of Prince Pu Lun, who, though Manchu and a cousin of the restored emperor, has been an ardent republican and progressive.

The action of Tuan Chi-Jui in accepting his former post as premier, under instructions from President Li from his asylum in the Japanese embassy at Peking, has strengthened faith in the ultimate success of the republic. Tuan has been one of the republic's strongest men, with influence among the military party.

Claimed Support of Chang.

On the other hand, the imprisonment by Chang of Wang Shih Chen, formerly republican minister of war and appointed to a similar post in the monarchical cabinet, confirmed the belief existing here that Chang had appointed many men to office in his cabinet who had neither accepted nor been consulted. The imperialists had claimed the support of Feng Kwo Chang, who is in actuality acting president of the republic.

Chang Hsun has taken control of the telegraph wires from Peking. Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese minister called at the state department today, but had no information further than the pro-monarchical reports sent out by Chang's leaders.

Troops Arrive at Globe to Handle Arizona Strike

Globe, Ariz., July 5.—Three troops of United States cavalry and one machine gun company arrived in Globe tonight to handle the strike situation in the mines.

DUTCH WOMEN USE BAYONETS IN NEW RIOTS

300 in Amsterdam Mob from Kattenburg Storm Jordaan.

AMSTERDAM, July 5.—The Jordaan district of Amsterdam, the Telegraaf reports, was invaded yesterday by 300 women from the Kattenburg district armed with bayonets, revolvers, and stones. A collision with the police took place.

The rioting was the renewal of serious disorders which hitherto have centered in the Kattenburg district.

Woman Starts the Shooting.

A collision with the police took place at the Keizersgracht, a woman firing a shot but missing the mark.

Another collision occurred in the Jewish quarter between strikers and the police. It is reported that a boy was wounded and died in a hospital.

Large quantities of potatoes are arriving, the cars being guarded by police and soldiers. The garrison has been reinforced by strong detachments of cavalry and infantry.

DUE TO POTATO SHORTAGE.

The rioting in Amsterdam has been chiefly due to the scarcity of potatoes and their export to England, to which the government is committed under agreements made to preserve its trade relations with both the entente and Germany. Four persons were reported killed and nineteen injured Tuesday night when a mob which was pillaging shops was fired upon. Rioting occurred yesterday in the Kattenburg area, a market district.

Three Appraisers to Fix Liability of Whaleback

Milwaukee, Wis., July 5.—The Goodrich Transit company today petitioned the federal court that its limitation of liability in connection with the tragic accident befalling the steamer Christopher Columbus last Saturday be confined to the value of the vessel immediately following the accident, and the passage money earned on the last trip from Chicago. The court will appoint three appraisers.

The tank which caused the death of sixteen persons on the steamer was removed from the river tonight. No bodies were found.

Leather Shortage Acute; Go Barefoot, German Edict

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Dispatches to the state department say the leather shortage in Germany is so acute officials are demanding that the entire population go barefoot from the latter part of June through the summer. The city council of Zittau emphasized the fact that leather in shoes will be scarce the coming winter.

British Add 33 Per Cent to Year's Beer Output

LONDON, July 5.—Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons today that the government had decided to permit the brewing during the quarter ending Sept. 30 next of an additional amount of beer not exceeding 33 1-3 per cent of the amount already allowed for that quarter.

UNREST SPREADS IN GERMANY; DUE TO LACK OF FOOD

BY CYRIL BROWN.

[Copyright: 1917: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

STOCKHOLM, July 4, via London, July 5.—Vorwaerts, the German Socialist organ, calls out warningly to the government:

"Let none be blind to the fact that at this time a certain unrest is spreading throughout the nation."

This is the most important feature of the rapidly changing situation in Germany today, of which significant symptoms are rapidly multiplying. The food riots in Dusseldorff, Stettin, Gleiwitz, and other cities are only isolated outcroppings of the increasing restlessness throughout the German nation, which is essentially psychological rather than physical.

Under the lash of economic pressure, agitated German public opinion appears to be undergoing a tremendous change of heart and soul, and even the most stubborn are beginning to turn toward democratization as their sole salvation.

One of the most suggestive symptoms of the rapidly changing order is that of a handful of German "intellectuals" are calling on the government for the immediate inauguration of an equal and secret ballot in Prussia. Their appeal has created a tremendous sensation throughout Germany. The small band of fearless signers includes Prof. Hans Delbrueck, Prof. Nerst, and Privy Councilor Harnack, who are bred in the bone conservatives.

Americans Given Rights to Move About Germany

BERLIN, via London, July 5.—Virtually all restrictions and regulations to which American citizens resident in Germany have been subjected are removed through an agreement reached between the German foreign office and the military and police authorities. The agreement exempts citizens of the United States from reporting to the police and from observing the hours fixed for outdoor movements. The new agreement virtually places Americans on the same footing as neutrals, only such persons as may be under suspicion being excluded from the new privileges.

Argentine Serves War Ultimatum on Germany

BUENOS AIRES, July 5.—Argentina has served an ultimatum on Germany. From reliable sources it was learned today that a note just dispatched to Germany virtually asserts that unless Germany makes immediate indemnification for past destruction of Argentine ships and grants assurance against future attacks, Argentina will break off relations.

PICNIC TO BUY SHOES AND SOX FOR SOLDIERS

Three companies of the First Illinois infantry are in camp in Joliet. Because they have been out of shoes, Warden Murphy of the penitentiary sent them all the shoes he had on hand and collected their old ones for repairs.

Joliet citizens bought 200 pairs in Chicago for the soldiers at a cost of $1,200. They are shy on underwear and other necessities. On Wednesday, July 11, a field day is to be given in Dellwood Park, Joliet, for relief purposes. It is asked that 15,000 Chicagoans attend.

While war department red tape is being straightened out the field fund will help buy necessities.

No Early End to the War, Secretary Lane Declares

Chautauqua, N. Y., July 5.—There is no early end of the war in sight, Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, wrote in a message to the speakers' training camp for patriotic education. The message was read to the delegates today. Mr. Lane was not able to attend.

"The United States," Mr. Lane wrote, "will be a nation in arms for an indefinite time and the cabinet has no delusions that the way to peace will be easy."

Every preparation is being made, he said, for complete mobilization of the nation's resources with the determination that no matter how long it takes victory must be accomplished.

ENVOYS OF JAPAN INVITED BY U. S. TO DISCUSS WAR

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The suggestion that Japan send a mission to the United States, completing the series of visits to Washington by representatives of the allied nations, was made by the state department and not by Japan, it was learned today.

The state department has not made public the objects sought in obtaining a special conference with the Tokio government, but it was suggested today that one important purpose was to impress the west with the fact that Japan now is one of America's associates in the war and thereby secure a modification of the sentiment there against the Japanese.

There is good reason for stating that Japan would urge that American merchant ships be withdrawn from the Pacific trade in order to swell the amount of available tonnage for the use of the United States and of the entente nations in the Atlantic. Japan will offer to take care with her bottoms of the American commerce in the Pacific.

Japan also is ready to extend her naval patrol throughout the entire Pacific, this relieving American war vessels for service in the Atlantic.

Gas Man Sues Another Gas Maker for $35,000

George F. Goodnow, who lives in Highland Park, is interested in several gas manufacturing companies and has offices at 108 South La Salle street, filed a praecipe in a $35,000 damage suit in the Circuit court yesterday against W. Irving Osborne, also in the gas manufacturing business, with offices at 175 West Jackson boulevard. Mr. Goodnow said the action was for the purpose of collecting a debt.

German Dead in War Total 1,500,000

PARIS, July 5.—The total number of Germans killed from the beginning of the war to March, 1917, is not less than 1,500,000, according to an estimate reached by French general headquarters. This computation has been made after careful study of documents bearing on the subject.

O BOY, IT WAS SOME DAY, YELLS YANKEE IN PARIS

Reception Accorded by French Dazes U. S. Soldiers.

[Copyright: 1917: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

PARIS, July 5.—"I never been away from home on the Fourth of July before, but, believe me, if all celebrations abroad are like this one in Paris, I must been missing a good deal."

So spoke a lieutenant of the United States infantry when, after he had completed a four mile hike in which his battalion had participated, the correspondent asked him what he thought of Independence day in France. He added he supposed "even Paris hadn't ever let loose like this before." The lieutenant, who, like most of his fellow officers and men, has never been in the French capital before, was dazed with the reception accorded the American troops.

O, Boy, Some Day!

"Say, I've heard a lot about the enthusiasm of the French," he observed, "but what we saw beats everything I've heard forty ways from the jack. Why, by the time we finished that march we looked like the hanging gardens of Babylon. And every time they passed a flower on one of us they tried to kiss us—O, boy, it was sure our day!"

The lieutenant seemed to be worried about one thing only.

"What do they mean when they yell 'Teddy' at us?" he inquired.

It was explained the French papers, acting on a brief dispatch from New York, had christened the olive drab soldiers "Teddies."

"From New York?" he asked. "Well, that's news to me, but as far as I am concerned the French can call us anything they like—as long as they let us go to the front for them."

Regular Banquet for "Teddies."

While their general was being entertained at the chamber of commerce banquet the "Teddies" were sitting down to a repast in the Reuilly barracks. The menu follows:

Hors d'oeuvres, noodle soup, beef steak, new potatoes, French peas, lettuce salad, cheese, dessert, and coffee.

"Who said this country is starving?" the men chanted as they walked into this feast.

The American paraders are now encamped under Maj. Gen. William L. Siebert, and by July 16 the remainder of the expedition will be under instruction.

MEXICO PLANS TO BEGIN WAR ON GERMANY SOON

El Paso, Tex., July 5.—Since the pro-ally campaign in Mexico was started by El Universal in Mexico City the sentiment favoring the allies has reached northern Mexico. During the last thirty days a well defined movement favoring an open break with Germany and the alignment of Mexico on the side of the entente allies has developed. This has come in spite of the pro-German sentiments published daily in Chihuahua City and in other papers believed to be subsidized by the Germans.

Prominent Mexicans, men in close touch with the capitol, predict Mexico will declare war on Germany within thirty days. According to these men, all German money in the Mexico City, Torreon, Chihuahua City, and other banks will be seized as soon as war is declared, the German boats in Tampico and other ports will be seized, thereby giving Mexico a much needed merchant fleet, and all Germans will either be interned or deported at once, their properties being confiscated.

The Tampico oil fields would be made safe for the oil supply of the allied fleets by declaring a zone in which traffic would be restricted and the mines, smelters, and mills reopened at once to produce munition metals for the allies.

CREEL ADMITS HE 'MADE' U-BOAT ATTACK STORY

Rewrote "Dry" Report to Cheer Up Americans on July 4.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Charges that the administration greatly exaggerated the account of the battles between German submarines and the convoys of the transports bearing Gen. Pershing's army caused a ruction in official circles today.

George Creel, chief of the bureau of public information, admitted he wrote the announcement of the American victories which Secretary Daniels issued, and that he had elaborated upon the official report received from Admiral Gleaves, commanding the convoy. This elaborated report was given out on July 5 to make Independence day a more joyous occasion for the people.

Mr. Creel, who thus pleaded guilty to the charge of elaborating in the manner of the yellow press, recently admonished newspaper men to "cease being bird dogs" and "thrill to your calling."

Daniels' Feelings Hurt.

Secretary Daniels, who sponsored the announcement that the American fleet convoying the transports had been twice attacked and had sunk at least one German submarine, appeared to be hurt greatly when doubts were cast upon the official version.

"Do you suppose for a moment that I would have allowed that announcement to go out under my name if it had not been based upon the official report from Admiral Gleaves?" Mr. Daniels asked.

Creel flew into a rage when asked for his version of the affair.

"I am going over to the navy department and advise Secretary Daniels to pay no attention whatever to these nasty reports," he exclaimed with much warmth. "Nothing that has happened since the war began has aroused the patriotism of the American people as much as this Fourth of July announcement.

Refuses Official Report.

"If everything that this country does during the war is to be subjected to attack by nasty papers, we might as well begin right here to put an end to the discussions by paying no attention to them."

"Why not confound the authors of this report by printing the text of the official announcement from Admiral Gleaves?" Mr. Creel was asked.

"The nasty papers would seem fine to discredit that if we were to publish it," replied Mr. Creel excitedly.

"I want to Secretary Daniels' office, where he and Admiral Benson read the report from Admiral Gleaves. It was rather scrptic, as reports of that sort are bound to be. We read it over together and then I sat down and elaborated on the text of the deciphered message. I then wrote the announcement which appeared over Secretary Daniels' name. It was an elaboration of the original report from Admiral Gleaves."

WAR ACTIONS ON VARIOUS FRONTS OFFICIALLY TOLD

British Report Good Gain; French Fail to Oust the Enemy.

FRENCH FRONT

BRITISH.

LONDON, July 5.—Beyond artillery activity by both sides at a number of places along the front, there is nothing to report.

DAY STATEMENT.

Southwest of Hollebeke we advanced our lines slightly on a front of 600 yards. Last night we carried out successful raids in the vicinity of Wieltje and Nieuport and captured several prisoners.

AVIATION.

On Tuesday night bombing attacks were carried out by naval air service machines on the airdromes at Ghistelles and Nieumunster and also on the seaplane sheds and a train at Zaaren. Several tons of bombs were dropped. All the machines returned safely.

FRENCH.

PARIS, July 5.—There was artillery activity north of the Aisne in the region of the Hurtebise monument and the northern part of the Bois de Beau Marais, in Champagne, in the region of Mont Carnillet, and on the left bank of the Meuse in the region of Hill 304.

Four hundred shells were fired against Reims.

DAY STATEMENT.

There was rather pronounced activity of the artillery in the region of Moronvilliers, Prunay and Hill 304. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front.

AVIATION.

An enemy aviator, reached by gunfire, fell to earth northwest of Moronvilliers.

BELGIAN.

PARIS, July 5.—Last night and today the usual artillery actions took place along the whole front.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 5.—Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht—In Flanders and in the Artois the artillery activity was generally slight. Enemy reconnoitering advances were repulsed at several points.

Front of the German crown prince—Our gain of territory on the Chemin des Dames to the east of Cerny again induced the French army administration yesterday and early this morning to make fresh attacks which failed with heavy losses.

Up to the present the French have unsuccessfully attempted on fifteen occasions to recapture the lost ground. Each time they have incurred considerable sacrifices in killed, wounded, and prisoners.

On both sides of the Moselle enterprises which were often successful were carried through.

RUSSIAN FRONT

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, July 5.—East of Brzesany the enemy attacked our advanced posts, but was compelled by our artillery fire to retire.

East of Lipnicadolna, after artillery preparation, the enemy twice attacked our positions, but was repulsed on both occasions.

DAY STATEMENT.

In the direction of Kovel (Volhynia) there was artillery firing.

In the direction of Zlochoff (Galicia) our scouting parties in the region of the village of Godoff captured eleven German machine gunners. An attack by one of our storming groups did not materialise. Enemy counter attacks in the direction of the village of Miecyscoff were repulsed by our rifle and machine gun fire.

According to a preliminary estimate in the fighting of Sunday and Monday we captured 300 officers, 18,000 men, 29 guns, and 33 machine guns.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 5.—Army group of Prince Leopold—On the battlefield in eastern Galicia yesterday only light artillery fighting occurred. On the heights of Brzesany local engagements developed, during which the enemy was driven from some crater lines in which he still was maintaining himself. In the neighboring sectors greater quiet prevailed generally.

AUSTRIAN.

VIENNA, July 5.—At Brzesany the last portion of the positions still in possession of the enemy were recaptured and maintained against his attacks.

Otherwise the fighting activity was slight in all theaters.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

ROME, July 5.—All day yesterday the artillery was more active on the entire front. On the Asiago plateau (southeast of Trent) our batteries directed their fire against enemy columns marching in Val Galmarara.

North and east of Gorits our patrols carried out raids into the enemy lines, causing great damage and alarm. South of Castagnavizza the enemy attempted to deliver an attack, preceded by violent artillery preparation, but was checked completely.

ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 5.—Army groups of Archduke Joseph and Field Marshal von Mackensen: The enemy showed more local activity than usual.

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, July 5.—Fusillades have occurred.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 5.—The situation is unchanged.

FRENCH.

PARIS, July 5.—The enemy, after violent bombardment, sent two strong columns against the right wing of the Italian front, but these were repulsed.

There was moderate artillery activity on both sides along the whole front.

AIR RAID

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 5.—Yesterday morning one of our airplane squadrons attacked military establishments and coastal works near Harwich, on the east coast of England. In spite of a strong defense from the earth and by British aerial forces we succeeded in dropping several thousand kilograms of bombs on the objectives and in observing the good effects thereof. All our airplanes returned undamaged.

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, July 5.—On the Baltic sea on July 3 nine enemy airplanes executed two flights over the southern extremity of the island of Oesl. Twenty-four bombs were dropped on batteries, hangars, and buildings. The enemy's attacks were diverted by the concentrated fire of our naval units and shore batteries, which prevented the bombs from hitting their mark. There were no casualties or damage.

TURKISH FRONT

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, July 5.—In the Caucasus, after our occupation of Panjwin, the enemy retired to the heights west and south of Panjwin, where he is offering stubborn resistance. No changes have occurred on the remainder of the front.

DAY STATEMENT.

During an engagement we captured the village of Panjwin.

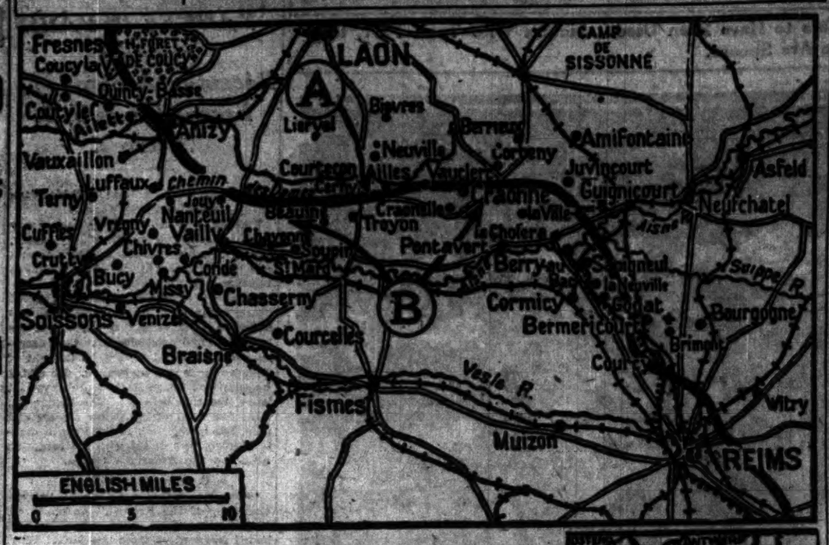
SUPPLEMENTARY

GERMAN.

BERLIN, July 5.—Western theater—There was slight fighting activity.

Eastern theater—There was a strong artillery duel between Zboroff and Brzesany.

THE FIGHTING ON THE AISNE FRONT

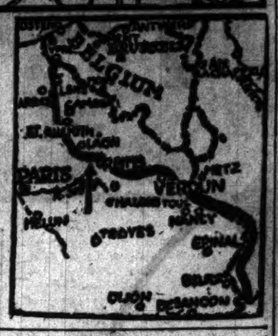


The heavy pressure maintained by the French toward Laon, the great southern or left flank base of the Hindenburg line, has resulted in desperate fighting. The evacuation of Laon would be a disaster of the first magnitude to the Germans, as it would force a general retirement.

The spring offensive of the French carried them to the crest of the Chemin-des-Dames, giving them the heights dominating the Ailette valley. This lowland must be crossed before the French are within range of Laon. In anticipation of a thrust across the Ailette by Gen. Petain's forces the Germans have attempted a series of attacks, all of which have been thrown back with heavy losses. The most recent fighting is reported as follows:

A—Berlin's version of the fight along the Aisne states that German gains on Chemin-des-Dames, to the east of Cerny, forced French to make fresh attacks, which failed with heavy losses.

B—Paris reports complete defeat of German offensive along Chemin-des-Dames on eleven mile front.



GERMAN THRUST ON 11 MILE LINE ENDS IN DEFEAT

French Beat Off Massed Attack; Foe's Dead Litters Field.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, July 5.—After their strongest offensive effort since Verdun the Germans found themselves yesterday thrown back everywhere along an eleven mile front on the Chemin-des-Dames, leaving the ground thickly strewn with their dead and having failed to take even one French soldier prisoner.

The French lines remained intact and the French commanding general who watched the operations throughout from the front trenches was able to declare at the end of the day that not a single yard of territory had been lost.

Mow Down "Shock" Troops.

The Germans came forward everywhere in the closest formation and in successive waves, preceded by the famous "shock" troops, who were mown down by the French fire. At the first onslaught in the vicinity of Cerny and on the California plateau the French were obliged to give way, but their yielding was only momentary and a counter attack remedied the slight dent immediately and in addition gave them possession of some German trenches in the vicinity of Cerny, which they held.

The German infantry appeared to have all the dash taken out of them by the French defense and made no attempt to regain the ground lost by the French reaction.

Captive Results in War.

LONDON, July 5.—Since the beginning of the war the British have captured 117,776 prisoners, exclusive of natives taken prisoner in the African campaigns, many of whom have been released, said Maj. Gen. F. B. Maurice, director of military operations, at the war office today. The British have lost to the enemy 51,068 men, including Indian and native troops. These figures take in all theaters of war.

The British have captured 739 guns during the war and lost 183. Of the guns lost 87 were recaptured, and of the 96 remaining in enemy hands 84 were lost by the British on the west front early in the war.

"The British have not lost a single gun on the west front since April, 1915," the general said.

Discussing the Russian offensive Gen. Maurice said:

"It is impossible to overestimate the moral effect which the resumption of the Russian offensive will have. The Germans have been crowing that the Russians were out of the war and spread this among the German people. Now comes a great offensive which is not yet over and it is bound to have a far reaching result morally, to say nothing of the material advantages accruing."

Gen. Maurice's attention was called to a newspaper statement that the Germans were withdrawing large numbers of troops from the west in order to stem the Russian assault. He asserted there had been no such withdrawal, although it was impossible to prophesy what might happen.

Lens Slowly Crumbles.

The general referred to the fact that to the outside world it might appear that the British were making slow progress in their attack on Lens, and he explained the situation thus:

"Lens is an intricate mass of mines and buildings which make it a difficult business to carry out a direct infantry attack. For this reason Field Marshal Haig has been taking advantage of the British superiority in artillery to prepare the way for the infantry. But we are now beginning to make the town a most uncomfortable place for the Germans and I think we shall have them out soon."

Alluding to the recent German attacks on the French at Verdun and on the Chemin-des-Dames, Gen. Maurice declared the Germans made these in an attempt to raise the morale of their troops.

Captives Bagged by Allies.

PARIS, July 5.—From April 15 to June 30 the Franco-British troops on the western front captured 63,222 prisoners, including 1,278 officers, says an official summary of the operations issued today. The war material taken in the same period included 509 guns, 503 trench mortars, and 1,818 machine guns.

THE WAR A YEAR AGO

Lloyd George appointed secretary for war for Great Britain.

Russians cut railroad line from Hungary to Lemberg, capital of Galicia.

French captured German second line south of the Somme.

TWO YEARS AGO.

ANOTHER U-BOAT SENT TO BOTTOM BY BRITISH SHOT

Stern Gun Shell Strikes Submarine, Is Belief of the Officers.

An Atlantic Port, July 5.—Confidence that their gunners had added another victim to the list of German submarines sunk was expressed by the officers of a British liner which reached this port today. Attacked on the morning of July 30 by the U-boat, which suddenly appeared about 800 yards off the liner's course was promptly changed. Almost at the same instant the stern gun was fired and a shell sped toward the submarine. A column of black smoke spurted into the air and the U-boat sunk under the waves, leaving the observers to believe a hit had been scored.

Tells Story of Murder.

Baltimore, Md., July 5.—[Special.]—W. H. Brown, an American seaman aboard a British tramp ship now at a southern port, has declared that he saw the murder of Capt. Brown of the Italian steamship Palermo by a German submarine commander.

"We were steaming through the Mediterranean with a full general cargo for Said, Italy, and our vessel was unarmed," he said. "The submarine halted us and signaled to take to the lifeboats. We did and the ship was torpedoed and sank in a few minutes.

"Then the underwater boat came alongside of our lifeboats. The commander was on the deck and he shouted, 'Where is the captain of that ship?' Capt. Brown stood up and made his way closer to the side where the German was standing.

"The German pulled his revolver. 'You'll never bring another ship across this ocean,' he said, and fired. Capt. Brown fell dead, with nearly half his head blown away, and we were permitted to continue. We made our way into a port in Spain."

Italians Lose One Steamer.

PARIS, July 4.—[Delayed.]—The Italian government announces that only one Italian merchant steamer, eight small sailing vessels, and four fishing barks were sunk by submarines during the week ended at midnight July 1, according to a Havas dispatch from Rome.

A Book for Your Summer Holiday

Confessions Of a War Correspondent

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD

A "war book" that is not of the ordinary sort. It deals with the lighter side of the great contest,—the individual heroes, the personal dangers—not with battles, strategy or war aims. There are anecdotes of men who endured, of spies, of a man who turned his back on his intention of becoming a deserter and who became a hero instead. This is the sort of book which Mr. Shepherd has written and which you will want to read.

WHISKY TO LOSE, BEER AND WINES WIN, FOREGAST

Senate to Vote on Issues Which Affect Prohibition Today or Tomorrow.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The senate has agreed to vote on the prohibition features of the food control bill tomorrow or Saturday, and indications are tonight that prohibition of the use of foodstuffs in the manufacture of distilled liquors will carry overwhelmingly. Prohibition of the manufacture of beer and wines is conceded to have been lost, in accordance with President Wilson's desire.

"Unanimous consent for a vote on the bill was granted today, the agreement providing that the prohibition section shall be taken up at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and that thereafter no senator shall speak more than once or more than ten minutes on the section or more than once or longer than five minutes to any amendment offered, discussion to continue until a vote is taken.

Vote on Issue Final.

The agreement does not preclude a recess tomorrow night until Saturday, but it is possible that a vote may be reached before the Friday adjournment. Another stipulation in the agreement is that the vote to be taken on the issue shall be final and that it cannot be reopened for further action while the food bill is before the senate.

It is well understood that the opponents of prohibiting the manufacture of beer and wine, as proposed in the house bill, believed they had sufficient votes to kill that prohibition, or they would not have entered into the agreement. A careful canvass of the senate has been made, and it is asserted that not more than thirty senators will vote "bone dry" on the beer and wine proposition.

Vote on Bill Next Week.

Coupled with the unanimous consent agreement is the understanding that as soon as the prohibition section has been disposed of Senator Chamberlain will seek another unanimous consent agreement for a final vote on the entire bill on Wednesday or Thursday of next week. It is believed that such an agreement can be had.

SPEECHFEST TO MARK END OF COUNCIL SEASON

The city council will adjourn for the summer this afternoon. The final prevacation session will be a busy one, as the resolution censuring Mayor Thompson, an ordinance allowing the automatic telephone system to junk its property, and a measure permitting retail stores to use subbasements for the sale of goods are before the aldermen. They will afford orators the last chance to orate before resumption of business in the fall and naturally many speeches are expected.

It's a toss up this afternoon what the council will do about the censure resolution. Mark Twain said: "If angry, count four; if very angry, swear," and the council figuratively swore the afternoon the mayor left the chamber in a huff. So it's entirely possible this afternoon that "Big Bill" will adjourn the meeting with the knowledge of another "wonderful victory."

Ald. Thomas J. Lynch, chairman of the gas, oil, and electric light committee, has reconsidered postponement until fall of the ordinance allowing the automatic telephone system to sell its equipment upon payment of $200,000 compensation to the city. He will call the measure up today for passage. A half dozen amendments, however, in the course of preparation will be presented to bolster up, in behalf of the city, certain points in the ordinance at which criticism has been directed.

A fight on the measure, though, is inevitable.

Mayor Thompson was not at his office yesterday and as yet he has signed neither the new gas rate ordinance nor the Calumet harbor measures. It is believed, however, that both subjects will be returned to the council today with his official approval.

One Drowned, One Near Death as Canoes Upset

Harold Woefel of 2140 South St. Louis avenue, Chicago, was drowned in the Black river in Michigan Wednesday morning. Sam Laport, 235 Alexander street, had a narrow escape from the same fate. Frank E. Mills and Amil Doudera, also of Chicago, saved themselves by climbing out on the pier.

The young men, with six others, rented canoes and started for the lake. The boats bumped, overturning one. The occupants grabbed the other canoe, overturning it. Burtman Theron Kennada immediately threw a life buoy and Capt. Johnson and crew rescued Laport. After dragging the river the body of Woefel was found. Both he and Laport were employed by the Western Electric company.

Asks $25,000 in Lieu of Husband's Affections

The old question of the value of a husband's affections arose again yesterday when Mrs. Blanch Thorp filed suit in the Circuit court for $25,000 damages against Mrs. Margaret Thorp, who is alleged to be wealthy and who lives at 1426 Howard avenue. According to the attorney who filed the suit, Mrs. Blanch Thorp's husband, Taber, recently deserted his wife. The attorney states that Mrs. Margaret Thorp is Taber's mother, and alleges that it was her influence that caused the young man to leave his wife. He is now supposed to be in Canada.

Several dozen persons congregated at Huron and Wells streets last night saw a young man shoot and fatally wound Antony Filatrofia, of 532 Wells street. The victim died in the Passavant hospital. His slayer was pursued by two soldiers who were dining in a nearby restaurant, but he disappeared. The cause of the shooting could not be learned.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Charges that the lumber mills are seeking and obtaining from the government extortionate prices for pine and fir lumber and are acting in concert are contained in a letter sent to Senator Sherman of Illinois by E. W. Curtis, general manager of the Illinois Silo company of Bloomington, Ill. A similar letter has been sent to the federal trade commission.

The lumber mills, he charges, are taking advantage of the government's need for lumber to boost the prices, although the demand for lumber does not warrant any such prices.

Jump of Nearly 100 Per Cent.

"Until the government came into the market," said the letter, "we have been buying yellow pine for $18.75 per thousand feet board measure f. o. b. cars the mill. We are advised the government has placed its order for yellow pine and the basis is $35 f. o. b. cars, the mill. Immediately the yellow pine manufacturers have begun to ask us an equivalent price for lumber."

Mr. Curtis said that normally he has paid $15 for fir lumber lengths varying from 8 feet to 22 feet, and $.0 for lengths varying from 24 feet to 40 feet. "Present quotations from the mills since the government went into the market," he said, "are $30 to $32 for the shorter lengths and $35 to $38 for the longer."

Says Coal Operators Make Billions.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio attacked the coal dealers in the senate today, declaring their profits in the last six months were at the rate of more than a billion dollars a year. Referring to the testimony of an operator who thought coal operators should have a profit of $1 a ton during the war, Senator Pomerene said this would cost Cleveland at least $6,000,000 a year and the country at large $600,000,000 a year.

"Is the congress going to submit to this situation?" he asked. "I daresay that during the last six months profits that have been paid to coal operators and coal dealers of twice $1 a ton. If that be true, then the profits of the coal barons at the rate of $2 a ton a year would amount to $1,200,000,000. And yet one of the excuses these operators give for high prices is, 'We have played in hard luck for several years.'

"I say it without any mental reservation at all—the principal reason for the increase of these prices is the greed of the people who are selling the coal."

Thought Wife Being Sent to an Asylum Freed Him

Martin Brydges, 42 years old, 1101 George street, was arrested last night on a charge of bigamy. The police claim he married Miss Mary Watson in Grand Rapids on March 1, 1897, and that a son, now 15 years old, was born. Two years after the child was born she was committed to an asylum, where she has been ever since, it is said.

It is charged that on April 22, 1915, without getting a divorce, Brydges married Miss Lidia Baggott, also in Grand Rapids.

"I supposed that after a man's wife had been insane for seven years he was legally divorced from her," Brydges told the police last night, they say.

TALES TOLD OF CONVICT FORM REAL MYSTERY

Ex-Jockey, Said to Be Rich, Is Dead, His Sister Says.

From New York last night came a strange story which developed into "The Mystery of Martin Sweeney, Erstwhile Jockey."

Thirty-five years ago Sweeney used to ride 'em to hot and successful finishes. He became known all over the country. He once rode in the Lorillard stables, and competed with Tod Sloan. Then he suddenly dropped from sight and was forgotten.

On April 12 of this year Policeman William McCormick of the East Chicago avenue station, his brother-in-law, said attorneys in London had asked that a search for Sweeney be started—that Sweeney's mother, Mrs. Bridget Sweeney, had died leaving an estate of $250,000, and that her son was a beneficiary.

The Story from New York.

This is the story that came over the wire from New York last night:

"Seventeen of the thirty-five years which have elapsed since Martin Sweeney was a famous jockey have been spent in Sing Sing prison. During most of that time his sister, Mrs. William McCormick of Chicago, was conducting a country-wide search for him.

"About a month ago the ennui of Sweeney's sojourn at Sing Sing was broken when he picked up a Chicago paper and read an ad inserted by Mrs. McCormick notifying him that his mother was dead and had left him a legacy of $75,000.

"So Sweeney wrote his sister, and a few days ago she made the trip to Sing Sing and there was a joyful reunion.

"'Mother isn't dead,' said Mrs. McCormick. 'She's alive and well and happy because we've found you. And, Martin, there isn't any $75,000. It was just a little way I figured out of getting you to answer. But, Martin, there'll be a home waiting for you when you can come.'"

And Here's the Mystery.

Mrs. McCormick was reached by telephone at her home, and the story was read to her. "It isn't true," she said. "My brother never was in Sing Sing. Shortly after we started to hunt for him we got a message from Galesburg saying he had died there."

And that's where the mystery comes in.

COAL MEN FREED IN FEDERAL COURT

New York, July 5.—Indictments were dismissed today by Federal Judge Grubb in the case of William Leckie of Welch, W. Va., and Robert G. Patterson of Dayton, O., on trial with a number of other semi-bituminous coal operators on a charge of restraining trade and fixing prices. The indictment also was dismissed in the case of the S. J. Patterson-Pocahontas company and the Weyanoke Coal and Coke company, in which Patterson is interested.

Judge Grubb, in dismissing the indictments, said he believed the government should do more than show that sales agents of the defendants and their companies committed certain acts.

PUBLIC STOPS BUYING COAL TILL REDUCTION

Retail Dealers Appeal to Defense Council for Help.

The state council of defense took up the coal situation yesterday at the request of a committee of retail coal dealers. Chairman Samuel Insull met the committee appointed by a massmeeting of about 150 retail coal dealers, who, they said, represented 90 per cent of the retail coal distribution of the city.

The council has drawn up a list of recommendations and rules with regard to coal and its use and will present these recommendations to the public utilities commission and the interstate commerce commission to get them adopted as a set of rules.

Stops All Deliveries.

"The members of the committee told me that the first effect of the press dispatches from Washington foretelling the reduction of the price of coal had been to stop absolutely the delivery of coal to domestic and flat owner consumers in the city," said Mr. Insull following the conference. "They said that their teams are in the barns and that there is no retail coal business, and that their patrons are waiting for the expected reduction in prices.

"They said that the public misapprehended the meaning of the dispatches, thinking that the prices quoted meant retail prices, whereas in reality they were wholesale prices to jobbers. Naturally the public must bear the price of distribution, which the members of the committee said is $1.25 a ton. The teaming cost alone is 65 cents a ton.

"If this condition is not remedied it will necessarily result in a shortage later in the season. If the policy of not buying coal at all is pursued it will be to lay up trouble for the nation when winter comes.

Question of Demand.

"Coal production is largely a question of demand at the mines. If there is no demand production will naturally fall off, for, while the mines can store certain amounts, they cannot be expected to mine and store enough to prevent a shortage later. The only way to meet the certain demand later on is for the mines to run as strong in July as they do in December and the way to assure that is for the public to buy and store coal now for the winter."

New Receiver Asked for United Coal Sales Co.

Charging that the creditors' committee which took charge of the affairs of the United Coal Sales company is favoring certain creditors, the Illinois Valley Coal company filed a petition in the Circuit court yesterday asking for the appointment of a new receiver and asking that the present committee be enjoined from disposing further of the assets of the company. The Illinois Valley Coal company claims that the United owed it $2,545.22.

URGES PACKERS SPEED UP WAR DISTRIBUTION

Rosenwald Suggests Faster Schedules at Once.

Readjustment of specifications under which the Chicago packers have been furnishing foodstuffs to the government in peace times was urged yesterday on a large number of the packing house representatives by Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the committee on supplies of the council of defense.

The conference was held at the Union League club, and will be resumed in Washington next week.

Urges Speed.

Mr. Rosenwald did not go into the price question so much as to suggest new rules for the mobilizing of foodstuffs. Speed was the burden of his plea. To equip a great army at the earliest moment, he said, was one of the vital aspects of the war, and he suggested that the packers rearrange their distribution schedules in such a way as to be in a position to render prompt service.

The question of readjustment of prices will be considered at the Washington conference.

Not So Easy.

When the packers had but a small regular army to feed at regular camps it was an easy matter to refrigerate the supply for some days. But with the prospects of more than a million boys soon in the cantonment camps, refrigeration facilities will not be so easily applied at the start at least and to meet this emergency it was suggested that the speeding up of distribution would be necessary so that the boys could have fresh meats, as well as the canned stuff.

Mr. Rosenwald, at the close of the conference, said the food supply men evinced a "loyal spirit" and it was gathered from his brief remarks that he and his confreres do not anticipate serious differences when they start drawing up the new specifications at the national capital.

Repeats Statement.

Mr. Rosenwald also reiterated his statement made to THE TRIBUNE earlier in the week that congress will be taking a backward step if it enacts the rider to the food bill by which the advisory council of business men is legislated out of business.

WIFE CITES FIVE SUICIDE EFFORTS AS DIVORCE BASIS

Mrs. Olive Gertrude Howard Basil, through her attorney, Lester L. Bruer, filed suit for a divorce in the Superior court yesterday against Frank Francis Basil, manager of the dental department of Frank A. Betz & Co., 30 East Randolph street. Mrs. Basil charges her husband with extreme cruelty and alleges that on five occasions he attempted to commit suicide.

Lysol, scissors, gas, and smothering are some of the methods by which Basil is alleged to have tried to kill himself. It is also charged that he often told his wife she would "wake up some morning dead." On April 25 she filed suit for a divorce in the Circuit court, but Basil, the bill alleges, pleaded and was forgiven.

Mr. Basil seemed extremely amused when he was told of the action. He said that everything was agreeable to him.

GO TO THE BOTTOM.

As the story of the rioting in East St. Louis develops we find a condition which would discredit an invading army of barbarians. We have been shocked at Turkish atrocities, Bulgarian atrocities, Russian pogroms, German atrocities in Belgium and France. Well, here we have American atrocities without shadow of excuse, an American pogrom.

The worst of it is that it appears not to be a sudden convulsion of the those dark forces which still exist in the subconscious life of peoples. The riot was the culmination, the natural result of conditions deliberately created or permitted to exist for a considerable time. Vicious politics, corruption of the ballot, vice graft, weak police control, insolence, and law defiance, by blacks and whites, suspicion, hatred, and fear on both sides finally exploded in the disgraceful outbreak of the last few days.

The riot was a direct and inevitable result of unscrupulous political manipulation. It was made possible by a low order of political and social intelligence in the community. The decent people of East St. Louis were betrayed by the elements of political and business exploitation.

The insolence and violence encouraged in a low class of Negroes by politicians who used them for their own purposes has now been repaid many fold by the cruelty and violence of low class whites. The murder of harmless old men, the beating of innocent women and girls, the burning of houses and goods make a record which covers East St. Louis with dishonor and Illinois with shame.

The governor's determination to probe this event to its sources and to punish whatever responsible individuals can be found will have the earnest support of the public. The local officials, politicians, and agitators responsible for the growth of the conditions which came to their climax in this riot should be exposed and, if possible, punished severely. The very ineffective handling of police and militia should be examined and incompetent officials or officers should be unhesitatingly removed. The state will not stand for a whitewash.

DEMOCRACY FOR THE FATHERLAND.

There is talk again of "democratising" Germany. Delbrueck is for it. Harnack is for it. Quite a clique of Teuton notables join them in demanding a general, direct, secret ballot. Verwaerts calls their pronunciamento a "historic document." The Tageblatt calls it a "welcome sign of public sentiment."

But what democracy is there in letting Germans vote freely for members of the German reichstag while the reichstag has no power to control the nation's destinies? Instead of merely "democratising" a futile ballot that will remain as futile after "democratization," let them democratize the German government throughout. Nothing less is worth considering. As long as a German senate appointed by German dukes, grand dukes, and kings can, with the emperor's consent, dismiss the lower house the lower house will be only a debating society, and a timid debating society at that. Until Germany has a cabinet responsible to the parliament, instead of a chancellor responsible to the kaiser alone, there will be no effective democratization of Germany.

It will not do to say that all this is none of our business. As inhabitants of the earth's surface we have a right to demand a German government with which we can make peace and with which we can maintain peace. If the German emperor, his imperially appointed ministers, and the German military caste are to retain the prerogative of declaring war without so much as consulting the German people, then we shall be at the mercy of an armed despotism, aggressive, dangerous, and devoid of conscience. The outlook is insufferable. It is not improved by sham projects for "democratization." Let the Germans propose the real thing, back up the proposal in earnest, and prepare to see it through, and democracies the world over will applaud them. Then and then only can the war near its end, save by a crushing defeat of Germany and its governmental reconstruction at the hands of its conquerors.

RUSSIA MOVES FORWARD.

The resumption of operations by the Russian army is not only joyful news for us, since we believe it will bring peace much nearer, but it must also be cause of rejoicing to every intelligent friend of Russian freedom. It means, we hope, not only the return of Russia to the great task the liberal nations of Europe and America are engaged in, but also the victory in Russia of intelligence over fanaticism, of practical policy over suicidal utopianism. It means, we hope, that the revolution is not to be undone by anarchy, that the Russian people have grasped the responsibilities of ordered government, have escaped from the fog of vague internationalism, and have got their feet upon the firm ground of national progress.

If this is so, the Russian revolution will pass into history as the most remarkable chapter in the development of nations. Already the revolution is little short of miraculous, not so much in the swiftness and apparently drastic thoroughness of its results as in the refusal of its leaders and of the people to shed blood. No other revolution, no other such tremendous act of liberation or transformation, has been so free from cruelty and violence. This fact represents a long step forward in civilization. The genius of the Russian people has never displayed itself in so lofty an aspect as in this. All peoples must be inspired by such an example of noble temperance and understanding, which shines the brighter against the darkness of the world war.

But the innocence of the Russian heart did not offer protection for its dream of peaceful freedom. The danger was that impractical radicalism, a utopian disregard of the conditions which support liberty, an optimism born of an easy overthrow of tyranny, would bring anarchy and ruin. Russian idealism cannot transform the world overnight. The Russian democracy must learn the lessons of other democracies, must establish its own type of authority, must preserve the processes of orderly activity, and submit to its own republican discipline.

For Russia's sake as well as for our own and the cause to which we are pledged we may hope Russian victories in battle will precipitate in Russia a practical conception of nationality from the clouds of untimely pacifism and utopian internationalism. An army thrives on victory, and the Russian people, at work again, may learn a new respect for a new authority—their own collective authority, which alone can save them from the anarchy which is tyranny's opportunity.

TAXING WAR PROFITS.

The new senate war revenue bill is conceded to be less unscientific than the bill passed by the house. For one thing, it does not place so heavy a load on the financial machinery of the country, the total tax being $1,670,000,000, as compared with $1,800,000,000 which the house proposed to raise. The senate bill also eliminates the highly objectionable retroactive features of the house measure and, we believe, scales down the very high surtaxes on incomes.

But there is one provision in the new bill that seems unfair and ill advised. We refer to the proposal to use the average corporation income during the years 1911, 1912, and 1913 as the standard of comparison in collecting excess profit taxes.

There are many good arguments for taxing war profits. Some industries suffer by reason of war and some are stimulated by it, and the latter are, of course, better able to bear the burden. Excess profit taxes are also of value in checking too great inflation.

But in applying such taxes there is always the danger of needlessly depressing industry. We cannot afford to take chances on financial depression during war time. The majority of business men of the country are prepared to meet a heavy schedule of taxes, and they cannot be accused of selfishness or lack of patriotism if they ask for an equitable and scientific distribution of the burden.

Men of large affairs are convinced it is unwise to impose the excess profits tax on the proposed basis. They point out that 1911, 1912, and 1913 constituted a period of business depression; the steel corporation, for instance, did not pay dividends. It is assumed the senate finance committee adopted that period for comparison because the British did so, but the conditions in Great Britain were not analogous to those in the United States. There is far more stability, a more level rate of profit, in the world-wide business of England.

There is the further consideration that many of our important industries have expanded enormously during the two years prior to our entry into the war. Statistics prepared by the Review of Reviews show that the net income of twenty-nine steel and machinery companies was $121,605,049 in 1912, while it had increased to $596,326,644 last year.

It seems obvious it would deal a pretty stiff blow to these companies if the income for 1913 was taken as "normal" with a view to imposing a surtax on everything in excess of that amount. On this basis the "excess profits" would be nearly four times as great as the profits on which the normal tax would be collected.

We do not presume to know what average should be taken to establish a standard of comparison. The five year period prior to our entry into the war has been suggested, and we think this is more equitable than the senate proposal.

We think the delay in framing a war revenue program has caused a good deal of irritation and unrest throughout the country, but we believe the senate should take time enough to work out a thoroughly scientific measure before passing it.

BUT NOT COTTON.

Cotton, we had supposed, is one of the prime necessities, especially in war time. We find, however, that southern senators, while ready to pass food control to check the greedy producer of food materials and the evil middleman of the north, are sternly opposed to any government control over cotton.

Northern capital is going to pay for the war. Northern enterprise is going to carry it on. The north is going to do most of the fighting, and it may not be altogether unfitting to remark that southern representatives might show their appreciation of these facts more emphatically than they have up to this time.

WHERE GERMANS MET GERMANS.

Our "conscientious objectors" protest that Germans cannot bring themselves to fight Germans. But what saith history? Germans fought Germans in Napoleon's time, and whenever Prussia felt the need of expansion and when Bismarck saw advantage in attacking Austria. Germans fighting Germans made possible the German empire. Today its constitution empowers the emperor to make Germans fight Germans if any part of Germany defies his divinely bestowed authority.

Have our "conscientious objectors" forgotten 1866, when the Germans of the North German federation fought the Germans of the South German federation, brother against brother and father against son, and all for the sake of a strip of Denmark which they had agreed "honestly" to divide?

It was all right then because "we Germans" cut one another's throats. Why, then, should "we Germans," born, educated, prospering, free, and privileged in America, be unable under any circumstances to help America and its allies to victory for democracy to which Germans of the future will look back and bless?

Editorial of the Day

A WORD OF REMORSE.

[From the New York Sun.]

Mr. John Temple Graves now informs us, through Mr. Hearst's New York American, that "the famous and really beloved James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was predestined from the foundation of the world for public life. He has met his destiny," continues Mr. Graves, "open handed and serious minded, and has risen to it triumphantly."

We had no idea that the Hon. James Hamilton Lewis' call to public life went back so far as that. When the Sun lent a friendly hand to the boosting of him to fame, about twenty years ago, it was without any suspicion that he was the predestined political product of a secular process of evolution running from the beginning of the world. On the contrary, we thought we were in early.

What first attracted us to James Hamilton Lewis was his beautiful bright hair.

And to think that in the crude intimacy of those days of long ago we were accustomed to call him Jim Ham—to speak even thus of a statesman predestined from the foundation of the world!

Whether I ask for caries or roes,
Whether it's brooms or tin pans I'm getting,
Whether I'm rushing to sales, or letting
Other folks catch all the bargains early,
This is the fact that I find upsetting:
All of the salesladies call me "Girlie."

Into the faraway long ages
Days of my girlhood have flown, past fretting.
Gone are the raptures of balls and beaux,
Ribbons and folderols and coquetting
Fled to the limbo of far forgetting,
Along with blushes and ringlets curly,
Yet I feel skittish and pirouetting:
All of the saleladies call me "Girlie."

Mirrors discourage me, goodness knows,
Hint of the sere, and of sunlight setting;
Twinges rheumatic oft cause me woes,
White threads gleam in my coiffure's jetting.
Yet when discouragement's tears are wetting
My cheek, and my temper feels grim and surly,
I soon cheer up and I cease from fretting:
All of the saleladies call me "Girlie."

Dear Prince Charming, I can't help betting
On fortune's chances, so strange and whirly,
I'm not yet past the age for petting;
All of the saleladies call me "Girlie."

CONCERNING his reference to "Demosthenes' lantern," the distinguished culprit, Rupert Hughes, writes us that of course he meant Isocrates' lantern. The slip was pardonable, he urges, as he read proof on the line only seven times—in manuscript, in typescript, in proof for the magazine, in the copy for the book, in galley, in page-proof, and finally in the printed book. I saw a lady on the stair,
And she was, oh, so strangely fair,
With a knot of butter-colored hair,
And a waiting, listening, wondering air.
She was tall as a lady ought to be,
And down she looked and smiled at me.
Her eyes were queerly, brightly blue
As the bit of sky that last shines through
The gathering clouds' oppressive gray
On a chilly windy Autumn day.
There she paused on the stairs and smiled
Like a child who sees another child
With whom it would dearly like to play
If it only could get its nurse away.
And I know not what divine surmise
Leapt up like fire in my eyes,
But I know her smiling suddenly stopped,
And a curtain between us blankly dropped,
As she passed me by as if I were Something invisible to her.

HIGH COST OF MALARIA.

WHILE we are planning to save waste as a war measure why would it not be worth while to plan to save the waste caused by malaria? Of course, it is important that we should not waste wheat, corn, and meat, but is it not more important that we should not waste human energy?

It is impossible to learn just how much energy is wasted through the prevalence of malaria, but the probability is that the food supply and cotton supply would be very materially increased were there no malaria.

Dr. Derivaux told the Southern Medical association that an inquiry made in the southern states indicated that there were about three-quarters of a million cases of malaria, principally among the laboring population in those states; 2.5 of the population had active attacks of malaria.

Examination of the blood of many thousand people in seven southern states showed that over 7 per cent of the whites and nearly 21 per cent of the blacks, or nearly 13 per cent of the entire population, were infected with malaria. Put all these people in healthy, vigorous condition and they could grow enough food to feed France. The question becomes more important when we know that the waste is unnecessary.

At Electric Mills, Miss., in September, 1912, 95 per cent of all illness was due to malaria. Anti-mosquito measures cut the rate from 95 to 4. The manager of the mills states that since the mosquito work was inaugurated school attendance has greatly improved and that health and labor conditions are excellent.

At Roanoke Rapids from 1910 to 1913 malaria affected 75 per cent of the population at some time or other. In September, 1913, the calls for malaria averaged fifty a day and at times from three to seven persons were sick in a family at one time. Screening, the use of bars, draining, and the use of quinine were inaugurated. The amount of malaria decreased practically 75 per cent.

At Crossit, Ark., a very small amount of ditching and oiling, what might be termed minor drainage, sufficed to decrease the malaria 75 per cent. The number of physicians' calls on account of malaria in September, 1918, rose to 400. The highest number in 1916 was 105 in May. The September rate was 55.

Under the old regime the malaria rate in the cotton picking season was so high that some of the crop was lost and some of it was weather stained before it was gathered. Under present conditions the malaria rate begins to drop during August and continuously declines during the autumn months.

About equally good results have been had at Emporia, Va.; Rentrop, Ga., and Crystal City, Mo. Enough has been done to prove, first, that the waste due to malaria runs into the millions of dollars, and, second, that the inefficiency due to malaria can be almost wholly prevented at comparatively small expense. A little money spent in minor drainage goes a long way toward producing the desired result. Screening is cheap—out of all proportion to what it saves. Complete cure of all cases is not difficult if quinine is properly used.

HEART MURMUR.

Reader writes: "I am 26 years of age, am 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weigh 161 pounds. I have heart murmur. Will you please advise me as to the danger therein and how I can minimize such danger."

REPLY.

I assume that you have no symptom of heart disease except heart murmur. What you wish to do is to build up your muscles so that your heart muscle will be able to do the extra work that the leak or murmur entails. The first essential is that you exercise appropriately to your case. You must keep your muscles hard. Perhaps you will do this with work. Perhaps you will play golf or some other game.

It is not advisable to exert to the full extent of your heart capacity. You must not go to the point of rapid pulse palpitation or faintness. You will do much better if you report to your physician at least once a year.

LET IT GO AT THAT.

Mrs. C. L. H. writes: "My baby girl is seven months old. She seems to be a very healthy baby, gaining just about the requisite amount each month. She weighed six pounds at birth and now weighs thirteen pounds five ounces. She sleeps all night, from 7 until 5:30 to 6, but is awake most of the day, sleeping an hour after her midday feeding. She is breast fed.

"What can we do to make her sleep more during the day? She is out of doors a great deal. She is a very good baby, even when she does not sleep. She is happy and seems contented. But we feel that a baby her age should have more sleep.

"Can it be that she is hungry? Should a baby seven months old have more food than the breast?"

REPLY.

Your baby is doing well enough. Do not worry about her. Put her to bed in a quiet room. If she does not sleep let it go at that. She is getting enough food.

NOT MORE HARMFUL.

J. writes: "1. Why is it any more harmful to take cream in your coffee than to take it at the same meal on cereal?

"2. Is it advisable to take lemon juice in tea and coffee at meals?"

REPLY.

1. It is not.
2. Do as you like.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1917: By the Brentwood Co.]

EMPEROR WILLIAM has just lost a fortune of over 2,000,000 marks through a decision rendered by the Supreme court of the empire at Leipsic in final appeal, the tribunal in question thus affirming the verdict of the various Saxon courts.

In the summer of 1913 Hermann Knorr, the leading citizen of Plauen, in Saxony, died, bequeathing the bulk of his fortune, a legacy of over 2,000,000 marks, to the reigning German emperor and restricting his own widow to the small amount of her dowry and a pittance of $300 a year. The testator intimated in his will that he was prompted by admiration for the kaiser and by a sense of patriotism.

Instead of seeking to repair the wrong done to the widow by means of a compromise, William accepted the bequest in its entirety and so great was the indignation at Plauen and, indeed, throughout Saxony that the widow was speedily provided with the funds necessary to institute legal proceedings against the kaiser for the recovery of the entire property. They have now come to an end in the form of a judgment calling for the surrender by the emperor of the entire property to the widow and mulcting him, moreover, in the terribly heavy legal costs. The verdict has been received with general tokens of approval throughout Germany, even in Prussia.

Bequests to the head of the state are quite frequent in Europe and are prompted usually by a craze for notoriety on the part of the testator, by attachment to the reigning house, so exaggerated as to warp the sense of right and wrong, and finally also by spite against relatives. Most monarchs refuse to avail themselves of bequests of this nature. But amongst the legacies which Emperor William has taken have been his estate and potteries of Kadinen, a beautiful villa surrounded by large grounds in southern Austria, not far from the shores of the Adriatic, a palace at Rome, and the magnificent collection of paintings formed by the late Count Adolph Schack of Munich.

King Alfonso showed himself more chivalrous when he refused to accept the bequest, amounting to some 4,000,000 francs, devised to him in the will of Albert Sapene, mayor of Montauban de Luchon, in the south of France, a town which the young monarch had occasionally visited, flying fashion, when motoring through the south of France. But he accepted the fortune of Don Alessandro Solar of Madrid, who died a bachelor and with no legal heirs and who according to official documents and records was a foundling, yet was welcomed as an equal in the most exclusive circles of the Spanish grandezas and patriciate on the understanding that he was in reality the offspring of the late Queen Christina of Spain by a secret ecclesiastical marriage with an English artist named Ward before she became the consort of King Ferdinand VII. and mother of Queen Isabella II. of Spain.

The bulk of Queen Victoria's large private fortune, which at her death was divided up among her children, the Duke of Connaught and Princess Beatrice being the largest beneficiaries, had its origin in the bequest of one of her subjects, of whose name she had never heard until she was notified of the contents of his will.

He was John Campden Neild, son of a jeweler who kept a shop in St. James' street, London, in the latter part of the eighteenth century and who had done a considerable amount of work for George III. The old jeweler was a philanthropist and emulated Howard in his attempts to ameliorate the lot of imprisoned criminals. He sent his only son, John, to Trinity college, Cambridge, and to the bar and left him about $1,200,000.

John was somewhat eccentric but clever in his investments. He lived the life of a recluse and in the most miserly fashion, and when he died in August, 1852, it was found that he had increased his fortune to $3,000,000 or more and that he had left it to "her most gracious majesty Queen Victoria."

The will was not contested, there being no relative or legal heirs, and the queen, after raising a handsome monument over the testator's tomb, wisely invested most of the money in the at that time unbuilt and uncultivated metropolitan land known as South Kensington, which was then nothing more than mere brickyards, meadows, and country lanes. Today it is one of the most fashionable quarters of the town, occupied by street after street of handsome houses and stately mansions, the value of the property having increased tenfold and probably a great deal more. In fact, it is growing by leaps and bounds all the time.

The sensation created by this bequest on the part of old John Neild, and the publicity which it received, were so great that it prompted other people to follow his example. A number of these bequests were accepted, and though none of them was as large as that of Neild, still some of them were quite considerable. Indeed, the acceptance of these legacies by the sovereign had resulted in exciting public criticism, as lacking in dignity, when the practice was brought to a virtual close and in the following way. A man had left a fortune to the queen. He had been a promoter, and the greater portion of his estate consisted of shares in two unlimited liability companies; that is to say, concerns in which each shareholder was liable for all the debts of the company in each case.

Old Lord Sydney, who was at that time the queen's principal adviser in her private financial matters, and who was a cautious, level headed man, had the good sense to induce her to refrain from intimating her acceptance of the legacy until he had made a careful investigation of the character of the testator and into the nature of his wealth. The reputation of the man led Lord Sydney to urge the queen, as the result of his inquiries, to decline the bequest.

It was lucky that she did so. For about a year later the two principal concerns in which the testator had been a shareholder—one of them, if I remember aright, the Glasgow bank—came to terrible grief, involving many thousands in ruin and misery. Had Queen Victoria accepted the legacy almost every penny of her then private fortune would have gone to pay the creditors, and that only in part.

It was a narrow escape, so narrow, indeed, that the matter was freely discussed in the daily press, and Punch portrayed popular sentiment correctly when it published a most amusing cartoon in which the queen was represented as the inmate of a poorhouse, in the familiar garb of the paupers of such institutions, with Gladstone bringing her a small package of tea and Disraeli (not yet then Lord Beaconsfield) handing to her his contribution, a small paper parcel on which was inscribed the word "snuff."

It was then that Queen Victoria decided to accept no more legacies from strangers, a practice which has been followed by her successors and pretty generally adopted abroad.

THE SHAME OF ILLINOIS

THE SHAME OF ILLINOIS.

[From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The events in East St. Louis Monday night were a disgrace to that city, a disgrace to Illinois, a disgrace to America, a disgrace to humanity. We can recall no event in the history of this country so utterly and unrelievably shameful. There have been mobs, many of them, there have been riots not a few, to stain our civilization, but never a one that carried to such an extent the unrestraining brutality of mobocracy, never a one that so tortured and killed and burned without discrimination of innocence or guilt, that spared neither sex nor age in its violence.

AUTHORITIES AT FAULT.

[From the Milwaukee Sentinel.]

The worst disgrace of this shocking business, aside from that of the inhumanity of the mob, which appears to have been possessed of the devil, is with the public authorities who failed to nip in the bud what was evidently coming; the most creditable thing about it is the conduct of the young militiamen who saved many innocent lives and prevented the wholesale destruction that threatened the city.

OUR NATIONAL DISGRACE.

[From the Minneapolis Journal.]

We have been very free of late in denouncing German atrocities. We hold massmeetings to denounce the deportation of Belgians, but the deportation of Belgians was almost merciful compared with the treatment black men have recently received at the hands of their white brothers in East St. Louis.

We denounce very freely the wrongs that Ireland has suffered at the hands of England, wrongs many of which are two hundreds years old. We wonder why England has not long since solved the Irish problem and are very ready to give England advice. At the same time it is the wonder of the world why we make so little progress in solving the negro problem.

THE EAST ST. LOUIS RIOTS.

[From the Cobleskill Northwestern.]

Such exhibitions are a shame to the community where they occur and a disgrace to the nation as a whole. Adequate excuse for them is entirely lacking, and we doubt that any one will attempt to defend or condone the acts of violence which are reported from the southern Illinois city, resulting in the killing and maiming of scores of persons and the destruction of considerable property by incendiary fires.

LAWLESSNESS AT EAST ST. LOUIS.

[From the Illinois State Journal.]

East St. Louis has paid dearly in reputation for its indifference to law-enforcement. It will now proceed to pay, as did Springfield, in cash. When it contemplates at once the added stain to its name and the enormous bill of riot damages it will probably decide that it has been following the wrong course. That was the Springfield decision under like conditions.

FRONTIER BARBARISM.

[From the New York Sun.]

What has been done in East St. Louis puts the blackest stain of outlawry and crime upon that community. No investor, no settler but will think twice before intrusting either his property or his person to a community which is still in the stage of frontier barbarism. The great state of Illinois will no doubt enforce the law in this turbulent community and inflict due punishment upon the ringleaders of the murderous mob. But it will be many years before either Illinois or its riotous city can expunge from the national mind the harmful impression made by this outbreak.

RACE RIOTS IN ILLINOIS.

[From the Philadelphia Inquirer.]

It was the irony of fate that on the very day when Maj. Moton, principal of Tuskegee institute, was publishing with great satisfaction a list of lynchings in the south showing a heavy decrease for the six months of the year there should have broken out a riot in Illinois where more innocent negroes were killed than in all of the southern lynchings this year to date. The East St. Louis riot is a disgrace to the nation, to Illinois, and to that liberty which the American people today are making such tremendous efforts to establish.

THE EAST ST. LOUIS HORROR.

[From the Cleveland Leader.]

It is for Illinois to remove as far as possible the blackest stain of this mob madness. Stern punishment of the guilty is the least that the state can insist upon. There should also be complete compensation for all of the victims of the mob in so far as that may be within the limits of human power. Nothing but can save Illinois from a disgrace which will not wear away in many years. As for East St. Louis, that city is probably beyond hope of regeneration. It will be shunned by those who value the good name of the community in which they live.

"BY THEIR FRUITS——"

[From the Milwaukee Free Press.]

The race riots of East St. Louis and the neighboring territory are but the culmination of the discrimination and persecution to which the Negro has been exposed during the last four years. For weeks, now, the situation in the Illinois city has waxed and waned in tension. The threat present in that community has long been known to the federal authorities. Yet no precautions worthy of the name were taken to prevent the holocaust and arson in which it inevitably culminated Monday night.

AN INDELIBLE DISGRACE.

[From the Philadelphia Ledger.]

It is impossible to write in terms of moderation of the shocking display of savagery and of racial hatred which has occurred at East St. Louis. At a moment when the nation is engaged in a great war to sustain the principles of democracy this exhibition of lack of self-control, of utter lawlessness, of incredible barbarity, is a disgrace that is fastened upon the entire country, even though a single community is responsible for it.

DISGRACE OF EAST ST. LOUIS.

[From the Kansas City Star.]

No explanation can absolve a community from the odium of wanton cruelty inflicted on innocent persons. East St. Louis has disgraced itself in the eyes of the nation, and it has disgraced the nation in the eyes of the world at a time when it is especially important that the United States stand securely for human rights at home as well as abroad.

MILITIA INCOMPETENT.

[From the St. Louis Republic.]

The good name of East St. Louis has been defiled and its government and police shewn to be inefficient. The state of Illinois, Lincoln's state, has received another dark blot and the whole nation is compelled to hang its head in shame.

Nothing less than a sweeping investigation by the government of the United States of the entire affair. From the time the first Negroes were imported to East St. Louis and through the various outbreaks up to and including the developments of Sunday and Monday nights, will satisfy the public.

Fix the responsibility and punish it, remove every official guilty of negligence or incompetence in connection with it.

LAWLESSNESS IN EAST ST. LOUIS.

[From the New York World.]

Last November United States Judge Landis, holding court there, summoned the mayor, the police commissioners, and the chief of police before him and by sharp questioning made them admit that it was not customary in East St. Louis to enforce the laws. A city so governed and policed would not have been subjected to such violence. A city in which it is not customary to enforce the laws is precisely the place where murder, riot, arson, and pillage will cause no great surprise.

THE BLACKEST BELT.

[From the New York Herald.]

According to Mr. Rodenberg's explanation, the orgy of murder that has brought disgrace to the city of his residence and, incidentally, to the country had its inspiration in insistence by labor leaders upon unions being recognised by manufacturers who object to conduct their business on the "open shop" principle. If all that is said to have happened did happen, then surely is the Illinois Black Belt well named.

STATE IS RESPONSIBLE.

[From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

It is hardly worth while to question the authorities of East St. Louis. They have failed utterly in their duty, for well-known causes. Lawlessness made while the discrimination in law enforcement has been the foundation of political power in East St. Louis for years.

The state of Illinois, however, is responsible for consequences of Monday's outbreak. It assumed responsibility when Illinois guardsmen were sent to East St. Louis to maintain law and order. The state should inquire into the conduct of the officers in charge of the state's forces and hold every man guilty of failure to do his duty to strict accountability.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

ILLINOIS' SHAME.

Wadley, Ga., July 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—[Special Telegram.]—What have you to say regarding treatment Negroes in Illinois? Don't kill them. Send them back to pick our cotton.

CITIZENS OF WADLEY.

GET SOME DEMOCRACY OURSELVES.

Chicago, July 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If the authorities had taken the proper precautions after the first East St. Louis riot the second would never have happened. Instead the state appointed a committee to investigate and the public knows that investigations of that sort never lead to anything. They say it was labor trouble growing out of the importation of Negro laborers from the south. Even so, can a man be blamed for trying to better his conditions elsewhere in a free country? Unscrupulous politicians in Chicago import men for the sole purpose of voting, to say nothing of importing them to make an honest living. When men are supported by large mining corporations during labor troubles or by farmers when they are short of harvest hands do we read of any state appointing an emergency council or committee to investigate or stop it? At this time of stress when we are asked to and are spending liberty, justice, and democracy abroad isn't it high time we started at home? ANXIOUS [illegible]

'UNFORTUNATE LAW' SEPARATES THE SEBASTIANS

Dancer and Bride Submit to a "Telephone Honeymoon."

Ivan Sebastian, the dancer, and his bride of less than four months have separated.

It is not a "trial" nor an "honest to goodness" separation but a separation that has been brought about by a legislative law which prohibits the remarrying of divorced couples for one year.

Sebastian, whose dancing romance with Miss Dorothy Bentley ended in the Chicago divorce courts on March 12 last, entered his second matrimonial adventure just five days later. The successor to Miss Bentley was Miss Elisabeth Thompson, daughter of Charles F. Thompson, wealthy lumberman of Chicago and Quitman, Miss.

"Separation" Admitted.

The "separation," which the couple admitted last night, occurred some six weeks ago. They both denied that it would be permanent, even in spite of the parental objection that sprung up at the time of the secret marriage and which is said to have never been removed.

Sebastian has taken up his home at 900 Fifth avenue. His bride is living with her family at 845 Drexel square. They both deny having seen each other since this arrangement was made to conform with the law.

"It is all due to this unfortunate law in Illinois," declared Sebastian last night. "Some six weeks ago my wife and I were in New York. I decided to come to Chicago. It was imperative for business reasons that I come here. I realized our situation. My wife agreed with me. She was not well anyway.

"This arrangement has to be until the legal year is up. We speak to each other over the telephone many times each day. We write letters to each other. We think of each other every minute of the day. It is a strange honeymoon. Sometimes I call it a 'telephone honeymoon.' She calls it a 'telepathy honeymoon.'

Eight Months to Wait.

"It will be eight months until the year is up and then I would like to see any one separate us. Would you think there is any difference between us when I send my laundry over to her house every week? I should say not. My wife is 25 years old. I guess she knows her own mind."

Mrs. Sebastian at the house of her parents last night characterized the possibilities of a permanent separation as "most absurd."

GET TOGETHER ON ASHBURN AND URGE U. S. DELAY

A committee of business men and members of the Aero club met yesterday with Charles Dickinson, president of the Aero club, and Herman A. Uihlein, trustee of the Ashburn tract, in an effort to arrive at an offer for a lease that the government would consider. The flying field and aviation school at Ashburn is being moved to Rantoul, Ill.

The committee sent a telegram to President Wilson, Secretary of War Baker, and others at Washington, urging them to prevent the removal of the field. The telegram follows:

"The committee met with Herman A. Uihlein, trustee, who desires to see aviation school remain in Chicago and has submitted terms for lease and purchase to war department through Capt. Morrow. Terms now in transit to Washington. Committee assured of Mr. Uihlein's co-operation. He is joining us in this telegram. We request that you make every effort to have order transferring flying corps to Rantoul rescinded or held in abeyance. Committee confident of ability to straighten out this matter satisfactorily."

Both Mr. Dickinson and Mr. Uihlein have submitted propositions to the war department. Mr. Uihlein considers his proposition fair and Mr. Dickinson thought his will probably be acceptable to the government.

WOMEN PICKETS TURN TABLES ON CAPITAL POLICE

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The suffragists arrested at the White House gates yesterday today turned the tables on the police.

In the course of their trial, which they chose to conduct without legal assistance, they forced from the policemen repeated admissions that the arrests were made while the women were moving along the sidewalk with their banners, which, under the law and according to Judge Mullowney's ruling last week is permitted, and that the stop at the White House gates was caused by the interposition of the police at that point and not by the crowd.

The prisoners celebrated their release at a dinner and held a reunion and mass meeting later in the evening at Cameron house, the headquarters of the Women's party.

City Laborers Go Back at Wages They Ignored

One thousand laborers employed in the city water pipe extension department returned to their places yesterday after they had been discharged by Commissioner of Public Works Bennett. The men refused to work two weeks ago unless their wages were increased from $2 to $2.50 a day.

Bennett was refused an appropriation to meet their demands and when he instructed them to return they ignored him. He then discharged them.

Since then, however, the laborers have thronged his office with pitiful stories of suffering caused by lack of employment. A delegation was appointed to see the commissioner to reinstate them at their former wages. Mr. Bennett agreed.

PUT DELIVERY ON WAR BASIS, PLAN OF STORES

An attempt to consolidate the delivery systems of Chicago's big stores and place them upon a war basis may be the result of a meeting of the Chicago Retailers' association at the Hotel La Salle this evening. The national council of defense has under consideration a joint delivery plan which is to be given out shortly, it was announced yesterday in dispatches from Washington.

David M. Yates, general manager of Marshall Field & Co., said yesterday it was quite likely that in a few days decisive steps would be taken to reduce the number of daily delivery periods and to effect a joint system whereby duplication might be eliminated.

"The public," Mr. Yates declared, "has made of the delivery system, which primarily was a matter of courtesy on the part of the merchants, a huge burden of cost, which necessarily has been added to the price of goods."

Miss Harriet Vittum, director of the woman's committee of the council of national defense, said last night, relative to the coöperation of the women in this scheme:

"I am sure that if the dealers can show us that the prices will be actually reduced along with the reduction in the number of deliveries the women will be only too willing to help in putting the plan through."

10 CHICAGOANS WIN SHOULDER STRAPS IN ARMY

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Commissions as majors and captains in the officers' reserve corps were given seven Chicagoans by the war department today. Three Chicago men were made first lieutenants. The Chicago men commissioned were:

Edgar S. Nethercut, 705 Michigan avenue, Evanston, major of engineers.

Percival Manchester, 1250 Monadnock block, major of ordnance.

Walter S. Haldeman, 235 West Madison street, captain of engineers.

William F. Walsh, 1119 Loyola avenue, captain of engineers.

Ervin W. Scott, 2117 West Jackson boulevard, captain quartermaster corps.

Louis Wasielaser, 4124 Sheridan road, captain of ordnance.

George H. Trautmann, 4879 Ravenswood avenue, captain of ordnance.

Among those accepted for the aviation corps were F. L. McCordle, Winnetka, and T. C. Taylor, Hubbard Woods. J. F. Doherty and Fred Netchar, Fort Sheridan, will become first lieutenants.

Two Children in the Same Street

Two children are attacked by a serious, communicable disease. Both live in the same street, and have the same kind of homes. The same doctor attends both, and gives each the same treatment. One child recovers, the other dies.

Why? Because the one who succumbs is attacked by a germ so malignant, so powerful, that medical science is impotent against it.

This is true of all germ diseases. There is no hope for the person attacked by a germ of super-malignancy because the drug has not been discovered that will destroy all germs without at the same time killing the patient.

Yet, you can make a better fight against disease than it can make against you and yours, by killing the germs before they have a chance to enter the body.

Use Lysol. It immediately and completely destroys all kinds of germ life. Use it in sinks, drains, garbage cans and toilets. Use it in scrubbing water, for soap alone will not kill all germs.

Lysol Disinfectant

Lysol is economical; a 25c bottle goes a long way—it makes two gallons of reliable disinfectant.

Lysol is also valuable for personal hygiene.

Three sizes: 25c, 50c, and $1.00. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get true Lysol, made, bottled, signed and sealed by Lehn & Fink. Complete directions with every bottle.

Lysol Toilet Soap

Contains Lysol, and therefore protects the skin from germ infection. It is refreshingly soothing and healing and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he has none, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream

Contains Lysol, and kills germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound), guards the tiny cuts from infection, and gives the antiseptic shave. If your dealer has none, ask him to order a supply for you.

ONLY "FIT" MEN GET O. K. FOR SECOND CAMPS

All Taken Nearly Sure of Commissions with No "Weeding Out."

BY PARKE BROWN.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., July 5.—[Special.]—There will be no wholesale "weeding out" process in the second series of officers' training camps.

This fact was emphasized here today for the purpose of removing what is thought one of the chief causes of a scarcity of applications for the second camp. Capt. Cromwell Stacey, assigned to examine applications for the Leon Springs camp, requested the correspondent for THE TRIBUNE to lay stress upon it.

Some Bitter Disappointment.

The "weeding out" of men below the physical standards or otherwise not up to the mark as material for army officers has brought bitter disappointment to hundreds of men in the present camps. Some of them feel that they have been lowered in the eyes of their associates. Many sacrificed important business connections to enter the camps.

But all of the blame for the "injustice" meted out to them is directed back upon the examining machinery which permitted them to enter a field for which they were not fitted. In many instances the certificate of a family physician was accepted as proof of a man's physical fitness.

More Rigid Tests.

"But there will be nothing of that sort in the second camps," said Capt. Stacey. "Every Illinois man who goes to Leon Springs will have to pass the examining board here at Fort Sheridan. If he is accepted he will know beyond a doubt that he is a fit candidate. For the second camps only a number equal approximately to the number of officers needed will be called."

The regular army officers as a whole regret deeply the necessity for "weeding out."

"And the fact that a man tried and fell short of the mark should entitle him to honor for his patriotic effort, and not to anything approaching a sneer," said one regular officer. "Many a man who is not a success as a lawyer makes a good business man."

NEW RUSSIAN ENVOY RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

Assures U.S. of Loyalty —Outlines Policy of Democracy.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Boris Bakhmetieff, the new Russian ambassador, presented his credentials to President Wilson today and was formally received as the first permanent diplomatic representative here of the Russian democracy.

He assured the president again of Russia's steadfast adherence to the grand alliance against Germany, and was told in reply by President Wilson that every confidence is felt here in the purposes of the new government.

Makes Status Permanent.

With the formal ceremony the ambassador is given a permanent status in place of his temporary position as head of the Russian war mission. Other members of the mission also will become the permanent representatives of their government here, acting under the ambassador's direction.

Complete independence for Poland and a wide degree of self-government for Finland, Ukraine, and other subsidiary nationalities of Russia was said by Ambassador Bakhmetieff to be the object of the new Russian government.

BLESS WOMEN TROOPS.

PETROGRAD, July 5.—The colors of the first detachment of the Petrograd women's regiment were blessed in the square of St. Isaac's cathedral today. More than 200 women were present armed with rifles. Cossacks and sailors furnished a guard of honor.

Later the women paraded through the Nevsky Prospect and other streets, carrying banners with the inscriptions "Death is better than shame" and "Women, do not give your hands to traitors."

A vote of confidence in the government was adopted unanimously by the council of soldiers' and workmen's deputies on the occasion of the raid by government forces on the villa of the former minister, Duronovo, which, since the revolution, had been the headquarters of anarchists. The report of the executive committee emphasized the fact that the revolutionary elements had nothing in common with the men who occupied the Duronovo villa.

FORWARD!

Kerensky Exhorted Warriors to Fight for Liberty, Then Led Them in Person.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Here are the War Minister Kerensky's words that inspired the democratic Russian army in its new offensive, as received today by the Russian mission:

"Warriors: Our mother land is in danger. Freedom and revolution are in peril. Each day lost adds new strength to our enemies. Only an immediate decisive blow can disrupt the plans of the foe. Let them know that liberty augments our forces.

"In the name of liberty, future prosperity and for a lasting, honorable peace, I command you, forward!"

Kerensky then personally led the troops into action.

NO CHICAGO BUSINESS MAN OR WOMAN CAN AFFORD TO GO WITHOUT A VACATION

It's false economy to begin saving at the cost of health.

When it comes to a vacation, the best is none too good—

—and the best doesn't mean the most expensive,

—Colorado, for example.

Go where you can get the most diversion and nerve rest,

—ask any physician if that advice isn't sound,

—and Colorado admittedly offers far more diversion than any other vacation land in America.

—plus the most wonderful scenery and the widest variety of sports in the world,

—plus the far-famed, invigorating, nerve-resting Colorado air.

Try Colorado this summer and go via the Rock Island's famous "Rocky Mountain Limited"—daily to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

—a superb train de luxe, with no extra fare,

—over the Rock Island Lines—the safe, quick way of complete comfort and satisfying service.

—the way that experienced travelers always take.

The only direct line from the East to both Denver and Colorado Springs. Other convenient, modern, all-steel trains from Chicago, St. Louis and Memphis.

Let us advise you where to go, how to get there, and show you how little it will cost.

FRIENDS TO AID OF THE GRAHAMS; CASH TO PAY ALL?

Counsel's Assertion Delays Bankruptcy Hearing Till July 12.

"Powerful friends of the Graham family, able and willing to put up the money, have come to the front and agreed to reorganize the Graham & Sons bank, paying all depositors and other creditors 100 cents on the dollar," said John D. Black, attorney, yesterday. Mr. Black's announcement to Frank L. Wean, referee in bankruptcy, stopped the bankruptcy hearing.

Mr. Wean granted a delay in the hearing until July 12, that the plan might be worked out. Mr. Black, who is attorney for the bank, told Mr. Wean:

"The parties interested do not care at this time to have their connection with the matter disclosed owing to the delicacy of the situation. It is a matter that is presented in the utmost good faith. They have been working on it for forty-eight hours."

Sullivan Denies Knowledge.

The identity of the man proposing to refinance the institution was not given out. Roger C. Sullivan was reached last night at his home and denied that he knew anything of the plan to refinance the bank. His name and that of John J. Hopkins had previously been mentioned as close friends of the Grahams. Mr. Hopkins was found at his home on the lake shore. Asked about the report, he said: "I know nothing whatever about the planned reorganization of the bank."

Frank Graham had said that if the Continental and Commercial National bank had given him a few hours to get in touch with Sullivan and Hopkins he felt sure that the bank would never have been closed.

May Get State Charter.

It is understood that the reorganization plan provides for a blanket payment of 100 cents on the dollar in cash, the lump sum to be raised to be secured by the Graham & Sons properties. Then the reopening of the bank, it is believed, would follow.

It is not thought that any attempt would be made to reopen as a private bank, but that it would become either a state or national bank at once. Attorneys for various groups of creditors made no protest before Judge Carpenter when the delay in the hearing was granted, saying that restitution to the depositors was all they asked, and if that could be brought about they would be entirely satisfied.

They declared their willingness to do all they could to assist rather than to delay the work. In case the plan as proposed by Mr. Black is worked out the bank will not go down in history as a "failure." It will officially be a reorganization with the assistance of the court.

Reynolds in Court.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial bank, and Herman Waldeck, vice president, were in court yesterday when Referee Wean opened the hearing. Attorneys agreed that in the circumstances it would not be advisable or necessary to put them on the stand to testify as to why they had brought about the closing of the bank on such short notice.

Each announced his willingness to go on the stand and both agreed to be in readiness to tell their story at any date they might be wanted, without further court subpoena.

Frank J. Graham, acting head of the bank, declined to make any statement yesterday which would cast any light upon the plans. He referred all questions to his attorney and the petition which declared that if a few days delay is given all depositors will be paid in full.

Policeman Restores $100 Man Dropped Taking Car

Policeman Edwin R. Walter, stationed at 63d Drexel street, Gresham, is commended by M. H. Lyons, 6238 Princeton avenue. On June 21, Mr. Lyons took a street car at Eighty-seventh street and Cottage avenue. He saw Policeman Walter courteously help a woman and a child on the car. When Lyons took a seat the policeman handed him a wallet containing $100. Lyons had not noticed his loss. He had dropped the wallet as he entered the car.

G. M. REYNOLDS DENIES INJUSTICE TO GRAHAM BANK

Declares His Testimony Will Clear Up All Questions.

In order, it is said, not to embarrass plans for the reorganization or "composition" of Graham & Sons bank, George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National, whose refusal last Friday to renew a loan of several years' standing caused the closing of the bank, refrained yesterday from issuing a planned extended statement of the bank's condition.

He, however, gave out an announcement declaring the Continental National had been placed in a false position by friends of Graham & Sons bank and he let it be understood that upon his appearance in court July 12 he will make a complete showing of the affairs of the closed institution.

Mr. Reynolds' Statement.

Mr. Reynolds' signed statement follows:

"I notice in the daily press statements purporting to have been made by witnesses on the stand in connection with the closing of the Graham & Sons bank, in which the Continental and Commercial National bank and myself, with Mr. Waldeck, vice president, were placed in a false position, and which indicated that this bank used arbitrary and unjustifiable measures in attempting to secure payment of the Graham loans.

"I have been looking forward to an opportunity of appearing upon the stand and giving a full statement of our entire relations with Graham & Sons, which I am sure would completely refute any statement that either Mr. Waldeck, the Continental and Commercial National bank, or myself, had been unfair in our business dealings with the Graham & Sons bank, but upon presenting myself today in response to a subpoena, I found that the case had been postponed for one week to allow the consummation of negotiations for the payment of depositors in full.

Calls Treatment Lenient.

"If a statement had been given today, under oath, as I expected would be the case, it would have shown to any fair-minded man that the treatment accorded Graham & Sons by the Continental and Commercial National bank had been unusually lenient and just during a period of several years.

"Extreme urgency compelled Graham & Sons to borrow large sums of money on two or three occasions. These loans were carried through a period of several years, and frequent and insistent demands were made for their payment or reduction.

"There always comes a time in matters of this kind where a final demand for payment must be made.

Final Demand Made.

"Upon receiving a statement of their affairs, which intimated their inability to meet their obligations, and realizing the duty which I owed to this bank, and feeling that I would best serve the interests of the depositors of Graham & Sons bank by so doing, I made a final demand for payment of not loan, and charged up their balance, which in reality represented only a part of the money which we had furnished to them.

"I have no doubt that the statement which I expect to make on the witness stand will furnish an entire history of our relations with the Graham & Sons bank and conclusively convince the most critical person of the reasonableness and fairness of the action which we took.

"I do not feel that it would be proper for me at this time prior to my appearance upon the stand to make a further public statement. However, if the evidence which I expect to give does not bring out all of the salient facts in connection with our relations with the Graham & Sons bank, I shall then be very glad to furnish them to the public and the press."

HERE TO MAKE ANOTHER TRY AT ENDING THE WAR

Louis P. Lochner, who went over to Europe a couple of years ago as secretary to Mr. Ford on the "Peace Ship" to stop the war before Christmas, arrived in Chicago yesterday. He plans to help put the pep in the "Terms of Peace" meeting tomorrow and Sunday and make another attempt to stop the war.

Congressman "Billy" Mason at a meeting in Chicago yesterday told the peace workers: "Seven's my lucky number. The conference opens here the seventh day of the seventh month of 1917, and that's my 57th birthday. I'm the seventh child of a family of fourteen. I've got seven children, and their birthdays all come on the 7th, 14th, 21st, or 28th of the month."

MILITARY MEN GIVE HIGH PRAISE TO ARMY TRIBUNE

Declare Paris Edition Will Do Wonders for Men in Trenches.

"Bully for THE TRIBUNE!"

This was the keynote of the comments made yesterday on the Army edition of THE TRIBUNE. These comments came from authorities who have charge of the military affairs in the Chicago district.

The ARMY TRIBUNE is to be a small edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, printed in Paris under the editorship of a CHICAGO TRIBUNE man, Joseph B. Pierson. Because of the scarcity of print paper in Paris, all the paper for it will be shipped from the mills of THE TRIBUNE in America. All arrangements for the publication have been made, and the American soldiers at the front will have a home paper to divert their minds from the rigors of campaigning.

"Fine," Says Capt. Moffett.

"That is undoubtedly a very fine thing for THE TRIBUNE to do," said Capt. W. P. Moffett, mess officer at the R. O. T. C. at Fort Sheridan.

"It's a first rate plan," said H. L. T. Cavenaugh, senior instructor at the reserve officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan. "The men in the army will be better for it."

"I know how the men will appreciate it," said Capt. Roderick Dew of the Fort Sheridan camp. "It will mean a great deal to them. It's a mighty good thing."

Other comments follow:

Col. Daniel Moriarty of the Seventh Illinois infantry: THE TRIBUNE's plan of a Paris edition strikes me as a very good idea. I can hardly say more at the present time."

Maj. William Brackett, head of the marine recruiting force in Chicago: "The appearance of an edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in Paris will give the greatest pleasure to the thousands of young Chicago men who have enlisted in the marine corps and who are already in France or who will shortly reach the front. Bully for THE TRIBUNE!"

Ensign W. P. Hansen of the naval recruiting service in Chicago: "A mighty fine idea. The soldiers will surely appreciate it."

Col. Nicholson Enthusiastic.

Col. W. J. Nicholson, commanding officer of the Fort Sheridan camp: "Publishing a special edition of an American newspaper, such as THE TRIBUNE in France where the American fighting men are, is a magnificent thing."

Capt. W. A. Moffett, commander of the Great Lakes Naval Training station: "The Paris TRIBUNE is a splendid thing, because there is nothing that will make men feel and fight their best as much as the knowledge that the people at home are interested in them and following them."

ALGONQUIN AID MAY SAVE HER FOR CHILDREN

War Widow in Need of Ozone and Good Food.

It may have been the brief official communication from Rome that left her so weak and crushed. Though living in the shadow of Death Corner and Little Hell, she had been happy with her three children, Marie, Tony, and little Frank. Then a stranger came to see her husband one evening, and, leaving his wife and children in America, he went back to fight the hated Austrians, to try to get back Triest for the fatherland.

Then she became sick. Neighbors and a relative took turns caring for the children during the long term of the Italian woman at the county hospital. Occasionally there was a letter from Joe from the battle front, and Marie, who was learning to write at school, scribbled to him in a language which must have seemed strange to his fellow soldiers if he showed them the letters. The younger children drew crooked lines and crosses to show their affection.

Her Husband Killed.

It was just after her release from the hospital that the fateful message came. She had read in the Italian papers of the new campaign, and the message said that her Joe had been killed on the field of battle. After that, to her neighbors, it seemed that she lost all desire to get well. She sat listless and weary at a window looking upon a street with dark, curly haired children thick as ants about their hill. A visitor of the United Charities found her and heard the story.

Except for the tardy response to the appeal for contributions for the hospitals for convalescent women at Algonquin this brave Italian woman would already be there. With the air and the light, the food and the medical treatment, the kindness and cheerfulness of the doctors and nurses, she would be getting back her grip on life. Marie and Tony and Frank would be happy in the camp adjoining.

There's Still Chance.

It is not too late for her to go to Algonquin. Certainly there is some one in Chicago ready to save her to bring those children to manhood and womanhood with a mother's love. It won't mean a large contribution.

The following contributions to the hospital fund were received yesterday:

A. M. W.	$ 5.00
A. R. Tuma	1.00
A friend	20.00
E. W. Wagenell	5.00
Salesman N. R. G. Washing Tablets company	2.95
Previously acknowledged	21.50
Total	$55.45

Contributions may be sent to THE TRIBUNE and marked for the hospital fund.

Boy Exonerated for Shooting.

George Betker, 10 years old, 1225 Holt street, was exonerated of blame and was ordered released by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest into the death of Cornelius Shorter of 421 West Thirty-seventh street, who was shot and fatally wounded while in Schultze's park, West Twelfth street and the Desplaines river, Maywood, on Wednesday.

Stand behind Hoover!

IN this national food crisis, Good Housekeeping pledges its heartiest support to Mr. Hoover and his aids in the fight that they are making for our food supply.

His problem is to save useless waste in the nation. Our problem has been and is today to save useless waste in the individual family. His work will parallel, in many ways, the big constructive work that our own laboratories in Washington and New York have been doing—work that is focused now in July Good Housekeeping.

In "What to Eat in Wartime," in "Wartime Breads," in "What to Make with Sour Milk," in "Tested Recipes for Every Meal," in Dr. Wiley's "Booze or Bread"—in all the nine up-building food articles you will find a concrete personal answer of real and timely value for your own family.

What Mr. Hoover must do in general for the country we are doing for the family—the family which, like yours, is eager now to help the Allies go on fighting, to keep this country from facing Germany alone, to serve and save while serving.

YOUNG MAROON DEFEATS HARDY IN NET TOURNEY

Vories Puts Out the Favorite, Then Is Beaten Himself.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

H. F. Vories, a freshman tennis player at the University of Chicago, eliminated Sam Hardy, veteran favorite of the meet, in one of the smashing matches which made yesterday the feature day in the Illinois patriotic tournament on the hard courts of the new South Side Tennis club. Vories' victory over the former Pacific coast champion was gained in the third round, 6—1, 3—6, 6—2.

In the next round Vories was shorn of some of his laurels when he succumbed before the driving game of L. E. Williams, an eastern collegian from Highland Park, Ill. This contest, just like the one in which the Maroon freshman beat Hardy, was a battle in which both players depended on stinging ground strokes and placements deep along the alleys, or just a few inches inside the base line. Williams won from Vories in straight sets, but only after desperate rallies, 6—4, 8—6.

Yale Champion Beats Farley.

Cyrus Hill, former Yale champion, had a stiff fight before disposing of J. A. Farley, a veteran of the Chicago league, in another fourth round affair, 6—4, 4—6, 6—0. Benny Evans, former star of Hyde Park's victorious interscholastic teams, put up a stiff fight against W. Kramer, but lost the match after two deuce sets, 7—5, 7—5.

Bill Burdick, one of the present western doubles champions, progressed to the fifth round by an easy victory, but will meet one of the hardest opponents of his career in the game this afternoon when he plays Mel Rosenberg of San Francisco to decide which enters the semifinal round. Burdick is capable of more fiery rallies, plays a more dashing game, and has a better overhead, but Rosenberg has proved one of the most indefatigable getters and hard drivers of the meet. He is more consistent than the Chicago favorite.

The first women's tournament matches were begun in singles. Doubles for the fair patriotic contestants begin today.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Third round—H. F. Vories, University of Chicago, defeated Sam Hardy, London, 6—4, 3—6, 6—2; Harry S. Knox won by default from W. S. Miller; L. E. Williams, Highland Park, defeated F. Pellet, River Forest, 6—3, 6—2.

Fourth round—Cyrus G. Hill defeated J. A. Farley, 6—4, 6—0, 6—0; Walter T. Hayes defeated Lloyd Murphy, 6—1, 6—1; M. G. Ketchum defeated H. S. Knox, 6—3, 6—3; L. E. Williams defeated F. F. Vories, 6—4, 8—6; W. Kramer defeated Benny Evans, 7—5, 7—5; Ralph H. Burdick defeated D. W. Westervelds, 6—0, 6—1.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Second round—Jimmy Weber and Carver defeated Wolff and Adams, 6—3, 8—10, 6—3; Hayes and Burdick defeated Knox and Van Arsdale, 6—2, 6—0; Snow and Rosenberg won by default from Wilson and Howe; Hill and Day beat Murphy and Pearson, 6—4, 6—3; Hardy and Waldner defeated Spencer and Pellet, 5—7, 6—3, 6—1; Becker and Ingersoll won by default from Dixon and Parkina.

Preliminary round—Miss Marian Leighton defeated Miss Miriam Steever, Highland Park, 4—6, 9—7, 6—4; Miss Elizabeth Ware won by default from Mrs. Malcolm MacNeill Jr.; Miss Katherine Waldo defeated Miss Amanda Walker, 6—3, 6—0, 6—4; Miss Carrie Neely won by default from Miss Vercilla Mann.

First round—Miss Mary K. Voorhees, Evanston, defeated Mrs. Williams, Western Springs, 6—4, 10—8; Miss Marie Quigley defeated Miss Dorothy Birbie, 9—6, 6—0, 6—4.

Schedule for Today.

Men's singles, 2:30 o'clock—M. G. Ketchum vs. L. E. Williams, Al Green Jr. vs. W. Kramer, 3 o'clock—M. Rosenberg, San Francisco, vs. R. H. Burdick, W. T. Hayes vs. C. G. Hill.

Men's doubles, 3:30 o'clock—Sam Hardy, London, and Harry Waldner, Winnetka, vs. Becker and Ingersoll. 4:30 o'clock—M. Rosenberg, San Francisco, and A. C. Snow vs. Cy Hill and J. F. Day; Walter Hayes and Ralph Burdick vs. Jimmy Weber and R. D. Carver, M. G. Ketcham and Al Green Jr. vs. D. Westervelds and J. R. Hatstedt.

TENNIS CLUB NOTES.

Youthful tennis players will have their last chance to register for the annual city singles and doubles championships in the boys' and junior classes today. Entries close with H. S. Walsh, 1510 First National Bank building. The boys' tourney is open to players under 16 years old, and the junior title events to those under 19 years old. The winners will automatically be entered in the western championships whose survivors will take the trip east for the national boys' and junior events. Play will be from July 9-14 at the Sherwood club, Huron and St. Clair streets.

A special meeting of the Public Parks Tennis association will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hotel Sherman. Town captains, managers, and delegates are required to attend.

The Ogden Park Tennis club will hold its annual championships in men's singles and doubles on the park clay courts at Sixty-fifth street and Racine avenue, July 21-23. Entries close July 19 with H. A. Silver, 1002 Republic building.

Exhaust Echoes

By Stephen Butler

THE newly organized Touring Club of America squared away for action yesterday with the announcement that Malcolm MacKinnon, of Rockford, Ill., has been made manager of the organization and will devote himself exclusively hereafter to the club's activities in making roads better and more easily traveled by the motorist. Mr. MacKinnon has already established himself in headquarters on the second floor of the Chicago Automobile club. His appointment as a salaried executive evidently means that the new organization proposes to make itself felt vigorously in good roads matters, for MacKinnon is known throughout the middle west as the father of no less than four highway movements—those which resulted in the Meridian highway, the Grant highway, the Black Hawk trail, and the Lake-to-River road, all popular with motor tourists and all covering important stretches of territory. He is a former Chicago newspaper man.

Encouragement for motorists hereabouts comes from Springfield in the news that contracts for approximately $150,000 worth of new hard roads in northern Illinois have been let by the state highway department. Of the amounts involved, about $121,000 is to be spent in Cook county on two stretches, both of concrete. One contract, for $69,906.04, went to the Chicago Heights Construction company, and the other, for $50,908.30, to Connelly & Dunning of Chicago. In Knox county, in the northeastern part of the state, a contract for two sections was awarded to Cameron, Joyce & Co. of Keokuk, Ia., for $12,827.24, and in Mercer county, near by, one section contract, involving an expenditure of $9,152.90, went to the same firm, and another, for $5,120.80, to Bius & Olson of St. Joseph, Mo.

At the end of a curt dispatch announcing that A. H. Patterson in a Hudson won Wednesday's 150 mile speedway race at Tacoma, Wash., was this sentence: "Patterson's time was 1:23:04." No one seemed to be paying any attention to the fact, but if his time was correctly reported Patterson has lowered the world's speedway record for this distance by approximately 3 minutes 11 seconds, beating the mark made by Ralph Mulford, his teammate, in the Chicago auto Derby of June 16.

SOLDIERS WILL HOLD FIELD DAY TOMORROW TO RAISE MESS FUND

The First Illinois infantry will take a hand in athletics tomorrow, partly for the exercise and fun involved, but largely for the benefit their stomachs will derive from the affair. The soldiers will hold a military tournament and horse racing carnival at Chicago Driving park, Central avenue and Twelfth street, starting at 2 o'clock. The proceeds will go to the company mess funds.

After the carnival visitors may visit the model camp for half an hour. This camp is the pet of every man in the regiment. It was built on a piece of swamp land in Cicero. All the work was done by recruits. Plumbing was put in, cinder streets built, shower baths installed, cement walks laid, and a big corral built. The events tomorrow are:

Exhibition drill and Butts Manual.....Selected company
Horse racing, passes and troters.....

English War Cabinet Removes Ban on Racing

LONDON, July 5.—Yielding to the strenuous protest of the Jockey club, the war cabinet has decided that "a limited amount of racing will be allowed in England from the middle of July to the close of the flat racing season."

It suggests that the Jockey club may arrange approximately forty days of racing during this period, but that the race meetings be limited to Newmarket and such places as are sanctioned by the war office.

OUIMET REFUSED

U. S. G. A. Turns Down Plea for Reinstatement as an Amateur.

BOSTON, Mass., July 5.—[Special.]—Before leaving for Chicago at noon to take part in the western amateur championship at Midlothian next week Francis Ouimet received the following letter from Howard F. Whitney, secretary of the U. S. G. A., refusing his application for reinstatement as an amateur:

I am instructed by the executive committee of the United States Golf association to inform you that, after the hearing given at your request in New York on June 18, 1917, and inasmuch as your statement presented at that time proved that you are still engaged in the sale of golf supplies, as you were at the time of your disqualification under ruling No. 6, section 7 of the by-laws of the U. S. G. A., and you having presented no new facts, or conditions which would alter this situation:

It is the unanimous decision of the executive committee that your application for reinstatement as an amateur cannot be granted.

Neither Ouimet nor his partner, J. H. Sullivan, also disqualified, have any present intention of eliminating golf from their business.

I. A. C. WILL HOLD SWIM IN RIVER

Officers of the Illinois Athletic club last night decided to stage the annual I. A. C. river marathon and selected July 28 as the date. There had been some question whether the race ought to be staged in wartime, but the club officials decided to follow the advice of President Wilson and foster athletics as much as possible. Entry blanks for the race, which will be the ninth annual renewal, will be issued in a few days.

With most of Chicago's star swimmers enlisted with the army or the navy, the race looks like an open chance for some newcomer to break into first place. Chairman Frank W. Blankley of the I. A. C. athletic committee will look after the entries.

SIX TEAMS PLAY FOR OLYMPIC CUP, LATEST REPORT

Star Golfers Will Contest at Midlothian Course Tomorrow.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Six teams, representing respectively the Southern, Nebraska, Iowa, Michigan, Transmississippi, and Western Golf associations, are expected to compete at Midlothian tomorrow in the annual competition for the Olympic trophy.

An entry from the Municipal Links association, consisting of William Rantenbusch, T. Warren, Murray Deming, and Gunnar Nelson, was received at Midlothian, but, according to officials of the Western Golf association, the M. L. A. is not eligible, as its members do not control the courses on which they play.

This question was raised at the amateur championship held at Minikahda, Minneapolis, in 1910 over an entry of the Eastern Intercollegiate association, which was permitted to play when it was shown its members controlled courses over which they played.

C. D. A. Fails to Enter Team.

In the absence of Secretary A. H. Cleaves the Chicago District association has not entered a team, so the Western Golf association is planning to enter a quartet. The Southern association team will be one of the strongest, being composed of Bobby Jones, Perry Adair, Richard Hickey, and Tom Prescott, all of the Druid Hills club.

Decker French of Davenport will captain the Iowa team and John D. Cady of Rock Island is picked to lead the Transmississippi four.

Entries received brought the total for the western amateur event up to about 150. Among the local players are Paul Gardner of Onwentsia, Addison Stilwell of the Chicago club, Joe McDonald of Calumet, and Carl Devol.

Four Coming from Grand Rapids.

In addition to Phil Stanton, the Kent Country club of Grand Rapids is sending three players, while Art Perry, formerly of Chicago, is coming from Detroit.

Dr. A. T. Haight, formerly of Glen View, who has been living in New York for a number of years, wired the entry of his son, who performed finely in the recent eastern interscholastic championship.

Kenneth P. Edwards on Sunday set a new amateur record of 73 for the remodeled course, which indicates it is in fine shape. Yesterday it was getting fast and Professional George Turnbull is hoping for one or two warm showers before Monday.

Jesse Guilford and Francis Ouimet left Boston yesterday and are due at the club today. R. S. Worthington, the veteran English player, will arrive on Saturday.

NOTES FOR GOLFERS.

The New Evanston Golf club has obtained a loan of $150,000 for twenty years at 6 per cent, secured on its property in the township of Niles.

Motion pictures of many leading golfers of the world will be displayed at the Jackson Park Golf club, Fifty-third street and Stony Island avenue, from 7 to 10 p. m. The pictures were taken on a special machine which allows a complete analysis of every movement.

Gilbert Nicholls and Alex Smith, western professionals, wired yesterday asking if it was possible for them to meet Champion Charles Evans Jr. and Robert A. Gardner in a Red Cross match here July 14 or 15.

Tom Knibbs of Columbus Golf association will play a nine hole sweepstakes at the Elgin State hospital course Sunday. A special train will leave Laramie avenue station of the Garfield "L" at 9 a. m.

The July tournament of the Western Advertising Golfers' association will be held July 12 at Westmoreland.

(DIDN'T SAY SO, EITHER.)

ONCE upon a time there was a little girl. She was a young lady, not a little girl. She was old enough to be married. She was so beautiful that they married her.

She left the door halfway open, and when she wasn't looking some robbers came in. They came in and saw her. She wasn't looking, so they took her way down the street far off and hid her.

So just then an old policeman came by. He saw the robbers and he asked them:

"Did you steal any one?" the old policeman asked the robbers that.

But he was too angry.

He asked them if they had stealed anyone.

They said: "Yes, we stealed a little girl. She wasn't a little girl, but a young lady."

"Take me to her."

They took the old policeman and he asked the young lady where she lived. So he took her where she lived, and all the people that lived in the house asked her where she'd been.

So she told them where she'd been, and so—and so—that's the end of that story.

Once upon a time all the people moved to New York, where all the animals live—the bears and wolves and elephants and birds and eagles. They all live there, in New York.

So the little girl went to her mother, and her mother gave her two pails to give the cat. There was milk in them. There was two stairs, so the little girl climbed up the first time with one pail to give the cat. So then she came down for the other pail. By that time the old bear was hup.

The old bear was chasing the girl, so she gave him the other pail to keep him from hungry. Then she went in the house and called her brother.

"Come out and kill the old bear!"

Her brother came out and killed the old bear. Then they had the old bear killed and unrolled his skin and made a rug out of it when he was dead.

FULTON PUTS K.O. ON 'PORKY' FLYNN IN FOURTH ROUND

Right to Jaw Ends Bout in Brooklyn Ring; Fred Injures Hand.

"Tribune" Decisions

Decisions of "Tribune" fight representatives are:

At New York—Fred Fulton knocked out Porky Flynn [4]; Bob McAllister and Chief Clay Turner fought draw [10].

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—Fred Fulton knocked out Porky Flynn in the fourth round at the Clermont rink in Brooklyn. A hard right hander to the jaw sent the Boston boxer sprawling on his back. He rolled over on his face and did not move until his seconds scrambled into the ring and carried him to his corner.

Flynn was floored in the first round with a right for a full count, but got up and fought back gamely until the bell came.

Argument Over Bandage.

Fulton caused a long delay before the man got into action because of the quantity of adhesive tape he had wrapped around his right hand. Flynn objected and Fulton made a little curtain speech, saying that the tape was necessary because he had broken the hand recently. After a heated powwow Fulton left the ring for his dressing room, where he removed the objectionable band.

That Fulton hurt his hand again was certain, for he winced with pain as soon as he floored Flynn the last time.

Flynn Is Outclassed.

Flynn was hopelessly outclassed from the start. Fulton's great reach was too great a handicap for him to overcome. He landed a number of hard body punches that made Fulton grunt. Fulton weighed 212 pounds and Flynn 197½.

John L. Gets a Present on Fight Anniversary

New Orleans, La., July 5.—[Special.]—Members of the Young Men's Gymnastic club today celebrated the twenty-eighth anniversary of John L. Sullivan's victory over Jake Kilrain at Richburg, Miss., on July 5, 1889, by sending the ex-Boston gladiator a plaster cast replica of his famous right arm that won him the heavyweight championship of the world.

The cast is a duplicate of that taken of Sullivan's arm the day before he defeated Kilrain in seventy-five rounds. It is inscribed in glass and has been in possession of the Y. M. G. C. since the fight.

Leonard vs. Kilbane July 26.

TIGERS' CLAWS MELT BY SOX; SCORE, 11 TO 6

Detroit Finally Wins Farcical Game on Home Lot.

GAME FOR SOLDIERS

Medical officers at Fort Sheridan training camp will have a baseball game Sunday when White Sox and Athletics will furnish the exhibition which will figure in the drive. The ball teams will leave the camp in autos and report to the south side for the afternoon game. President Comiskey arranged with Manager Mack of the Athletics to stage the show. The Sox also have promised to appear at the naval training station later.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—[Special.]—While the White Sox were recovering from their Fourth of July celebration the Detroit Tigers jumped on them and won a game, the first they have won from Chicago on their home lot this year. The score was 11 to 6, and it was exactly that kind of a game.

The score at first glance would indicate that it had been quite a fight, but it only was three. The Sox made five of their six runs in the last inning after the Tigers had all of their eleven and were sure of victory that they let Ty Cobb go in the shower bath and sent a recruit out to play center field. There would have been hell-a-pay had the Sox kept going with their belated rally until they had the count, for Ty couldn't have reached.

Ehmke Stops Sox.

Howard Ehmke, Pacific coast hurler, kept the Sox guessing on the slab, and that was the main reason the Sox weren't in the game. Another reason was that the Sox players seem to have a fight in them, but still another reason was that Joe Jackson and some other fellows fell down as timely hitters.

Before Detroit had such a large number of runs the Sox had chances to do considerable batting. After Detroit had something to work with the Sox started and got quite industrious batting that they took Mr. Ehmke off the rubber and forced Leonard had to come forth and save the day.

Dave Danforth started for Chicago and was sure wild. He had stuff apparently, but he couldn't put 'em over and had to ease up, so that in the fifth it looked as if he never would get the side out. Luck and everything turned against him then, and when the round was over the Tigers had a total of six runs.

Cripple Given a Chance.

Under these conditions it looked like a good time to try out a lot of Sox players who have had sore arms and various ailments just to see how they looked. So Mel Wolfgang and his lame shoulder were called to service. Mel held a couple of rounds and the Tigers got only one run. He's liable to get another chance soon.

In the eighth Wolfgang gave way to a pinch hitter and Joe Benz appeared. Joe hasn't found the home plate yet. He walked two men and almost walked another before the game could be stopped and he could be hurried out of sight.

Ed Russell came to Benz's relief after having only about one minute to warm up, and Bob passed another before he could get his aching left arm into hurling form. After he got it where he could put the ball over the plate the Tigers batted out a couple of hits and drove four runs across the home plate, making the total of counts eleven.

Runs Hitting in Ninth.

With a ten run lead Ehmke figured he could let 'em over in the ninth. He had let 'em over softly for the first six batters who faced him. Felsch was first with a home run, Gandil second with a single, Risberg third with a triple, Felsch fourth with a walk, Russell fifth with a two bagger, and Leibold sixth with a single. Five runs were in and he needed only five more to tie, so he had to hurry away. Boland came in and got the side out with no more scoring.

Notes

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—[Special.]—One game tomorrow will wind up the series here and Red Faber is slated to hurl, probably against George Dauss.

There were 4,659 persons who paid to look on today.

Jackson was up twice with the bases filled. The first time his best effort was an easy bounder to Young. The second time he raised a high fly back of second base.

When Felsch hit his homer in the ninth, he hit the first ball pitched by Ehmke, and hit it so far over the left wall that Veach made no effort to start after it.

Young Mr. Hallman had much to do with the Tigers' victory. He got three singles, a walk, and scored three runs. His hit in the fifth after two were out scored the fourth run of the game and kept the way open for two more to count before that round was over.

Cobb and Weaver staged some side play in the eighth when the Tigers were on a rampage. Ty went from first to third on Veach's single to center. Felsch's peg to third was perfect and there away ahead of Ty, but he made a wonderful fall away slide and got in. It looked as if he might have been six feet out of line, but the umpires let him get away with it. Weaver was so mad that he rolled the ball twenty feet back of third and dared Ty to go home. Finally Ty did make a break from the base and a break to get back, and Weaver took a dive for him. It looked as if Ty was blocked off this time, but the umpires refused to see it that way. By this time Weaver was laughing, but he let the umpires know what he thought of them.

TY COBB GETS TWO; THIRTY-FIVE GAMES NOW

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—Ty Cobb made it thirty-five successive games in which he has hit safely when he poled two hits in the game against the Sox. One was a single and one was a triple, but in reality Ty was lucky both times.

Cobb's single came with a runner on first base, which held Gandil close to the bag. Had he been back it would have been an easy out.

Ty's triple was a corking drive to deep center, but Hap Felsch, a corking fielder, raced back, turned, and really caught the ball. Hap then threw up his hands to show he had it and at the same time turned a back somersault, while the ball flew out of his hands. The umpires wouldn't allow the catch. Ty deserved a triple on such a swat, anyway.

FOSTERS TRIM CUBAN NINE, 3-2

American Giants finished their series with the Cubans by beating them, 3 to 2, at Schorling's park. The winners were compelled to call for aid from Pitcher Redding when the Cubans threatened to tie the score in the seventh. He responded by striking out the side with two on and none out. Score:

Red Sox Drop Henriksen.

Boston, Mass., July 5.—Olaf Henriksen, pinch hitter and utility outfielder for the Boston Red Sox, has been given his unconditional release. Henriksen objected to going to Toledo, where it had been planned to send him, and in view of his past services it was decided to make him a free agent.

YANKS' LOSING STREAK IS BROKEN IN 13TH; SENATORS WIN ONE

New York, July 5.—After losing the first game of a double header to Washington, 2 to 1, for its eighth straight defeat, New York broke its losing streak in the second game, winning in the thirteenth inning, 5 to 4. Baker's home run off Walter Johnson with one out in the thirteenth decided the game in New York's favor.

Manager Donovan of New York was notified before the first game that he has been indefinitely suspended as a result of his run-in with Umpire Dinneen yesterday. Score second game:

ANGLERS' EXCHANGE.

LONG LAKE, ILL.

[Contributed by W. B. Holcomb.]

LONG LAKE is forty-six miles from Chicago on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad—near enough for Sunday morning trips. Sunday trains stop at Mayfair and Grayland, making it very convenient for those who live on the north and northwest sides of town. The hotels are near the station and offer good accommodations and boats. Motorists can reach this lake by the Fox Lake road.

The lake has produced as good bass and pickerel fishing as any lake in the Fox lake region, while perch, bluegills, crappies, and silver bass are plentiful. The largest bass are caught in the east end and along the south shore up to the inlet. There is a good bass bed east of the point on the north shore, and there is good fishing with frogs at the west end among the lily pads.

Pork on small spoons and wobblers are good over the weeds and just outside of them near edge of deep water—make long casts and reel slowly. There are weed beds all along the shores of this lake that can be fished; excellent trolling grounds through the center of this lake. Large strings of crappies are caught, especially in the west end opposite outlet or channel into Fox lake.

Editor's note: Articles that are short and to the point, like the above, make mighty interesting reading to those who find it impossible to go very far, but who love to wet a line. There are hundreds of lakes in the state of Illinois and vicinity who appreciate this kind of information, so if you know some lake or stream within 150 miles of Chicago send it in and we will pass it along. To reciprocate, if you want the dope on certain fishing places, ask us—if we don't know we can find out for you. That's what the Anglers' Exchange is for.

CUBS START SERIES AT BROOKLYN TODAY; ROOKIES TO REPORT

BY I. E. SANBORN.

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—The Cubs finished their transterrestrial voyage tonight in safety without the aid of a convoy and with only one man missing. Mique Prendergast dropped off the train somewhere in Ohio last night and kept an engagement today with the wall known bonesetter of Youngstown. There's been a kink in Mique's right elbow which has interfered with his efficiency of late and his visit to Youngstown was made in the hope that the kink could be removed. Prendergast is expected to rejoin his team tomorrow or next day.

Two other athletes are expected to reinforce the Cubs for the Brooklyn series which begins tomorrow. They are Pitcher Nick Carter and Catcher Dilhoefer, both of whom had been farmed to Joe Tinker in Columbus. They will fill the places left vacant by the omission of Jim Archer and Tom Seaton from this trip.

First Sacker May Get Trial.

If the Texas league closes its doors after the example of the Three Eyes league, First Baseman Roy Leslie of the Waco team will be ordered to report to Manager Mitchell. His advent will give the Cub pilot a chance to strengthen the outfield by transferring Merkle to one of the gardens, probably center. Shortstop Benbaker, just purchased from Muskegon, also may be available.

Every newcomer will, of course, mean the release of somebody now on the say roll and north side fans may not be able to recognize their team when it returns home at the end of this month.

Suicide on Cub Train.

The otherwise gloomy atmosphere in the Cub camp was made gloomier by a tragedy that occurred on the train just before reaching Pittsburgh this morning. An elderly invalid, incurably ill with tuberculosis, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor in the lavatory of one of the sleepers just ahead of the Cubs' cars.

The Cubs have sixteen games to play on this trip, with no postponements left over from the May visit.

ROBINS' VICTORY FOLLOWS RAISING OF 1916 PENNANT

President Tener Greets McGraw: 'How Are You, John?'; Score, 6-3.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 5.—Brooklyn celebrated the raising of the National league pennant of 1916 by beating New York, 6 to 3. There was a parade of the players of both teams headed by a band and President John K. Tener delivered an address.

When the National league president and Manager McGraw met at the flagpole Tener reached out his hand and said:

"How are you, John?"

McGraw shook the executive's hand, but apparently was too much surprised to do more than mumble some unintelligible response. Then they walked part of the distance side by side to the plate. Score:

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—Boston won the final game of the series from Philadelphia, 3 to 0. LOEB BY GETTING BIDS SAVES BOARD $1,000 INSURANCE

Makes Good Promise About Parental School.

Jacob M. Loeb, ousted as president of the board of education, made good yesterday on his promise to save the board $1,000 on the insurance for the Chicago Parental school. He secured bids from four companies, lowering by one-third the previous rate.

The new board had renewed the insurance with W. L. Bennett, a brother of Frank I. Bennett, commissioner of public works under Mayor Thompson. No other bids were received and the matter was not brought before the full board.

Following Mr. Loeb's statement at the last meeting that by asking for bids the cost could be cut down $1,000, Capt. Coffin received statements from Mr. Bennett and from Dugan & Carr, the general agents in whose office Mr. Bennett is local manager. They told Capt. Coffin the rate they offered, $1.30 per thousand for five years, was inadequate and that they could not accept the business at a lower rate. Then Capt. Coffin wrote to Mr. Loeb.

Submits Proposals.

The latter's reply follows:

"In answer to your communication of July 3 I wish to advise you that I interviewed several insurance firms relative to fire insurance on the Parental school and have obtained written proposals which are inclosed. Briefly they are as follows:

"Rollins, Burdick & Hunter company, at a rate of 85 cents for five years on $175,000.

"George Herrmann & Co., at a rate of 88 cents for five years on $150,000.

"H. W. Hosmer & Co., at a rate of 88 cents for five years on $200,000.

"H. G. Buswell, at a rate of 88 cents for five years on $50,000.

"Please note that these concerns are competitors of mine; that I have no interest, either directly or indirectly, with any of the firms mentioned. Quoting from your letter: 'If you can obtain rates which will save $1,000 there is no doubt that the board will gladly accept same.'

Board to Take Matter Up.

"I wish to inquire, inasmuch as the saving will amount to a trifle more than $1,000, and as the amount of insurance bid is larger than the amount expiring, if you do not think it would be a fair arrangement to let each of the concerns mentioned above pro rate on the amount expiring, $944.27?"

Capt. Coffin said the matter would be taken up with the board of education.

The policy of securing bids on all school fire insurance was established by Mr. Loeb shortly after he first became president.

AUTO OWNERS, THIEVES, JOIN TO LOOT RISK FIRMS

Full Insurance on Car Is Collected After It Disappears.

Detectives in the employ of the Automobile Protective and Information bureau revealed yesterday a new and highly interesting method of looting insurance companies. Moreover, they claim they have a select list of respected citizens who have cooperated with thieves in "selling it over."

They have cleaned out what they call "a regular nest of 'em." This is the game and the effect:

A man who buys a thousand dollar car can insure it for 100 per cent of its value for the first year. At the end of eleven months, if the car is stolen, he can cash in with the insurance company for $1,000. If he puts the car on the market as a second hand machine he will likely get $500 for it. And there lies the temptation.

The Car Must Vanish.

"Mr. Respected Businessman slips a 'jack' (official title for a youth who steals cars) a small sum of coin to hop into the auto and drive it off. To get the reward the car must vanish. No joy ride adventure will do, for abandoned cars come back.

"The car has to be turned over to actual automobile thieves. They either 'jimmy' the numbers and resell it or, better yet, demolish it.

"If a first class car is literally broken up and junked it never returns and the insurance money is certain. That is why a lot of stolen cars have ceased to exist.

"Rendering Plant" Raided.

One of these "rendering plants" for automobiles was quietly raided the other day. The thieves were caught redhanded, or rather, in this case, greasy handed.

The skeletons of many cars were lying about. One of the thieves, hoping to get "right," has, in the words of the deputies, "given up." He has told a lot of things he knows. And so the bureau, organized to run down auto thieves, has a considerable list of names of men who are first class fellows in their professions; clean in other business dealings.

"You see," said the detective, "maybe the auto owner owes a lot of grocery and meat bills. With his insurance money he can square up, and for $300 or less he can get a new car, balance on payments. He wouldn't hold a gun up and rap him over the head, but with an insurance company—well, he feels differently.

"We've got the goods on a lot of these fellows, and we're going to make them sweat. It will be a revelation when the extent of this game is made public."

A Nice Scheme for New Tires.

There is another nice little scheme that is worked to get new tires.

Women have been known to practice this scheme. In fact, it is said to appeal strangely to women. A tire belongs to so. It's insured. Soon it vanishes. A tire can roll into a river or the lake, or can be burned. The "theft" is formally announced to the police. Innocently they become accomplices. They admit, when the investigator for the insurance company comes around, that the "theft" has been reported. The insurance company pays.

"True, too true," said a vehicle bureau detectives when a doubting reporter asked him if the story was correct. "Looks like any one is foolish to be new."

An Electric Comes Back.

The other day a woman reported the theft of her electric. The insurance investigator called upon her and said:

"O'wan. Folks don't steal electrics. Better find that car tonight."

The lady called up next day and said: "I was so surprised this morning. When I woke I looked out of my window and there stood my machine right in front of the door. Whoever stole it brought it back in the night."

Police Stirred.

Chief Schuettler yesterday detailed many police to catch auto thieves in the loop district. Recently THE TRIBUNE discovered that more automobiles are stolen in Chicago than in any city in the world, and that the most of these are taken in the loop section, and because of this Chicago motorists pay the highest insurance rate in protection against thieves of any people in the world.

These facts, when printed, are believed to have stirred the police to the present campaign.

Phonograph Offered to Entertain Patients

Mrs. Ernest Johnson, 5636 South Kolmar avenue, yesterday offered a phonograph to the "boys" in the tuberculosis cottages at Oak Forest to help them while away the time. They asked THE TRIBUNE yesterday if some one would donate one to relieve the monotonous days of their recuperation. "My phonograph isn't a new one, but it will play," said Mrs. Johnson last night, "and I'd be glad to give it to them. My telephone number is Prospect 3725."

Father Collapses as Son's Body Is Taken from Lake

J. Raymond Schultz, a clerk in Hotel La Salle, suffered a nervous collapse yesterday when he saw the body of his son, Harold Schultz, 9 years old, missing since Saturday, dragged from the lake at Forty-fifth street yesterday. The boy left his home at 4324 Lake Park avenue to go fishing. It was not known where he had gone until a workman reported seeing a boy at the pier near which the body was found.

TOOTER ON TOOT STIRS SOUTH SIDE TO FINE FRENZY

It May Be an Ad for an Auto Horn, but the Name's Missing.

It was such a noise as might have come from a fog horn, or a fire siren, or a noon whistle, or a horse fiddle, or an oboe, or a saxicarnose, or a wyrnie. It was resonant, voluminous, strident, raucous, and tremendous.

It began like the bellow of a dying lion, only it is inconceivable that a lion could die so long or so fearfully. It rose upon the air like the wail of damned souls, but it is not possible any soul ever sinned so copiously as to be capable of such long sustained regret.

It seemed to come from Evanston, from Plano, from Riverside, from Desplaines, from Burr Oak, Dubuque, Ia., and Binghamton, N. Y. Persons residing in the zone of Twenty-second street became alarmed, frantic, and furious. Those living in South Chicago became petulant, peevish, and paralyzed.

The Calls Come In.

As the noise grew in volume the sporting citizens began calling THE TRIBUNE. They wanted to know what it was. They said it sounded like a fire, like a whistle, like the kaiser yelling for help. They wanted to know.

Office boys in THE TRIBUNE developed laryngitis explaining that they didn't know what it was. Still that long, wailing bellow continued. It tootled crescendos, diminuendos, andantes. It screamed and shrieked and shrilled, and rent the very firmament.

Policemen looked up and down and all about. They ran up alleys and met themselves coming out. They developed nervous prostration and poliomyelitis.

A Woman's Behind It.

Finally Policeman McFadden turned the corner of Fifty-fifth street and Cornell avenue. He saw a woman in an automobile. She beckoned him. He approached stealthily, for the demoniac essence of pandemonium seemed to have its source near by.

"What is that racket?" he asked as the perspiration rushed over his face. The woman smiled sadly.

"It's my new auto horn," she said. "It works with an electric button. I pushed it, and I can't stop it."

Moaning, droning, shrieking anew the bedlam continued. McFadden jiggled the starter; he palpitated the pistons, and kidded the carburetor. The people came running for miles around. They suggested and pestered. The streets were blocked.

At Last It Dies.

The policeman threw down his hat in disgust and stood up to ease the crick in his back. As he did so the calamitous bellowing of that infernal horn gave a last, dying, gurgling sob and died.

McFadden stepped over to Jacobowski's tailoring shop and spoke to a woman therein.

"Who's car is that?" he asked.

"What car?"

"The one makin' that noise?"

"O, was there a noise?" she asked sweetly.

TOLL BELL FOR BLACK BEAUTY, BOOKS ALL 'WAR'

Toll the bell for Tattered Tom and Ragged Dick. They've gone to their reward. Bloody Gulch, once the haunt of desperadoes, reeking with powder smoke, echoing with the sound of 44's and the curse of the cattle thief, is no more.

Even poor old Black Beauty is antiquated. All the old traditions of our literary boyhood have been swallowed up by the Boy Scout series, the school and college stories, the books of the battlefield. Joffre, Haig, and the modern heroes hold the juvenile fiction shelves.

"The old ones are gone," said John H. Hopkins of Barse & Hopkins, New York book publishers, who are exhibiting at the annual book fair at the Palmer house. "The submarine captain has replaced the Indian scout. The college athlete is knocking out home runs now where the son of the pioneer used to shoot Indians. 'Bill Jones and the German Spy,' 'The Lighthorse Troop,' and 'The Fire Fighters' hold the trenches now."

In another part of the book fair "Beautiful Joe," a story of a dog by Marshall Saunders, was given a place of honor.

"This is the harvest time for the atlas publishers," said Edward J. Flynn of C. S. Hammond & Co.

FIRST 'TWAS LOVE AND KISSES, THEN GOOD-BY, MAC

Letters of Mr. Maguire Tell How Soulmate Won Him.

Charles C. Maguire, of Lafayette, Ind., is inclined to the suspicion that the soulmate of the species is more deadly than the male; leastwise his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Maguire, voiced this for him yesterday when she obtained a divorce before Judge Thomsen by showing how Charles resisted the entangling antennae of the loving devil-fish but was overcome.

They had been married but two days succeeding April 5, 1915, when Maguire left his wife and returned to Lafayette. He wrote his wife five letters. In the first he explained how he was fighting off the fascination that held him to the "other woman." In the next three letters he slipped sadly, and in the fifth he just plain flopped.

How He Did It.

Here is how he set forth to slay the monster of infidelity:

"My Darling: I saw the other woman last night and I now have a settlement under way. She would have called yesterday only she didn't have her bank book at home. Now don't you worry. Just keep quiet and everything will be O. K. Love your ever loving Mac."

Then he bolstered up his courage with this:

"My Darling Wife: Here I am at home and very lonesome. I am blue tonight and I will tell you why. Of course you know my mind has been full the last few days wondering about you, our future, and what the outcome will be. But I love you.

"You have a beautiful home and everything nice and comfy, and it really makes me shiver to think of taking you into a home where 'plain folks' live, and I almost get cold feet, for I am afraid you will be discontented and will blame me, and that would bring heartaches.

"Your devoted (Mac."

Frames an Out.

And now he begins to "frame himself an out":

"My Darling: Your letter added to my misery. I want you here bad enough. God knows I do, but I am in such a mess! Why did you tell me were married? We had agreed to keep it quiet for three months. Now I'm nearly crazy thinking how I can get out of this mess.

"Love and kisses from your. Mac."

The tide was beginning to rise in this one:

"Dearest: I write tonight with a heavy heart. I don't know what to do about Miss F. I don't know what she is going to do if she hears. I am in a difficult position. Mac."

Love Her? Well, Hardly!

And then he breaks the bad news, using her maiden name:

"Miss Schwartz: I am taking a step that will, no doubt, cause you some distress. I don't love you and I never can. Your coming here would only add misery.

"You will simply understand that I don't care for you.

"I am leaving Lafayette tonight for parts unknown and I hope never to return. Good-by. Mac."

HIS WIFE THREW THINGS AND TOOK HIS CAR, HE SAYS

Herbert L. Brown, sales manager at 29 South La Salle street, filed suit for a divorce in the Circuit court yesterday against Mrs. Nettie M. Brown of La Grange, charging her with extreme cruelty.

The bill alleges that Mrs. Brown threw a pair of shears and a vase at her husband and would have thrown a quart of milk that was wrapped in a bottle if he had not stopped her. It is also alleged that she is extravagant in money matters, and that on the glorious Fourth she took Brown's motor car and now holds it at a ransom of $300.

"It's the city's biggest joke," said Mrs. Brown last night. "That man is a fanatic. But we've always had trouble and I'm glad he is going to get a divorce."

She refused to discuss the automobile allegation.

MY DEAR, WE MEN ARE GOING TO BE JUST TOO LOVELY

BY LUCY CALHOUN.

"Every man an Adonis" is the slogan of the National Association of Clothing Designers, meeting at the Congress this week.

Styles? My dear, you should have seen them. Regiments of coats nicely fitted to jersey covered forms and ranged in a mystic circle in the gold room.

"But where are the trousers?" I asked my guide.

"Sh!" he said mysteriously. "That's a secret. There's to be a parade of live man models on Saturday morning and until then the latest things in trousers will not be exhibited. I can only tell you now that we're going to cut off the cuffs. The rest is to be the big surprise."

The coats were wonderful, but what is to become of the fat man I don't know, for the coats are cut "form fitting," and if a fat man gets one of the slim things he'll die either of strangulation or shame. The reason for the slimness was explained as being a desire for something a "little military."

The sports coats are to keep their belts and pockets, too, apparently, although there is to be a shortage of these on other coats in accordance with a request from the national council of defense, which has asked the tailors to conserve wool by eliminating flaps, lapels, reveres, or whatever it is they call them in men's clothes, as well as the other things.

"What about evening coats?"

"Another surprise," he replied, "Just wait till Saturday," and he led me in to see the overcoats, great, belted trench coats for the young men, and more conventional styles for the man of 50."

Gross Point Blind Pig Keepers in Trouble Again

Albert Zeutschell and Peter Boore, alleged blind pig keepers of Gross Point, raided last night by internal revenue agents, in the campaign of Justice Harry M. Bartlett of Evanston against illicit liquor sellers, were ordered to appear today in the office of the collector of internal revenue and show why they have no license to sell liquors.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

An editorial in THE TRIBUNE of June 30, headed "Son of a Gun," was by way of complimenting Chief of Police Schuettler on his regulation of Independence-Day noises. In arguing that the detonator known as the sonofagun was misnamed in the belief that the word was of military derivation, the editorial said: "You will search the dictionaries in vain for 'son of a gun'; and yet you will find under 'gun' the subsidiary meaning" [of "gun"]. This was quoted: "In thieves' dialect, a thief or pickpocket."

Letters come to protest, first, that dictionaries do carry "son of a gun," and, also, that there is good slang descent for the term as one having in its origin a regard for thieves. The Funk & Wagnalls [the standard] dictionary, under "gun," gives this: "Son of a gun [Slang], a rogue; rascal: a humorous epithet of irrequent and familiar application," and adds the suggestion that the term originally was "son of a gonoph." "Gonoph" is Yiddish for thief, and is one of the most familiar of Judeo-Deutsch words to achieve a measure of comic currency in American speech.

One of the writers gives the origin as of old-English bawdry.

A Tuesday editorial, called "Doing the Soldier Good," spoke of "our own simon pure American passion for regulating other people's habits." A reader writes to confess inability "to get a line on 'simon pure,'" and says: "Not even in THE TRIBUNE have I ever seen the expression used twice in any one of several forms. Who or what was the Simon whose purity is become an adjective of traditional quality?"

THE TRIBUNE usage of Tuesday was a loose and easy adaptation of the correct locution, which is "real Simon Pure." It comes down from Mrs. Centlivre's old-English comedy of "A Bold Stroke for a Fortune." A young Pennsylvania Quaker, Simon Pure, is betrothed to an English girl of wealth. The adventurers of the play, scheming to get her money through marriage, plot for her to become the wife of one of their number, who poses as Simon Pure, he having been delayed in arrival for the ceremony. The denouement of the comedy of his belated appearance, heralded by the words: "Here is the real Simon Pure!"

FRIENDS FOR 68 YEARS NOW TO MARRY AT 73

After sixty-eight years of a friendship which began when the couple were 5 years old, William T. Wetmore, aged 73, 7043 Lowe avenue, is to marry Mrs. Marion Wetmore, his brother's widow, also 73 years old.

Mr. Wetmore is a civil war veteran and has been a widower for about thirteen years. Mrs. Wetmore has been a widow for eight. Although he does not know just how soon the wedding will be, Mr. Wetmore wishes to give his old friend and sweetheart the benefit of his pension.

"I will die before she does," he said last night, "and I want her to have it." Both of them have grown children of their own and both of them are living with their children at present.

"I know people think we are foolish," said Mr. Wetmore. "But both of us are lonely. We've known each other a long time and we don't care what people think. We want a little home to have for our own for the few years of life that may be left to us."

PARKING LAW STAYS 4 TO 7

A majority of the council committee on local transportation yesterday twice refused to entertain amendments to the recent automobile ordinance which forbids the parking of motors in the loop during the rush hour periods. In both instances the vote was four yeas to six nays.

Representatives of downtown hotels, led by Joseph Beifeld of the Hotel Sherman, protested against the measure. They declared it prohibited motorists from eating at their places in the evening.

Ald. M. A. Michaelson, administration floor leader, moved to amend by substituting the hour of 4:30 to 6:30 instead of 4 to 7, as the measure now provides. The roll call on this motion was:

Yeas—Healy, Michaelson, Toman, and Thomas J. Lynch—4.

Nays—Nnance, Smith, Walkowiak, Lipps, Watson, and Fisher—6.

Ald. Toman then attempted to have the measure amended by providing the period of 4 to 6:30, but was defeated.

MRS. NEUBERT STILL IS LOYAL TO HIS PURSE

Dr. W. L. Neubert, Lake Forest dentist, was telling yesterday about the difficulties existing between himself and wife when his son, William, age 11, arrived with a message. Before the message is read, however, let it be said that Mrs. Neubert is in armed possession of the family citadel, while the doctor is temporarily staying at the home of Chief of Police James Gordon of Lake Forest.

"Why, she threatened to make me impossible in Lake Forest," declared the doctor.

"Message from mother," interrupted William Jr. at this moment, and the message read as follows:

"Expect $80 from you by Friday at 12 o'clock. Otherwise I shall stay in the Deerpath Inn at Lake Forest, as I am not going into Chicago with only $20. Expect full amount of $400 by Saturday."

Dr. Neubert was nonplused. He ran a nervous hand through his rumpled hair and heaved a heavy sigh. Mrs. Neubert, he says, has threatened to bring a separate maintenance suit against him, chiefly because he called the kaiser a crook.

Mrs. Neubert, who confessed yesterday she was "Baroness" Helene Baukal before her marriage, declares he called her a "pig" in the presence of his clients. For the present son William is neutral. Some customers paid their bills in the dentist's office yesterday while Mrs. Neubert was absent, and William took the money to his father.

There's a glimmer of peace, however, according to Mrs. Neubert. She says an heir is expected, and for this reason, she asserts, she will forget all differences.

"It's up to my husband to make the next move when he reads what I've said today," she declared.

Child Kills Himself with Gun Found in Yard

While playing with a rusty revolver found in the rear of a building at 11824 Eggleston avenue, Walter Franski, 7 years old, 12251 Lowe avenue, shot himself below the heart and died in the Pullman hospital yesterday.

BUSY TAGGERS GATHER $4,000; PURPOSE VAGUE

Red Cross Says None of the Money Is for That Organization.

Charity covers a multitude of things, and it might have been the alpha and omega of the tag day of the Independent Sisters of Charity in the loop yesterday if some inquisitive individuals had not insisted on knowing the prospective destination of their nickels and dimes before they parted with them.

Money was the aim and purpose of it all, and the method of getting it sometimes—not always—was through the expedient of seizing the prospective victim's coat lapel and holding with firm grip until a coin was deposited in the tag day box.

Coy smiles and teasing phrases served now and then to break through the resistance of obstreperous persons where the lapel treatment failed in its purpose.

Protests Registered.

Protests against the lapel method of selling tags were made to THE TRIBUNE.

Mrs. Henry Sherry of 6000 Dorchester boulevard, president of the organization, gathered her tag day workers in the Douglas Park auditorium last night. Almost 700 of them there were—girls very young with hair scarcely out of braids and women of years. They had received between $3,000 and $4,000, said Mrs. Sherry.

With her were Mrs. Charles Gutstadt, assistant manager of the day; Mrs. B. Shackman, director of tag workers, and Mrs. Louis A. Shedroff, publicity manager.

"This money," said Mrs. Sherry, "goes to the Red Cross to a fund for aiding destitute mothers and newborn babies, and some of it goes to our own organization."

"How much goes in each direction?" she was asked.

"I'll tell you tomorrow when we know how much we collected."

Mrs. Sherry explained that the Independent Sisters of Charity, who are not known by the Association of Commerce or recognized charitable societies of the city, was incorporated in 1906 and is a long standing association in Chicago.

But——

The money collected yesterday was not for the Red Cross, officials of that organization say.

It was not for the Jewish Aid society or the Jewish Home Founding society, or the Jewish Anti-Tuberculosis society, say officials of those societies.

"Never Heard of Them."

"Never heard of them," said Gustav Hockstadter, last year's treasurer of the Jewish Aid society. "And I know every recognized organization in Chicago."

"I know of them," said Miss Minna Low, a department superintendent of the Jewish Aid society. "The greatest evil in Chicago today," she continued, "are the dozens of unauthorized and unknown charitable projects engaged in raising funds from whatever source possible.

"The city council is asked to grant a permit for a tag day, and it does it because powerful influences are brought to bear.

"In a few inches of newspaper space one cannot tell the evils of this lax method of handling philanthropic matters in Chicago, but the utmost safeguards and the closest supervision should be thrown around these matters."

The permit for yesterday's tag day was granted by the city council two months ago. It is one of many such permits that have been granted this year, turning droves of charity workers loose in the loop district.

MANY DISABLED SEEK HELP FROM WORK COMMITTEE

Announcement that the committee for employment of handicapped people would seek to find work for those who are suffering from physical disabilities has brought many applications to Austin A. Burnham, secretary. A number of employers have written to the committee promising to give work to those whose capacity is limited through misfortune.

One of the applicants is unable to leave a wheel chair, but can use his hands. He and his family are having a hard struggle, he writes, because of his difficulty in making a livelihood.

Many of the applicants have lost an arm, or a leg, some are deaf, and one has been stricken with paralysis, but all could do something, they believe, if given an opportunity. Age is another handicap under which many are suffering.

Mr. Burnham's address is 1800 North American building. The organization is connected with the committee on unemployment, of which Charles G. Dawes is chairman. Mr. Burnham believes that war conditions will make it possible to use cripples in many capacities.

TALE OF PARTING, LOVE, JAIL, AND MYSTERY IN ADS

For several days the following "personal" has been appearing in the want ad columns of THE TRIBUNE:

FRED: SUSPENSE IS MORE THAN I CAN bear. Please write. WIFEY.

Yesterday the following reply was sent to it:

WIFEY SEEKING FRED CALL KENSIN 1080.

"I want to see if the Fred in question is one I know," explained the man who inserted the second ad.

"Where is he?" was asked.

"In jail," was the reply.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—White Georgette crêpe trimmed with turquoise colored velvet ribbons—perhaps at one time we should have thought this almost too radical a thing in which to dream. Yet this is a mild type of garment in a year when every lingerie designer has bonded himself with the rainbow.

As a matter of fact, this same garment is offered in black Georgette with turquoise ribbons, and if you happen to have a travedienne's temperament or sleeping car habits the Hamlet nightie may appeal.

Perhaps the most impressive bit of news about late Paris lingerie is that some of it is made of Chantilly trimmed with rococo roses, and already some of these cobwebs have floated over to our shores. Even black Chantilly has been tried out and the general rule is, be as diaphanous as thy purse can buy. Princess slips are again to the fore and some of these are built on moyenage lines.

Real Love Stories

The Medicine Man.

MARIE'S mother had arranged the match, and the little town felt that she had done well; for was not James Thompson the wealthiest farmer in the county? They forgot that James was 45, hard, calculating, totally unsentimental; the sort who simply wanted a woman to look after his house and his personal comfort. One woman would do as well as another. And Marie was a dainty, golden haired sprite of a girl, passionately fond of her books and her music, a creature made to be loved.

We, her girl friends, felt that it was all a dreadful mistake, but it seemed inevitable, for the wedding was to take place in two weeks, and Marie, who had never known real love, seemed to be willing. Then the medicine show came to town.

As there were few amusements in our little village, the best of the young people gathered around the wagon platform to hear the songs of the Negro minstrel and the really good jokes and speeches of the vendor. Although he was a "show man," a character looked upon with suspicion in a small town, he was an unusually likeable young chap.

The next day our liking turned to anger when we heard that the "show man" had noticed Marie in the crowd and had dared to fall in love with her. He had said that she was meant for him; that the other man could not possibly love her as he did; that he would not leave town without her. And he didn't. Two days before the date set for her wedding Marie disappeared with the medicine man.

Of course the town held up its hands in horror and prophesied all sorts of dire things, and perhaps rightfully, too. But this time it all ended as it does in books. For five years later she returned the wife of a successful theatrical manager, of whom it is said that he loves only two things better than his work: the wife, who had so much faith in him when he was only a medicine man, and their little golden haired daughter. Finding a Correspondent.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young man aged 16 and would like to correspond with a young lady about that age. Do you think you could help me in this matter? MARTIN."

Have you some particular young lady in mind? Or do I understand that you want me to find a correspondent for you? This I could not do. I am sorry to say, because it would be assuming a tremendous responsibility were I to attempt to introduce people to each other in this way. I am sure that if you are a desirable young man you will not have trouble in getting girls interested in you. How about it, Martin?

Yes, if They're Nice.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a steady reader of your column in THE DAILY TRIBUNE and I like you and your sayings very well. I have a question in mind and am going to ask your advice.

Is it proper for two girls aged 15 and 16 to go out riding in the afternoon with two high school friends 17 and 18 years old? ALICE AND GRACE.

What do your mothers say about it, girls? The answer would, of course, depend on the kind of boys with whom you go riding. If they are thoroughly nice, wholesome chaps, it would be all right to go for a ride now and then.

Difference in Age No Barrier.

"Dear Miss Blake: I need your kind advice, which I hope you will give me, as I see you advise so many other girls and boys. I am 21 years old and have gone with a nice manly boy a long time. The other day he asked for the longed for 'yes.' Now, I love him better than any boy I every knew, but he is nine years my senior. My parents think our ages too far apart, but I think as long as we love each other we could live happily, don't you? Or do you think he is too old for me? PEG."

If you two love each other, the difference in age should not be allowed to interfere with your happiness. In your particular case, it does not seem as though it should make any difference at all.

Choosing Her Work.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have enjoyed reading your articles in THE TRIBUNE very much. I am a girl of 16 years old, still going to school. As I have to earn my own living next year, I don't know what work to begin, so I come to you for my horoscope, as I thought it might help me choose my life's occupation. I was born Sept. 1, 1901. MILDRED."

Please send me a stamped, addressed envelope, and I will be glad to mail your horoscope to you. It's too long to print here.

"The Tribune" will pay $5 for every real love story published. If you know one, submit it, and write no more than 300 words. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago. No manuscripts returned. If you have a perplexing love affair upon which you need the counsel of a friend, write Doris Blake. Send stamped, addressed envelope if you wish personal reply.

The Successful Home Garden

This department will appear daily and Sunday in "The Tribune." Inquiries from readers desiring thrift gardens, backyard and back yard gardens to decrease the cost of living should be addressed to The Garden Editor.

Article 121.

SOW NOW: Early green and wax pod beans, garden beets, early sweet corn, head lettuce, summer and winter radishes, early kohlrabi, and field turnips.

TRANSPLANT NOW: Early red cabbage as "catch crop," Savoy cabbage, self-bleaching and green celery, summer endive, kohlrabi, head lettuce, and rutabagas.

Early Ohio potatoes may safely be planted this week—the last chance.

The Tussock Moth.

The foliage of shade, apple, and other fruit trees is beginning to show the belated depredations of the tussock moth's caterpillar. If not attended to these handsome pests will entirely denude the trees and sometimes even eat into the fruit. The linden tree is their special prey, but it is likely that the leaves of apple trees, maples, hawthorns, and roses have been partly eaten even now by the brood that was hatched in this vicinity within the last two weeks.

The larvae or caterpillars are now a quarter to a half inch long and will grow to perhaps one and one-half inches this month. A second brood will be hatched about July 20 if the summer is warm. They are easily identified with their distinctive markings: a bright red head with two long black plumes, an amber colored body with three dark stripes and four white tufts on the back, another upright plume at the hind end; long hairs are scattered along the entire body.

As soon as any are found, generally on the under side of the leaves, the trees named above should be promptly sprayed on a calm day with a solution in the proportion of one ounce of arsenate of lead (a deadly poison) to twelve and one-half pints of water, taking care to cover the under side of the leaves—in large operations, four pounds to 100 gallons. Three or four weeks later a careful scrutiny of the leaves will determine if another application is required.

Of the parents the male moth has prettily marked ash-gray wings, which spread to about one and one-quarter inches across, while the fat, light gray-ish female is wingless. She deposits from 300 to 500 eggs within a white, frothy mass, on the bark of trees or on the cocoon from which she emerged.

The white mass is quite prominent. It becomes hard and brittle as it dries. Hence, the trees and shrub named should be looked over during July and August and again in winter, all possible egg masses broken off and destroyed to diminish the harm done by the hatch of next August and that of the following spring. A stiff wire hook, attached to the end of a bamboo rod and used like a scraper, will serve well for this purpose.

Sue Funkhouser to Lift the Bars on Pickford Film

By Mae Tinée.

MANDAMUS proceedings were instituted yesterday by Attorney Charles P. Schwarz in the interests of the Aircraft company to compel the city to allow showings of "The Little American."

Much bitterness is felt by the producers against Chicago's peculiar censor, for it is declared that having positively given his word in the presence of a number of witnesses to pass the picture provided George Creel, press censor of the United States, said it was all right, he resigned. When a telegram from the eastern office announcing Creel's approbation was shown to Funkhouser, he said, explosively:

"And who the — is George Creel? His wings have been clipped already."

"It is only what might have been expected, however," said an official of the Paramount company, "for when we were showing 'The Jaguar's Claw' we had a similar experience. Maj. Funkhouser threw up his hands. 'I can't pass it,' he said, 'but if Frank Ayers of the corporation counsel's office says it's all right—I'll let it go through.'

"Mr. Ayers saw the picture and approved it without a change. We went gleefully to the major. He said to Mr. Ayers:

"'You'd make a d—d fine censor,' and turned the picture back again to a pair of censors who, with him, had agreed it was not for Chicago to see."

It is averred by the producing company that the entire censor board, eliminating the gentleman at the head, is favorably disposed toward "The Little American." Within the near future an invitation performance will be given to which Chicago's leading citizens will be invited. They will be requested to ballot as to whether they think Chicago should be deprived of seeing a splendid picture which practically every other town, large and small, will display unhampered by a voice of authority saying:

"We can't show anything that would offend a FRIENDLY nation."

The petition states that President Wilson in the declaration of war said the purpose was to assist in the complete destruction of the Prussian militaristic system. Nearly $300,000 has been spent in making the picture and there will be a heavy loss if no permit is issued.

The petition also alleges that the play is one that will encourage enlisting. The suit will be assigned today for hearing.

WHAT CREEL SAYS.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—"The Little American" is warmly commended by the committee on public information, of which George Creel is chairman. It is pronounced not anti-German but a severe arraignment of the character of the Prussian autocracy which America is fighting. Funkhouser asked Creel to pass judgment on the film, which was run off yesterday here. Creel sent the following telegram:

"Washington, D. C., July 4.—Maj. Funkhouser, city hall, Chicago: Have just seen film picture entitled 'The Little American.' See nothing in it to justify refusal of permit and feel strongly that picture should be shown.

"GEORGE CREEL,
"Chairman Committee on Public Information."

'Her' Excellency vs. His Excellency and the 'Interests'

"HER EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR"

Produced by Triangle.
Directed by Gilbert Lubin.

THE CAST.

The Governor, James Barclay.....Wilfred Lucas
Sylvia Marlowe.....Elda Miller
Joe Keller.....Joseph Kilgour
Politicians, secretaries, etc.

By Mae Tinée.

SHE was "Her Excellency, the Governor" for a period covering, say, one hour, but in that time—O, my!

Wilfred Lucas, despite the "her" in the caption, is governor most of the time the story is unfolding. He is a pleasant and, presumably, efficient executive, with high personal ideals, uncomfortably prevented from carrying out those ideals by the parties who have elected him, namely, the interests whose tool his election has proved to him he is.

Since his college days when he and a certain girl graduated from the law school, the governor has loved the certain girl, Sylvia Marlowe. With each step of progress he has requested her to marry him. A successful lawyer herself, and, on the side, secretary for the society for prevention of cruelty to children, she has each time refused him, seeing him develop into a man to whom success means more than honor. At her request he promises to sign the bill abolishing child labor.

The interests, learning of his promise, send their agent, Boss Keller. "No re-election," says the boss, "unless you veto this measure."

The governor, accordingly, vetoes.

Whereat Miss Marlowe, becoming exceedingly busy, manages to get herself elected lieutenant governor.

Everything progresses beautifully until a certain bill of vital importance in the affairs of the nation comes to the governor. He is ordered to veto it by the interests. The lieutenant governor, however, using her woman's wit, gets the governor out of the state, and while he is gone exercises her brief authority by signing the bill.

The interests land on her with a vengeance. The governor lands on the interests, and experiences a reawakening of idealism. We leave two happy state officials exchanging vows of eternal fealty.

While the picture may be overdrawn in places—for instance the bill spoken of last—the story is interesting and all the acting is good. As is the case in most Wilfred Lucas productions, it will probably be a drawing card.

ASK ME! ASK ME!

MABEL M.: You mean Eddie Lyons. Following is the cast of "Panthea": Panthea Romoff, Norma Talmadge; Baron de Dinsitor, Roger Lytton; Gerard Mordant, Earle Fox; prefect of police, George Fawcett; Ivan Romoff, Norbert Wicki; Serge, Jack Meredith; secret agent, Murdock McQuarrie; music master, Henry Tjorpe; Dr. Von Reichstadt, Frank Currier; the failure, J. S. Furey. Yes, I enjoy my work vurr much. I would never try to guess a woman's age. You are not so very old, though, are you?

JUST A MOVIE FAN: All right. You watch!

READER: I have an article which fully explains the doubling process which I shall be delighted to mail you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

DAN C.: Thanks for the fish. Lucky I haven't a hearty appetite, isn't it?

TOODLES—Awfully glad to have heard from you again. What were you afraid of? In "Seventeen," Madge Evans took the part you mention. 1909. Not any more. A letter addressed to Miss Evans, care of the World Film company, Fort Lee, N. Y., will reach her. Twwkkum.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

My husband brought home a large bunch of bananas and suspended it from the ceiling in the pantry. Billy, the youngest of the children, could not reach the lowest banana, and when his taller sister reached for one Billy said to her, "Me tan't reach one, but me tan reach you; give me one." C. S. F.

Betty's mother, in the evening of June 21, said: "Betty, do you know this is the longest day of the year?"

"Well," replied Betty, "I thought there was something wrong with it, for I never got so hungry between meals as I did today." T. B. B.

I was solicitous about bumping Buddy's broken arm, which was, of course, in a cast. He answered: "Aw! that didn't hurt; you could hit this with a hammer and not hurt it. When I get to be a soldier I'm going to have this plaster all over me." J. A. M.

Orange Chips.

BUSINESS as usual means afternoon tea as usual, though we cut the number of kinds of sandwiches in half, cut out the nuts, which have such an extremely large number of food units as foods that they should not be indulged in at light repasts, and cut out the cake.

Is it not a queer thing that the afternoon tea supplies are every one foods which are higher in food value than meat and potatoes? A small pat of butter yields 100 food units; one single ounce of nuts may yield 200 food units; bread yields about 75 food units per ounce; almost any cake over 100 food units an ounce; crackers about 125 an ounce, and candy just as high. We take all these things when we are not in the need of food, but possibly in the need of something of quench thirst, which the tea proper is supposed to do, though none of the actual foods eaten along with it are thirst quenchers.

Stem ginger is largely replacing crystallised ginger. The candied peels of commerce are no longer crystallised. Our orange chips to go with the afternoon tea are more palatable if they are soft instead of hard. They are made rather hard, and soon dry up, if they are cooked in a syrup which is cooked away. If, instead, they are steamed in the syrup, they are sweet and soft and they do not quickly harden.

Cook the orange skins in plain water until soft or until a straw will pierce them, then cut them up into fine strips and cook them in a syrup made of plain water instead of that in which they were cooked, and twice as much sugar as water. When this is at syrup stage put in the peel, cover the pan, and cook over a tiny bit of fire until they are saturated. Take out, drain, and sprinkle with a little sugar or not.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

Pathetic Tea Garden to Swell Red Cross Fund

Miss Catherine Costello

Miss Catherine Costello, a visitor from Cavour, S. D., has for the last few weeks been the guest of Miss Elizabeth Costello and Miss Mary Costello of 915 East Forty-second place and has been the guest of honor at a number of pretty parties.

Some of the town of Winnetka will have a new meaning to week-end motorists after this Sunday. The north shore suburb is to be dotted by the weekly tea garden, a charitable institution which is to come into existence every Sunday afternoon at the estate along Sheridan road and Elm street, conducted by a group of north shore society women, who will turn over all the proceeds to the Red Cross.

The tea garden this week will be found on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Heyliger de Windt, which is on the motor highway near Elm street, and will be open from 3 until 6 o'clock. Cold soft drinks will be sold at reasonable prices, it is announced, and there will be cookies and other goodies to be found there. The guests will be seated at gay little tables about the lawn and a number of society girls of the north shore will act as waitresses and passersby, not ony for the benefit of Winnetka. On each Sunday afternoon during the summer the refreshments will be found at a different place along the road, and there will be a special invited up early each Sunday morning to act as guides to the spot chosen for that day for selling the refreshments.

Those in charge of the Sunday afternoon tea garden are Mrs. Donald F. McCormick, chairman; Miss Harriot Ackerman, Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Lawrence Blow, Mrs. Francis P. Butler, and Mrs. F. Stoddard Cheney.

Added news about the dog show to be held at the Edgewater Beach hotel on Friday and Saturday, July 13 and 14 is the word that trophies have been offered by Mrs. Prentiss L. Cooney, who is staging an English sheep dog. Gray Overgreen; Mrs. Alexander H. Revell, Mrs. Joseph A. Roach, Mrs. Harry N. Easson, Mrs. Blanche Watson, Mrs. Carl Casselman, Otto Lehmann, and the Illinois Humane Protective Association of Chicago.

Mrs. Thomas of Hamilton, Mass., and Mrs. G. Hopton of New York will receive under the dash.

Mrs. Frederick V. Burnham will give a tea this next Monday afternoon in her new studio in the Fine Arts building to mark the opening of her school of expression.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Gladys Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas of the Ardsley, to C. Luther White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton White of 4500 Dorchester avenue. No date has been set for the wedding.

Interesting statistics about the fashionable sets of the country have come out in the new report of the people who love the social register. The most conspicuous figures are those which are affected by the war; for instance, there is an increase of 25 per cent in the marriages of the three months beginning April 1 over those of a year ago. Notwithstanding the fears that might have been felt about living along the coast in wartime, it is reported that the number of those who have taken seaside summer residences is as great as ever.

About the same number of people are cruising on their yachts as during the summer of 1916, although many private craft are noted as having been offered and accepted as auxiliaries for the United States service. Departures for Europe are, of course, dwindling, and the number of society men now in officers' training camps forms an enormous and unique new list in the statistics columns.

Lake Forest Again on Red Cross Job

Lake Forest cheerfully shouldered its burden of war work yesterday after Wednesday's holiday, and the Red Cross was busy all day long. One of its most enthusiastic and faithful leaders carried her energies to "fields and pastures new," when Mrs. Morse Ely left for her summer cottage at Biddeford Pool. Mrs. A. A. Sprague 2d is taking a family of little children for a few weeks to the same place, but in both instances their aid for the Red Cross is merely temporarily transferred to the Maine coast.

Mrs. A. B. Dick invited Mrs. Leeds Gerhardt, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. William T. Martin, Mrs. George McClintock, Mrs. Edward Pollock, Mrs. Samuel Chase, and Mrs. Frank Letts to meet her house guest, Mrs. Clark of Pass Christian, Miss., at luncheon yesterday.

Women Back Chautauquas.

Many women are working for the success of the chautauquas which are to be held in Chicago the latter part of July. The North End club, the Ridge Side Woman's club, and the Nineteenth Century club of Oak Park are busy with the sale of tickets on all parts of the city. Former President William J. Bryan, Congresswoman Jeannette Rankin, Creatore, and his band, and a production of "The Mikado" are some of the star attractions offered. The chautauquas are to be held in tents seating from 3,000 to 4,000 people. The north side tent will be located next to the Edgewater Beach hotel, while the south side one will be erected near the Chicago Beach hotel. The chautauquas will run in three consecutive days and then simultaneously for seven days.

The Ridge Park Travel club, of which Mrs. Willard H. James is president, is opening its rooms open all summer. The club will meet once a week in the Methodist church to sew for the Red Cross and for the children at the Geneva Holiday home.

SOCIETY IN THE EAST

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt of 405 Park avenue has gone to Lenox, Mass., where she will spend several weeks with Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

Mrs. James Tolman Pyle and her daughter, Miss Adelia McAlpin Pyle, have closed their apartments at 11 East Sixty-eighth street, and are now at their country estate in Morristown, N. J.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Colgate of 306 West Seventy-sixth street of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace H. Colgate, to Lieut. David S. Rumbough, U. S. A., son of the late Col. D. J. Rumbough. Miss Colgate is a sister of Miss Florence H. Colgate, whose engagement to Maj. Edwin St. J. Greble Jr. was announced last week. Lieut. Rumbough was graduated from West Point with the 1917 class and is now with Gen. Pershing in France. No arrangements have been made for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Astor Bristed are entertaining a house party at their villa in Lenox, Mass., in honor of their daughters, the Misses M. S. Bristed and C. E. G. Bristed.

Miss Polly Lincoln was presented to society Wednesday at a luncheon party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Lincoln, at their summer home in Greenwich, Conn. A number of next season's debutantes were among the guests. Miss Lincoln is a sister of Miss Florence Lincoln, whose engagement to William A. Rockefeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rockefeller, was recently announced.

Mrs. C. Ledyard Blair and her daughter, Miss Marie Louise Blair, of Bernardsville, N. J., are at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

"Thais" Tonight in Ravinia.

Marguerite Berisa, whose singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" on the night of July 4 evoked from the capacity-plus audience in Ravinia Park an uncommon demonstration, will reappear tonight in the title-part of Massenet's "Thais," which will then be sung for the first time this season. Berisa's Thais was, perhaps, the most popular item of last summer in Ravinia. Her associates tonight will be Salvatore Giordano, the Italian tenor who made his first appearance in this neighborhood in Tuesday night's repetition of "Lucia"; Morton Adkins, and Cordelia Latham. Richard Hageman will conduct. In this afternoon's concert by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, under Gennaro Papi, Miss May Peterson, contralto, will sing the familiar "O! Don Fatale" aria from Verdi's "Don Carlos," and Miss Rose Lyon, pianist, will play a group by Rameau-MacDowell, Debussy, and Liszt.

Defense Women Install Question Boxes for Public

ANYBODY who wants to know what the woman's committee, council of national defense, is doing and why does not have to wait to "see somebody" about it. All that is necessary is to write the question on a bit of paper and drop it into one of the question boxes either at 120 West Adams street or 60 East Madison street and it will shortly be answered.

One of the things which the woman's committee is doing is in connection with the work of Charles Weller for the recreation and welfare of soldiers. The Woman's Church federation, cooperating with the committee, has invited all the church women of the Hyde Park district to meet at 120 West Adams street this afternoon to hear Mr. Weller explain his work and tell them how they can help. Miss Harriet Vittum will also speak.

Mrs. Lambert O. Wile, chairman of the lecture extension department of the committee, announces a meeting of the department for Wednesday morning.

"KNIT" is the word from the Red Cross classroom at 67 East Madison street. When you have knitted a dozen pair of socks fail to and knit another dozen and keep on knitting. There's to be no let up apparently. Word was received from Washington yesterday that in order to ascertain the immediate needs which our Red Cross undertake to supply in France H. P. Davidson, chairman of the war council, cabled to H. H. Harjes of the firm of Morgan, Harjes & Co. to confer with the French authorities and cable the result.

A plea for 400,000 pairs of socks was the answer. Other things badly needed are: Fifty new motor ambulance sections and twenty-three small cars plus two trucks and men to drive them. One thousand wheelbarrows with rubber tires are also asked for and 5,000 nurses, male and female. Twenty thousand flannel waistcoats, 30,000 woolen pea jackets, 30,000 woolen trousers, and 200,000 blankets are some of the other items.

Double Chins Give Away to Neck Exercises

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks, or how she added twenty pounds to the weight of Miss Helena Bernotis weight, or how she corrected a head of dry, thin, falling hair and an oily scalp with dandruff, or the article on treating Miss Hill's complexion for pimples and blackheads, send a stamped, addressed envelope and the information will be mailed to you. Any other questions pertaining to beauty and hygiene will be gladly answered.

MRS. WILLIAM O.: A GOOD EXercise for the prevention of a double chin is to stand erect and twist the head first to one side, then to the other, stretching in each direction just as far as possible. Then drop the chin slowly on the collar bone. Follow this with a quick movement that is not a jerk. This brings all the muscles into play. Repeat ten times night and morning, gradually increasing to fifty times. You can also massage your chin. I shall be glad to send you my instructions for massaging the chin if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

LESLIE: BY KEEPING THE PORES of the skin free from dust and dirt and applying either alcohol or witch hazel on the skin a couple of times a day the pores will gradually contract. This is a simple lotion for enlarged pores: Rose water, six ounces; elder flower water, two ounces; simple tincture of benzoin, one-half ounce; tannic acid, ten drams. I have formulas for both an excellent cleansing cream and a skin food. Please send me stamped, addressed envelope.

MOTHER: THE DELETERIOUS INfluence of child bearing upon the mother's teeth is insufficient care. This does not mean necessarily that expectant mothers become careless of their teeth. But the ordinary care given teeth frequently becomes insufficient in the pregnant state. The teeth at this time are more susceptible to injurious influences than under ordinary circumstances. The local care consists in establishing a hygienic condition of the mouth. The teeth should be brushed after every meal with a reliable antiseptic tooth brush. Medicinal doses of calcium are frequently given under the circumstances, but this advice should come from your dentist, who should be visited early and frequently. I have instructions on mouth hygiene that will aid you. Send stamped, addressed envelope if you wish them.

JEAN: I KNOW OF FEW THINGS that are more healthful than swimming. It is a perfect exercise for women, in that it develops where development is needed and reduces all excesses. In order to swim well you must breathe correctly, and that in itself is almost an assurance of beauty. Swimming also helps the circulation as perhaps nothing else can and good circulation means a clear, rosy complexion.

OBITUARY.

HARRISON H. ARMS, president and principal owner of the Arms Palace Horse Car company, died yesterday at the home of Mrs. C.W. Carey, a niece, in Marshall, Mich. His body will be cremated in Detroit and the ashes taken to Toledo for burial tomorrow. He leaves a widow and one sister. The Arms home in Chicago is at 2245 South Michigan avenue.

GEORGE M. COWAN, of Oak Park, consulting engineer, and for many years well known in Chicago and different parts of the country as a leading electrical and mechanical engineer, died early yesterday at St. Luke's hospital, after an illness of five weeks. He was born in 1847. As a mere boy he enlisted in the Civil war and completed the four years. He was formerly connected with the Congress hotel. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. from St. Ignatius church, Loyola avenue and Sheridan road, Rogers Park.

NOTES OF THE CLUBS

An outdoor meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at the gardens of the Chicago Woman's club, Eighty-first street and Jeffery avenue, to discuss the proper method of cooking the vegetables which are already being gathered from the garden plots. Miss Susannah Usher, teacher of household science at the University of Chicago, will give some of the latest and most approved methods.

The foods and markets committee of the Woman's City club has during the last month been investigating the reports of spoilage of food supplies said to have been held in cars or on tracks (especially in the suburbs) for the purpose of creating a shortage by upholding the high prices. Most of these reports were found to be unfounded, but the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Edward Gudeman, requests the women nevertheless to continue to report such instances, even if it is only on hearsay evidence. A plea is made that the women remember also to register for food conservation. "You cannot be a neutral in food economy," said Mrs. Gudeman.

Woman of the University of Chicago settlement are interested in the success of two dances to be given July 13 and 14 in the gymnasium of Ida Noyes hall for the benefit of the settlement. Refreshments will be sold in the cloisters by groups of young university women.

"The Cheerful Liar," by J. A. Fraser, will be presented at the Idle Hour theater, 2738 West Division street, on Sunday by the Medill Athletic club.

On Tuesday afternoon the members of the Eastern Star club of Illinois will hold a meeting in room 501, Masonic temple. A contest for the largest number of new members secured by old members will be part of the program. Mrs. Frederick Dow, vice chairman of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense, will speak. Mrs. Jane Hillegers, president of the club, will preside.

The Brookfield Woman's club announces that the annual children's outing will take place the middle of July, a later date than usual. Mrs. George L. Griswold is chairman of the outing committee. The Congress Park and Hollywood clubs are cooperating with the Brookfield women to make the kiddies have a good time. The Brookfield club and members of other organizations have formed a new Red Cross auxiliary.

Aid in Protecting Women.

A record of the work of the Woman's Protective association in the humanising of the Municipal courts since its organization last year has been submitted to Judge Stelk. It shows that many members of the Women's Bar association have been busy in giving protection, aid, and friendly counsel to their unfortunate sisters.

Thursday, July 6, 1916 1,125,000

Comparative range, calendar years:

	July High.	July Low.	Sept. High.	Sept. Low.
1916	$1.62	$ .99½	$1.57¾	$1.03½
1915	1.43⅝	1.00	1.51½	.93⅛
1914	1.22	.76⅝	1.21	.76½
1913	.93⅝	.84	.93⅝	.84⅝

Sharply higher prices were marked up for corn yesterday, all descriptions sharing in the advance. There was heavy buying of the futures by commission houses in general, stimulated chiefly by the continued strength in cash corn. Latter soared to new high levels, with one fancy car bringing $1.82½ and numerous sales made at $1.82. Houses with seaboard connections were conspicuous buyers of corn, and the purchases of September delivery by the Armour Grain company were large. Little corn was for sale during the morning; in fact, the offerings at no time were large, but local traders were disposed to sell out on the bulge. Resting spots showed July corn 2¾c higher than Monday's finish and deferred months 4¾@5½c higher.

Crop and weather news was generally good. The government weekly report says corn in the central districts shows marked improvement in condition. There were good rains in southwestern Kansas and some in central western portions. Cash corn was 10@5½c higher, with local shipping sales 40,000 bu. Some export business is believed to have been done by the seaboard. Primary receipts totaled 1,813,000 bu for three days, against 935,000 bu for one day last year.

Oats Also Rule Higher.

There was a big trade in oats and the market displayed much strength, closing ⅞@1¼c higher for the day. July showed relatively the most strength and was bought principally by Jackson Bros. and Thomson & McKinnon. There was good commission buying of the deferred months; also considerable demand from cash concerns, but offerings became free on the advance and held back prices. Harris-Winthrop, Tietgens, and one of the industries were best sellers of oats. Wagner, Logan & Bryan, Lamson Bros., Bartlett-Frazier, Ware & Leland, and the Rosenbaum Grain company were all active buyers. As in corn, the demand was based largely upon the strength in the cash market.

Cash oats were in active request and sold 1@2c higher, while interior shippers reported an urgent demand and there was evidence of liberal export business at the seaboard. Local shipping sales were 140,000 bu, including 50,000 bu for export. Clearances from the seaboard were 1,580,000 bu. Primary receipts totaled 1,760,000 bu for three days.

Wheat Dull but Firm.

Wheat again ruled dull with no trading in July until near the end of the session. Covering by shorts caused advances of 5½@6c. Cash wheat continued slow, with the country offering some new No. 2 red wheat at $2.08. Crop and weather advices were again of a favorable nature. Government weekly report says winter wheat is heading well over the northern part of the area. Clearances of wheat and flour were 675,000 bu. Bradstreet's showed a decrease of 2,859,000 bu for the week in the North American available supply. Primary receipts for three days were 628,000 bu.

Provisions closed with fair advances, but failed to hold best prices of the day. There was good commission house buying early, stimulated by the strength in corn and the sharp advance in hog prices, but on the advance numerous longs proceeded to take profits and the market had some reaction. Early offerings were limited. Hog receipts at western markets totaled 78,250 head, against 88,853 a year ago.

Rye Quiet and Steady.

Rye was steady. Part car of No. 2 sold at $2.40. Cash No. 2 was quoted $2.40 nominally. Receipts, 2 cars.

Barley ruled firm. Malting was quoted $1.20@1.45 and sold $1.18@1.38; feed and mixing quotable $1.15@1.25, with a sale at $1.18; screenings were quoted 85c@$1.00 and sold 70@95c; skimmings quotable 80@90c and sold at 89c. Receipts were 32 cars.

Timothy seed was steady. September closed $8.50 bid and $8.55 asked. Cash lots $8.00@8.35. Clover seed was firm. Cash quoted $12.00@17.00, and spot prime $18.25 nominal.

Flax closed 9½c lower, with cash quoted $2.72@2.77. Minneapolis closed 9¼c, Duluth 8¼@9c, and Winnipeg 7¾@11¾c lower respectively.

HEAVINESS RULES STOCKS.

New York, July 5.—Midsummer apathy and heaviness accompanied the movement of today's stock market operations, dullness being more than ordinarily circumscribed. Commission houses reported extreme indifference on the part of out of town traders and local speculative interests were plainly disposed to let the market drift pending adjustment of important details bearing upon the financial situation.

A significant industrial development was the first decline in many weeks in prices of certain finished iron and steel products. These ran from 2s to $5 per ton, but were offset by additional advances in pig iron, bars, and sheets.

Leading industrial stocks were under constant pressure. United States Steel recording a net loss of 3½ points. Affiliated stocks, notably Bethlehem Steel, Republic Iron, Midvale, and Harvester, yielded ece to more than four points. Baldwin Locomotive and Crucible Steel also reacted sharply from early advances.

Motors Take Tumble.

Motors and subsidiaries were the weakest features, Studebaker at one time adding 7½ points to its recent steady fall and Chandler 10, the latter, however, making substantial recovery. Local tractions were depressed by reason of familiar operating conditions, and New York Air Brake was conspicuous among the less active equipments at a loss of 7 points.

Forenoon gains of one to two points in shippings, oils, coppers, and tobaccos were swept away in the more general selling of the last hour. Rails also were much impaired at that period. St. Paul common and preferred making new low records for many years. New York Central lost 2 points on its adverse statement of earnings. Little support was seen at the active close.

Weakness of Paris bills at an extreme decline of 5¾ points was the feature of the exchange market. Another large consignment of British gold served to stabilize sterling rates. International bonds were firm, domestic issues irregular, and Liberty 3½s steady at 100@100 2-32. United States coupons and registered 4s sold one-half per cent to call.

ON THE BROAD STREET CURB

NEW YORK, July 5.—[Special.]—The Broad street curb market was fairly active, with important trading in several issues. Curtiss Aeroplane was influenced by the advices from Washington of efforts to obtain an appropriation of over $000,000,000 for aircraft construction and that stock was heavily traded in, advancing from 42 to 45. Wright-Martin Aircraft fluctuated between 8¾ and 9¼. Curtiss rights were active and strong, selling at 1¾@2¼. Ætna Explosives were in better demand, selling at 4¾@4¾.

Russian bonds were in vigorous demand as a direct result of the changed military situation. The 6½s rose from 84 to 87 and the 5½s moved up 5, to 77. New York City 4½s when issued sold at 100¾.

Several of the independent oil stocks were in brisk demand.

Mining stocks were generally quiet. Mason Valley sold at 7¼ and 7¾. Big Ledge was traded in at 2¼ and 2¾.

There was initial trading in Pennsylvania-Kentucky Oil and Gasoline. The company owns and controls the Ferguson properties in Kentucky, West Virginia, and Ohio and has been paying dividends of 4 per cent quarterly.

United Motor sold at 25¾. Chevrolet sold at 95.

Midwest Refining sold at 146, a new high record price. Much of the demand today is due to favorable developments in the Big Muddy field in Wyoming, where the Midwest company has large interests in producing properties, notably the Merritt Oil corporation. Latest reports from drilling operations in that field are entirely satisfactory, and appear to bear out all the claims that have been made for it.

Directors of the Midwest Refining company meet tomorrow in Denver to take action on the dividend and on other matters which may come before the board.

Work has been begun as another fine apartment building in "Streeterville," which is to cost $500,000. The structure is being put up by Fred Becklenberg, builder, and George W. Stewart. It will stand on a lot 100 by 107 feet, at the southwest corner of Chestnut street and De Witt court. The apartment will be of nine and ten rooms, each of which will rent for about $6,000 a year. Roof gardens and sleeping porches will be supplied. The dining rooms are to be oval in form. There will be shower baths in each apartment, in addition to all other up to date equipment. Norman W. Cook is the architect.

Real estate transfers yesterday reached a total of 253 and included several interesting transactions, including two purchases by out of town buyers.

Fred Guethlein, of Cincinnati, O., has bought the property at 1719 West Van Buren street, north front, 25 by 112 feet, improved with a one-story business building, and the four-story building and lot at 413 to 417 Hermitage avenue, 60 by 126 feet, from George S. Carrington for $60,000.

Cicero Avenue Deal.

Merritt F. Myers, of Louisville, Ky., has purchased the southeast corner of Kinzie street and Cicero avenue, 125 by 112.5 feet, from J. M. Clay. The transfer is subject to an incumbrance of $17,000.

The apartment property on Sunnyside avenue, 60 feet east of Hazel street, south front, 100 by 144.8, has been conveyed to Dr. Sophie Liptaska by William H. Hess, subject to an incumbrance of $85,000. In part payment Dr. Lipinska gave the apartment at the northeast corner of Albany and West Leland avenues, 89 by 125 feet, with an incumbrance of $37,500.

The Bohemian National cemetery has bought ten acres at the northeast corner of Crawford and Foster avenues from Otto Schreiner for $50,000. The land will be used for barns, greenhouses and other buildings connected with the upkeep of the cemetery.

Boulevard Transaction.

Burt T. Loveridge of Louisville, Ky., has leased the property at 758 to 762 Oakwood boulevard from Lewis M. Smith for ninety-nine years at a net rental of $2,000 a year. The lot has a frontage of eighty-five feet, with a depth of 127 feet on the east line and 187 feet on the west line. Estimating the rental on a 5 per cent basis gives a value of $40,000, or $479 per front foot. Willoughby & Co. represented both parties. The lease, which was prepared by Earle F. Yiller, attorney, contains some unusual features regarding mechanics' liens.

The second floor at 7 West Randolph street has been leased by Dr. C. H. White from August von Glahn of New York City and P. H. Heffron. The lease is for ten years at a rental of $36,000 for the term. The floor area is 3,300 square feet. The lease was negotiated by E. F. Keebler & Co.

Leases Closed.

Several leases have just been closed by Hool & Goodman. A number of lessees have taken the eighth floor of the Textile building at Adams street and Fifth avenue at an aggregate rental of $47,000 for a term of years. The Chicago Trailer company has leased the main floor of the Rogers building at 2127 South Michigan avenue for a term rental of $18,000. Richard Whitton has taken the second and third floors in the same building at a term rental of $9,000. The store and basement of the Union building, 3463 Archer avenue, has been leased to the Union Liberty Furniture company at a rental of $18,000 for a term of years.

Four conveyances from Margaret Fahey to Ida M. Staten have been recorded. The apartment property on Winthrop avenue, 149 feet north of Berwyn avenue, east front, 100x150 feet, has been transfered, subject to an insurance of $74,000. The property on Winthrop avenue, 250 feet south of Winona, east front, 50x168 feet, was conveyed, subject to an incumbrance of $20,100. A twenty-five foot lot on South Dearborn street, 587 feet south of Twenty-seventh street, east front and 115 feet in depth, has an incumbrance of $2,500. Another transfer involved the property on South La Salle street, 241 feet north of Twenty-ninth street, east front, 20x120 feet, the incumbrance being $8,500.

River Bank Deal.

The Commonwealth Edison company has conveyed to the sanitary district of Chicago 783.4 square feet for $6,900. The property is on the river, 250 feet northwest of Harrison street and seventy-three feet west of Market street.

Fanny Kohn has acquired title to the northeast corner of Polk street and Spaulding avenue, 57x134 feet, from Morris Kolender, subject to an incumbrance of $24,500.
